STRANGER ASKS WAY TO CITY

FROM THESE BOYS

HELD
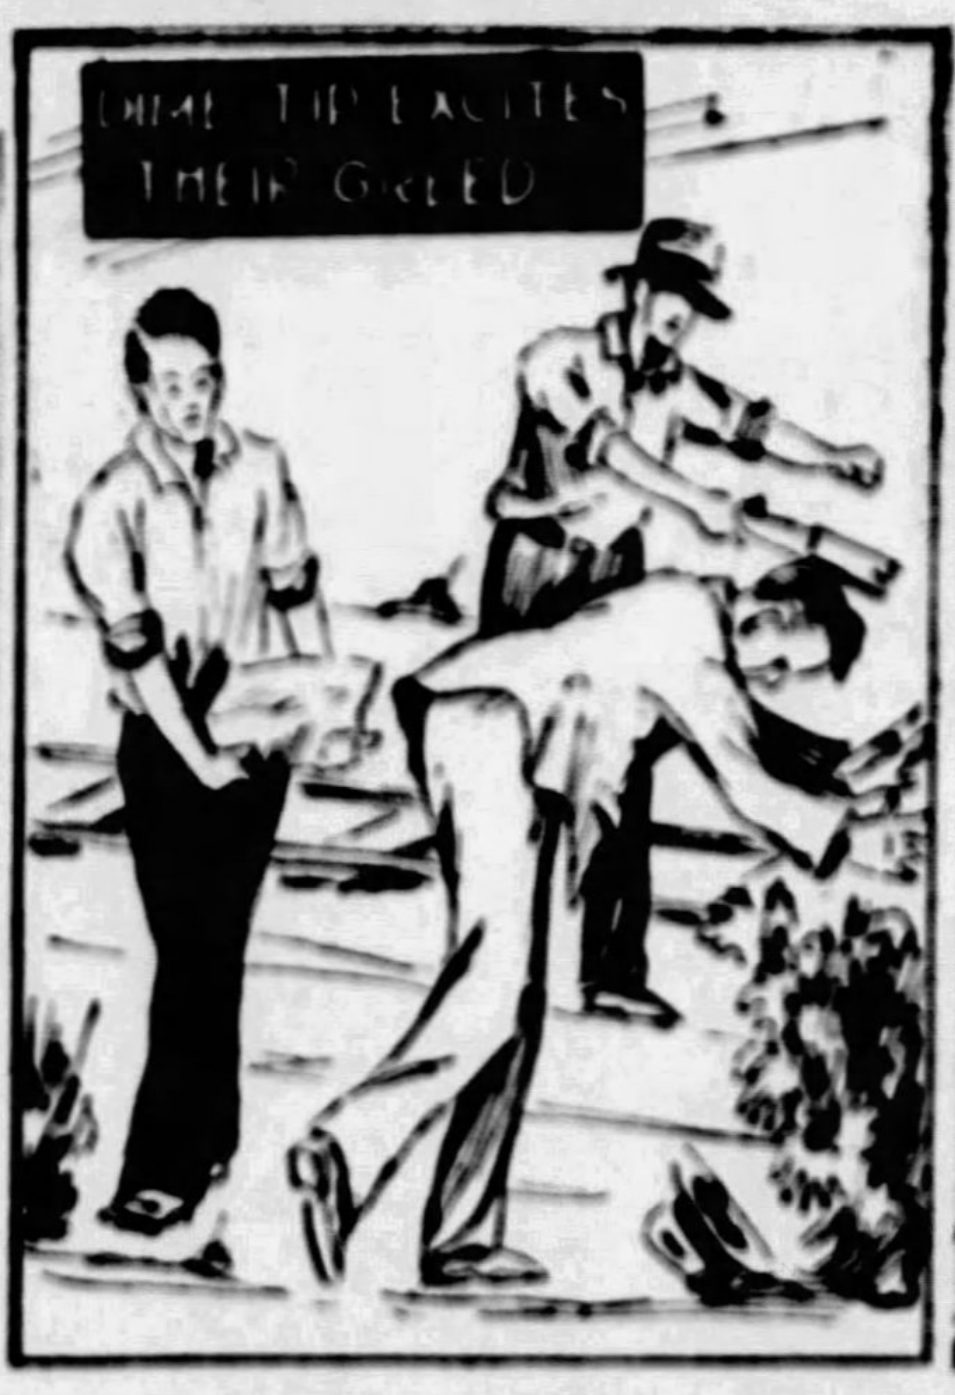
Robert Stevens, 14, and Alvin Hess, 16, youngest ever held for murder here, admit, police say, that they attacked a stranger and robbed him of $3.75 and a street car token. They were arrested two days later.



DIVIDE THE LOOT AFTER THEIR GREED

TELL STORY
The boys told the whole story, police say, at the scene, reciting how the man asked directions, gave them a dime, and how he was struck with a wheelbarrow handle, and a heavy stone after he fell.

WITNESSES
Bertha Sable, 17, and Helen Rollins, 16, both of 209 Cherry way, Homestead, are witnesses, police say, and overheard the boys dividing the money shortly after the crime was committed.

REMEMBERS MOTHER
Young Hess kept most of the money, carrying home and giving to his mother $2 with the explanation that he had earned it. Both boys were seeking work in river camps on the day of the attack.

TELEGRAMS exchanged between Philip Payne, editor of the New York Daily Mirror, and W. R. Hearst, his employer, show that Payne started with Bertaud and Hill on the attempted flight to Rome without Mr. Hearst's knowledge and in spite of his warnings, and that Mr. Hearst offered to pay the two pilots their full bonus if they would abandon the flight, in view of its dangers, and of recent disasters.

THOSE experienced have little hope of good news from the lost airmen. When their SOS was sent out at 4 in the morning the wind was blowing hard, on a rough sea. Crashing into the waves in the darkness, it is unhappily not probable that the men would be able to disengage and use their rubber boat.

HOWEVER, no effort is wasted, no display of courage without its useful effect on other men. In a short time all now living will be dead. Fortunate those that die in a good cause, courageously.

AN oil well in Texas Spindletop Dome yesterday, "ran wild." Starting last Tuesday with 1,000 barrels a day, coming from the 5,000-foot level, when tools were taken out, drillers could not control the pressure and yesterday the well was spouting 1,000 barrels an hour.

MARVELOUS are our supplies of oil, and shameful our waste of such treasure, persisting in spite of government warnings, that the supply cannot last.

TWO weeks ago at the Trianon Hotel in Versailles, Samuel Insull, of Chicago, biggest developer of power in America, said to this writer: "I am getting away from oil, and getting back to coal everywhere." Wise Mr. Insull knows that cheap oil will soon be a thing of the past, and prefers to rely on Old King Coal for steady power.

A DISPATCH from Berlin says "not a soul in Germany takes seriously the resolution of the great powers, at Geneva, to outlaw war."

Great powers talking about outlawing war are as silly as tigers would be adopting a vegetarian diet, and as pathetic as little boys who promise to be good "all the rest of my life."

IN London last week Mr. Garvin, editor of the London Observer, one of the most intelligent observers in Europe, said to this writer and Ralph D. Blumenfeld,

INQUEST HOLDS 2 BOYS FOR $3.75 MURDER

On charges of murder, Alvin Hess, 16, and Robert Stevens, 14 of Hazel way, West Homestead, were held by a coroner's jury for the grand jury today in the killing and robbing for $3.75, of an unidentified white man on the Monongahela River bank at Brown's Bridge a week ago. They are the youngest persons ever charged with a homicide in Allegheny county. Stevens was represented by a woman attorney, Gertrude Friedlander. The older boy was not defended by counsel.

Hess took the verdict stoically, but Stevens burst into tears. Hess was taken back to jail and Stevens was returned to the custody of a Juvenile Court representative.

Playmates gave the most damaging testimony against the boys. Walter Zegran, 12, of East Third avenue, testified to finding Hess and Stevens coming out of the clump of bushes in which the unidentified man was first felled with a wheelbarrow handle and then beaten with a heavy paving block and left to die on the river bank.

The boys were carrying what Zegran said he thought was a "bag of gold," but which later turned out to be the victim's coat. Joe Slewchock, 16, of Second avenue, Homestead, said the boys started to tell him about the slugging of the man but stopped when someone approached.

Other witnesses who testified to the

'TIM' DREXLER, EX-BOXER, HELD IN MINE KILLING

Constable Thomas Drexler, of Moon township, more widely known as "Tim" Drexler, pugilist who has appeared in many bouts at Motor Square Garden, was lodged in county jail today by the coroner as the slayer of George Nehai, alias James Toots, and Joseph Fargo, Moon Run non-union miners.

Fargo identified Drexler, county detectives say, just before he died in the Ohio Valley Hospital last night, as the man who shot him. Nehai and Fargo were shot down in the Moon Run road after having been accosted and asked why they had not joined the union. Drexler was arrested later.

County detectives pointed out one discrepancy in the case against Drexler—that in the first reports of the slaying the assailant was said to have questioned the miners in Russian. Drexler cannot speak Russian and says he can prove an alibi.

Several months ago Drexler was acquitted of a charge of larceny preferred against him by a confectionery store proprietor after Drexler had confiscated $50 in nickels during a slot machine raid.

Constable Thomas ("Tim") Drexler of Moon township has been held for the slaying of George Nehai and Joseph Fargo, coal miners, who were shot down after being asked why they did not join the union. Drexler is an ex-pugilist.

Hong Kong is [illegible] miles from Hanoi. The fliers were three hours late and fears for their safety had arisen. Schlee and Brock explained that their lateness was due to poor visibility, which caused them to reduce the plane's speed.

Both the intrepid Detroit fliers appeared well and declared they were confident of breaking the existing

The Pirates were nursing their frail lead in the National League chase today as they made ready for the first tiff of the last series of the year with the Phillies. The arrival here of the Quakers marked the opening of the long home stay featuring the Eastern clubs.

Manager Bush, of the Pirates, announced that he had Vic Aldridge all set for the first clash with the Phillies. On a recent appearance against the Philadelphia boys in the notorious Baker bowl, Victor ran off eight scoreless innings only to see the foe score twice in the ninth to force a deadlock. The Pirates won out in the thirteenth.

Manager McInnis, of the Quakers, was expected to use Frank Ulrich on the mound. Ulrich has turned in some pleasing performances for McInnis in the past few weeks.

At the office of the County Commissioners, against whom the injunction petition was directed, it was indicated today that distribution of the ballots, bearing Woodside's name, would be begun tomorrow.

Judge Reid did not touch upon the controversy as to Woodside's being eligible for election as controller within two years after termination of his term as sheriff. The court said that all authorities quoted with reference to jurisdiction had been considered, and the conclusion

YEAR'S SEARCH FAILS TO FIND BELLEVUE GIRL

A parallel in some particulars to the Dorothy Arnold case is now found in the mysterious disappearance, more than a year ago, of Miss Mae Johnston, 23, of Keswick street, Bellevue. Diligent search has revealed not a single clue to her disappearance.

G. W. Johnson, district manager for the Great American Tea Company, father of the girl, has offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the recovery of his daughter.

A graduate of the Sherwood Musical College, Miss Johnson was a pianist of note and had won renown as a dancer in her social circle of Bellevue. At home she had everything which a girl could want. It is said she once broached the subject of a theatrical career to her mother.

September 16, 1926 the girl left her home and since then all trace of her has been lost.

After the first few days the father engaged private detectives to conduct the search, which has been systematic and nation wide. Not the slightest clue has been found. Today the father conferred with William J. Kane of the Missing Persons Bureau and offered a reward of $500.

Miss Johnson, the only child in the family, is described in police circulars as a blonde, 120 pounds; 5 feet 1½ inches tall. She has blue eyes.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR LOST CANADIAN FLIERS

AIRMEN ARE 30 HOURS OVERDUE

By International News Service.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Hope was virtually abandoned today for Capt. Terry Tully and Lieut. James Medcalf, pilot and navigator of the Canadian monoplane Sir John Carling, which left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Wednesday on an attempt to fly across the Atlantic Ocean to London.

With the plane 30 hours overdue, and its supply of gasoline exhausted, the possibility that the fliers might have escaped the tragic fate which has befallen many other daring aviators who pitted their skill and the power of an airplane motor against the inexorable force of the elements became increasingly remote.

FOLLOW NUNGESSER TRAIL

Tully and Medcalf have apparently followed Nungesser and Coli, Bertaud, Payne and Hill, and the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim and her two companions in the monoplane St. Raphael, all of whom disappeared into the sea on disastrous attempts to bridge the Atlantic by air.

The Sir John Carling was not equipped with radio. Its occupants may have fallen a few hundred miles off Newfoundland, perhaps in mid-ocean, even possibly while almost in sight of their goal. They started out, and they [illegible] not seen again.

Tully and Medcalf did not have a [illegible] for their lives when the plane [illegible], in the opinion of American circles. Their plane carried no rubber [illegible] and it is believed that they went down with the wreckage of their shattered plane.

Judge J. M. Swearingen today signed an order directing Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh to permit Attorney Louis Little to confer with Harry J. Crouse, a prisoner held in connection with the murder of Edward Firan, 60, Homeopathic Hospital engineer.

According to Attorney Little, Crouse was arrested last Sunday and has been transferred from one station to another.

Paralysis Closes Class

Although Principal A. W. Beatty denied the fact, the first grade of Ben Avon Public School was closed today because of the death of a pupil's brother from infantile paralysis.

The closing the grade for 10 days was ordered by the borough board of health in meeting last night and confirmed today by Dr. John B. Conover, state medical director in this district.

Beatty denied an early newspaper report that the first grade was not functioning, but a few minutes later a girl clerk in his office said the grade would be closed for 10 days.

The situation was brought about by the death of George Thomas, Negro, aged 8, of Spruce avenue, whose brother is a first-grade pupil.

Dr. Conover, discussing the infantile paralysis situation in Allegheny county, said there is no cause for alarm and that figures for this year are lower than those of 1926 and 1925.

reached that the court was without authority to act.

POWERLESS, COURT HOLDS

Judge Reid called attention to the act of July 12, 1913, pertaining to nomination papers, holding this law was applicable to the Woodside case. This law, the court stated, provides that no nomination petition shall be refused or set aside except for material error or defect apparent on the face of the papers.

The fight against Woodside, said to have been directed by his opponent for the nomination, Controller C. C. McGovern, was based upon a law prescribing that certain county officials shall be ineligible for re-election to any county office within two years after their term shall expire.

PITTSBURGHERS VICTIMS OF BEAVER "ROAD HOG"

ROCHESTER, Pa., Sept. 9.—Max Broff, of 3492 Aliquippa street, Pittsburgh, is being held in the Beaver Valley Hospital for observation of injuries suffered yesterday when an automobile, in which he and August Hoffman, of 432 Vinceton street, Pittsburgh, were riding, overturned on the Rochester-New Brighton road. The men, employes of the Duquesne Light Company, were crowded from the road by a passing machine.

Frank Bruno, 29 (left), and Charles Bruno, 23, who made, with William Hannen, informations before Justice of the Peace James A. Hernon, Sharpsburg, against three city patrolmen and a judge of election, charging assault and battery, in the First Ward, Third District, aldermanic fight. The Brunos and Hannen, it is said, are supporters of M. A. Maloney in the battle waged for political supremacy in the ward. They say black eyes and bruises were distributed when they crossed swords with the police at the registration polls.

ATTACKED

Hannen, who charges the policemen drew guns and blackjacks in an attack on him at registration polls. Patrolmen John Gerber and Joseph Zuby, with J. J. Winkler, judge of election, have been arrested, released on bonds of $1,000 each furnished by Magistrate J. J. Verona.

BATTLE SCENE

The polling place, Tustin street, guarded in the photo by county detectives, where the disturbance took place. In the first of the aftermath Attorney J. E. Laughlin, representing the plaintiffs, petitioned Judge Joseph M. Swearingen, Common Pleas Court, to order court action to prevent registration interference. The men arrested, it is said, are supporters of Thomas A. Flanigan. Judge Swearingen refused, saying his court had no jurisdiction to keep police away from polling places during registration.

Schlee and Brock left Rangoon, Burma, early yesterday. They were not heard from again until they reached Hanoi, 1,000 miles away, and considerable apprehension was felt for their safety.

Brock and Schlee had been expected at Bangkok, Siam, yesterday morning. When no word came from that city, it was feared that the Pride of Detroit had been forced down in the jungle country between Rangoon and Bangkok.

MAY DROP PACIFIC HOP

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—(INS.)—Possibility that the proposed flight of the Pride of Detroit over the Pacific via Midway Islands, would be abandoned loomed today when it became known the backers of the flight were negotiating with the Dollar steamship line for passage of the plane and the fliers from Yokohama to Honolulu.

Persons here familiar with the Midway Islands do not believe a flight from Japan to the islands is feasible. The islands, they say, are mere specks on the ocean and would be extremely difficult for the fliers to locate.

Mine Union Loses First Step

Denial of a motion of counsel for the United Mine Workers of America to dismiss the injunction action brought against them by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation furnished the high light of the opening session of the hearing in Federal Court here today.

The motion was made immediately upon the convening of court and was denied by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, with the comment that the court first desired to hear the arguments of counsel.

James E. Matthews, of Cleveland, attorney for the corporation, offered in evidence affidavits reciting alleged dynamitings, assaults, and property destruction.

The afternoon session was attended by Phillip Murray, of Pittsburgh, vice president of the United Mine Workers and member of its international executive board, and P. T. Fagan, of Pittsburgh, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers, and a number of heads of United Mine locals.

Mathews charged that the retention of company houses by members of the mine workers who formerly were employes was one of the steps in the alleged conspiracy to cripple operations and thereby restrain interstate coal shipments.

"It is not that the mine workers want houses for their members," Mathews said, "but that occupancy of these company houses by union men prevents the bringing in of non-union workers, both because of lack of additional housing facilities and because of the fear which their presence instills in the newcomer."

He declared his company spent between $15,000 and $20,000 monthly in policing its property—a system made necessary, he added, because of the alleged campaign of terrorism and intimidation of the United Mine Workers. It was this campaign, too, he said, which was largely responsible for the huge labor turnover at mines—another heavy expense to the operators.

A well-filled courtroom, in which the rough-shirted, bronzed-faced miner was conspicuous, listened to the dry citing of legal authorities which continued monotonously through the greater part of the morning session.

Despite the national importance of the case and the vital effect its decision will have on coal operations throughout the country none of the national officers of the United Mine Workers were present in court. Representing them as counsel were Henry Warren, of Indianapolis; T. C. Townsend, of Charleston, W. Va., and W. H. Coleman, of Pittsburgh.

Besides Mathews, W. E. Stanley, of Cleveland; Daniel M. Evans, of Pittsburgh, and Attorney C. F. Taplin, of Cleveland, were present to represent the corporation.

Mr. Warren opened the argument for the United Mine Workers and directed his efforts primarily to raising the question of the jurisdiction of the Federal Court in the case. He declared that the interstate shipments of coal from the company's mines was related to the strike rather than the real point at issue, and that the present case had no place in Federal Court.

COURTROOM OVERCROWDED

Mathews, in rebuttal, branded the United Mine Workers as a "supergovernment" which comes into this territory and lays down its mandate: "Your coal shall not be mined. It shall not go out to the markets of the country unless you comply with our terms. If we must resort to shooting and dynamiting to carry our end, that we shall do."

Mathews occupied over an hour with the citing of other decisions to prove jurisdiction, while the early courtroom crowd grew and grew until it sprawled out into the aisles and threatened to burst into the corridor.

Submission of proofs began immediately when Mathews concluded.

Dismiss Cawley Case

Alderman Patrick Cawley, Nineteenth Ward, was discharged on charges of failing to make returns of fines collected at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Thomas E. Mallisee, Unity, yesterday.

A worn receipt from State Treasurer C. A. Snyder, dated July 2, 1924, supplemented with a certificate of payment by John Wilson, cashier for State Treasurer S. S. Lewis, showed that the accused alderman had made return to the state treasurer rather than to the county controller.

Attached to the receipt was an itemized account of fines collected by Cawley and paid over to the state treasurer, and this list included the fines collected in the suits complained of.

Suit was brought by Wilson Davidson, Penn township, in behalf of a number of milk dealers who had been fined for using containers of other milk companies.

MEN ASK PAY RAISE, RAILROAD WANTS SLASH

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A demand for a 15 per cent wage increase was made on behalf of 5,000 employes of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad before a federal mediation board here. ## Register 34,000 On 1st Day

Partial returns today indicated that 34,000 voters had registered yesterday, the first registration day. This figure is 13,000 higher than the first total for last year.

The heaviest registrations were reported in those wards where there are fights for alderman and constable, especially in the First, Second, Fourth, Seventh, Fourteenth and Twenty-second wards. In all but the last named wards, the fights were featured by the fact that E. M. Kenna has placed in the field candidates against those of the Kline administration.

LIFE RAFT FAILS IN LEAP FROM PARACHUTE

By Universal Service.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Sept. 9.—An unsuccessful attempt was made yesterday by Chief Petty Officer Alvin Starr, parachute instructor at the Naval air station here, to inflate a rubber life raft while dropping in a parachute from a height of 1,500 feet, at Tom's River.

The drop was made from the Navy's non-rigid airship, the J-3. Starr had strapped on his body a tank of condensed air with which he was to inflate the rubber craft while dropping through the air and then had expected to drop the boat when a short distance above the surface of the water and after landing swim to the raft and paddle ashore with the collapsible oars provided.

He was unable to release the air from his tank. He landed in the river a short distance from the land and swam to shore.

POOR GLASS BLAMED IN SCHOOL DEATH

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

Spurred into action because of the death of Betty Richardson yesterday, the county school officials as well as the coroner are making thorough investigations today. The child bled to death as the result of crashing her arm through a door at the West View Junior High School.

The glass, it has been frankly admitted, was not the sort that should have been used in a school door. Therefore, carelessness is being hinted at in the stir-up.

"I would have sworn the door was plate glass. But it was neither plate nor wired," admitted Principal A. N. Hennon, who is broken up over the death of the 14-year-old child, who lived at 310 Columbia avenue, West View. Principal Hennon declared his ignorance of the poor glass in the door this morning.

Hennon said this in a telephone conversation in the office of Assistant Superintendent S. H. Replogle of the county schools. Mr. Replogle, as well as all of the school officials, is shaken by the sad end of the popular little girl who so gaily rushed from the school and died a few moments later when all efforts to stem the blood flow were foiled.

"There are scores of doors like it in city and county schools and we have never had an accident before," said Mr. Replogle. "It was a swinging door and the little girl was going out with another girl to buy candy. She discovered she had forgotten her money. Rushing back in such a hurry she dashed at the door and her arm plunged through as it swung back."

That is the story Principal Hennon told Prof. Replogle, who spoke semi-officially in the absence of Supt. Dickey. Mr. Replogle declared:

"It really, no doubt, is a grave oversight. But those things go on because nothing happens. It is the first accident of its kind in the county so far as I know. Undoubtedly now there will be a move made to have safe glass installed in the schools. At least a move of that sort certainly sounds reasonable to me."

Policemen Held for Court

Three city policemen, alleged to have used blackjacks in beating men of an opposing political faction in a clash yesterday in the Third district of the First Ward, waived hearings before Justice of the Peace James A. Hernon, Sharpsburg, today, and were held for court. J. J. Winkler, judge of election in the district, also was held.

The officers are John Hooper and John Gerber, of 805 Watson street, and Joseph Zube, of Locust street. Winkler is alleged to have joined them in attacking Charles Bruno, 23, of 10 Boyd street, watcher at the registration booth; Frank Bruno, 29, a brother, of the same address, and William Hannen, 29, of 2017 Tustin street. The three made informations yesterday.

The defendants appeared in the justice's court today, their faces swollen and bruised from the beating yesterday. Along with them was Thomas A. Flannigan, candidate for alderman in the ward against A. M. Maloney, present alderman. The plaintiffs were represented by Attorney John McLaughlin. The four held for court were released under bail of $1,000 each. They are charged with aggravated assault and battery.

HOLD TWO BOYS IN MURDER

finding of the man dying on the river bank were Helen Rollins and Bertha Sable, R. E. Zubkess and Stanley Stankmen, of Chippewa camp, near the scene of the attack.

The coroner's jury found that "an unknown white man about 55 years of age, came to his death at Homestead Hospital, Homestead, Pa., on Friday, September 2, 1927, at 6:15 p. m. from shock and hemorrhage following injuries received on the bank of the Monongahela River between Glenwood and Brown's Bridge, on Thursday, September 1, 1927, at 6:15 p. m. due to being struck on the head with a club and a stone in the hands of one Albert Hess and Robert Stevens, and, from the evidence and postmortem examination made, the jury finds death due to above causes and recommends that the said Albert Hess and Robert Stevens be held to await the action of the grand jury upon the charge of murder."

The electrical equipment on a large ocean liner such as the Aquitania requires over 200 miles of cable and more than 700 miles of wires, weighing some 45 tons.

WIFE DESERTER TO GET HEARING ON EXTRADITION

Arrested for New York authorities who charged that he abandoned his five children, Ray Ross, 39, of Noblestown, will be given a hearing in Common Pleas Court today on a writ of habeas corpus in his fight against extradition.

FARMHAND KICKED HARNESSING HORSE

When he attempted to harness a fractious horse on a Lincoln township farm this morning, John Brawa, 21, a farmhand, was kicked in the head. He was removed to the McKeesport Hospital, suffering a deep laceration over his right eye and a slight concussion of the brain.

POLICEMAN, PAL HELD FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

Arrested in connection with an attack on Thelma Berger, 14, of Buttermilk Hollow, Mifflin township, Milton Reed, 32, of Duquesne, a special policeman, and Glenn Brumbaugh, 19, of Duquesne, were held for court last night by Justice of the Peace P. F. Johnson in Munhall.

Reed is alleged to have attacked the girl and later had Brumbaugh take her to Greensburg and place her on a train for Lewiston, where she was arrested.

3 SIGN UNION MINE SCALE

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Sept. 8.—Three local coal companies have signed wage agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, according to announcement of Jack Hasson, local organizer of the miners. He announced today that the Leasure & Sharp and Allegheny Valley Coal Company mines at New Texas and the Edgecliffe mine at Oakmont have signed. About 150 men are affected.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 8.—Five hundred union miners returned to work at C. A. Hughes Coal Company at Benscreek today after the company had agreed to pay six cents more per car for rock. They had been out two weeks.

AVERAGE FENCE POST FOUND TO LAST 10 YEARS

The average life of a fence post is 10 years. Farmers in the state of Illinois alone use 20,000,000 posts a year for repairs.

GIRL VAGRANTS GO TO JAIL

Grace Baumgarten, 17, of Lewiston, and Mary Dudick, 17, of Burnham, found sleeping yesterday in a truck in the rear of a garage in Yonkers street, McKees Rocks, are being held in the county jail as runaways. The girls were arraigned before Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood and fined $13, with the option of 26 days in jail. The girls said they came here in search of a cousin, Minnie Carr, who, they said, operated a roadhouse. Police had never heard of the Carr woman.

JAILED FOR SWIM IN SEINE AT NOTRE DAME IN PARIS

TAXI DRIVER HELD WITH TWO

After admitting in Morals Court that plans had been made to rob a house in Spring Garden avenue early today, William Barry, 21, of 1114 River avenue, and Rudolph Koeigu, 19, of 19 Saw Mill way, with Oliver Colwell, 51, a taxicab driver, of 1947 Perrysville avenue, were held for investigation. A Green Cab inspector stopped Colwell's cab for "high-flagging," the cab driver's term for hauling patrons without starting the fare meter.

Barry and Koeigu were found sitting on the floor of the cab and when a patrolman was summoned the cab driver attempted to dispose of a jimmy, it was testified.

His Store Robbed Then He's Fined $25

It cost George Soknich, proprietor of a confectionery store at 2909 Carson street, $25 this morning for complaining about bandits who entered his store.

Soknich called police yesterday and told them that, while he was out, four men had held up his wife and carted away two slot machines which he had in the store. The police went to investigate and arrested Soknich on a charge of keeping a disorderly house because of the slot machines.

THOUSANDS VIEW BOYS' MODEL AIRPLANES

Thousands passing through the foyer of the City-County Building yesterday and today admired the three-score model airplanes, made by Western Pennsylvania boys in The Sun-Telegraph-Bureau of Recreation airplane contest.

The championship trophy, given for the plane the judges believe the best all-around model in the contest, will be awarded at 11 o'clock tomorrow by members of Mayor Charles H. Kline's committee, some of the members of which are Col. Harry Fry, James J. Wagner, D. Barr Peat, Raymond Martier and J. J. Isherwood.

The models, on exhibit for two days, will be taken home by the boys tomorrow after The Sun-Telegraph trophy and medals are awarded.

OHIO SOCIETY WILL PICNIC AT SCHENLEY

The twelfth annual reunion and basket picnic of the Monroe County (Ohio) Society of Pittsburgh will be held tomorrow at Schenley Park. The sports program will start at 2:30 and a baseball game will be played between married and single men. Headquarters will be established in Shelter House No. 1. Several hundred former residents of Ohio are expected to attend.

GRILL NURSE AND PASTOR IN DEATHS OF 2

ENID, Okla., Sept. 9—(AP.)—The Rev. Charles Bailey, pastor of the Episcopal Church here, returned to Enid today to face questioning in connection with the deaths of his wife and daughter as the result of which Mary Atkinson, 26-year-old nurse, was being detained by county officers.

Mr. Bailey, who had been in Colorado, was met at Newton, Kan., by two members of his church and brought here in an automobile to submit to interrogation.

Miss Atkinson attended the minister's wife and the daughter, Mary Jane Bailey, 18, who died yesterday. The nurse was taken into custody last night after letters exchanged between her and the pastor and a package bearing a poison label had been found in her room.

MINE CHILDREN STRIKE, TOO

MONONGAHELA, Pa., Sept. 9.—The first juvenile demonstration in the coal strike in this district took place here as 300 children of union miners walked out of the Gallatin public schools, refusing to attend the same institution as children of nonunion miners.

Nonunion miners charged that the trouble has been brewing since the opening of school and that daily their children have been driven from the schools by union pickets.

After an appeal to state police, the children were accompanied by police into the schoolroom. When they entered the children of the union miners left the school in a body.

LEARNING TO PLAY THE MELODY WAY

INSTRUCTED FREE IN PIANO

These tots and older folks took, by special arrangement, their first lesson in the Melody Way to play the piano. Offered the use of piano and instructions free, many hundreds have already enrolled. The first lesson will appear in Saturday's issue of the Sun-Telegraph, and 11 others will follow on successive Saturdays. The children above were instructed by Mrs. Mary Bush Hauck. Members of the Western Chapter, Pennsylvania Music Dealers' Association, yesterday announced location of their classes after indorsing completely the Melody Way plan in the Sun-Telegraph. Watch for the first lesson Saturday, and send in your blank for membership in the club today.

GREENSBURG BOY SAVES GIRL

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 8.—The heroism of Glenn Vance, 18, local youth, in saving the life of a [illegible]-year-old girl at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., has just come to light here. Vance and the girl, Caroline Case, of Buffalo, went for a sail when the latter decided she would try to swim ashore. In descending the side of the boat she missed catching a tow rope, fell into the lake and went under.

In civilian clothes, Vance dived into the water, seized the girl and, as the boat had drifted away, swam with her 500 feet to shore.

DOG BITES BOY, 8; TIED UP FOR OBSERVATION

James Burdell, 8, of 1218 Ridge avenue, was bitten by a dog yesterday while playing near his home. The wound was cauterized. The owner of the dog, [illegible] Patovich, 1339 Medley street, was ordered to confine the animal 10 days for observation.

INDICT FATHER AS KIDNAPER

EBENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 8.—John Denny, New York real estate man, formerly of Johnstown and Pittsburgh, has been indicted on charges of kidnaping and false statement, in connection with his attempt to gain custody of his 10-year-old son, Jackie, now in his grandfather's care here.

Exceptional Values in Fall Suits

$35.00

A feature line, new this season, which provides suits of dependable woolens, smart cut, and good tailoring at this moderate figure.

The woolens—cassimeres and Saxony worsteds—they'll wear. Styles—conservatively smart types preferred by the better-dressed men, models for men and youngfellows. Tailoring—considerably better than you find in the ordinary moderately priced suit.

Single and double breasted models in fancy-mixed patterns and plain blues.

Other Horne Clothing, $40.00 and up.

—Horne's, Men's Floor—

Autumn-Toned Neckwear, $1.50

Mogadors, in a surprising color range, different and unusual attractive combinations. Poplins, in conservative small patterns, colors to harmonize with new suit shades. Plain-colored ties. New silks and rayons in subdued-color diagonal stripes, and many other attractive patterns in the hundreds of ties that make up the fall selection at this price.

Junior-Misses' Frocks of Light Wool Crepe

$13.75

Miss 13-to-17 will find these dresses just right in weight to wear now without a wrap, and to fit neatly under winter coats later on.

The popular one-piece style predominates, three of the five models being straightline ones, with leather belts. All have smart, tailored necklines, some of them unusual; and most of them have skirts gracefully pleated at the front.

—Horne's, Second Floor—

New Fashion Features in Low-Priced Hats

In hats of felt and velours at $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00, the influence of the various French designers are to be seen.

The eye-brow brim, the close-fitting crown, the hat inspired by air conquest, the turban, the toque, the combination of felt with velvet, the two-tone effect.

There is wide choice of new blues, the very fashionable gray, very dark and lighter greens, autumn reds, wood tones and black.

—Horne's, Fourth Floor—

An Extensive Showing of New Footwear, $10.00

A step-in with stitched tongue over concealed elastic gore, light-weight sole and an extremely neat Cuban heel—to be had in black or brown suede or black patent leather.

—Horne's, Second Floor—

Special Prices Throughout Fifth Floor Departments

Lamps, China, Glassware, Kitchen Utensils, Electrical Devices, Refrigerators, etc., which come into such prominence in preparing for the indoor season, offer price inducements of unusual interest for Saturday choosing.

These sections, which make up the "Floor of Ideas," offer many suggestions for home comfort, beauty and convenience.

—Horne's, Fifth Floor—

The New in Sweaters

The newest slip-ons are of wool-and-rayon in unusual figured and chiffon-striped effects, and of the new, light-weight zephyr. $3.95 to $18.50.

New cardigan jacket sweaters are of imported tweed-patterned zephyr, which are so striking, and of light and heavy brushed wool. $5.75 to $19.50.

The cardigan and slip-on sweaters also include some unusual novelties, which we have imported direct from England.

—Horne's, Second Floor—

Campus Coats

$69.50

The Sportswear Shop is specializing in a line of coats which are very exceptional at this price. They are from a high-grade manufacturer who uses only fabrics from the very best mills, whose tailoring is noted for its excellence, and who confines his coats, in Pittsburgh, exclusively to the Horne Sportswear Shop.

These coats, in misses' sizes, are ideal for college campus wear and general service.

There is wide variety in patterns and colorings; and the furs used for collars of generous size include rich, deep-furred beaver, badger and kit fox.

—Horne's, Second Floor—

A Buckle Glove

A flat, metal buckle controls the strap that holds an imported cape skin glove in place, insuring a neat, close-fitting wrist. Hand-sewn, in russet and gray. Priced $5.00.

—Horne's, Main Floor—

New Pins and Pendants

The decorative pin takes a place of importance at the point of the increasingly popular V-neck. Or perhaps it is a pendant suspended on a delicate silver chain.

Pins heavily carved in sterling silver are shaped like a huge beetle with a stone in the back. With stones of simulated jade, cornelian or lapis, $1.95. With cornelian or amethyst, $5.00. With marcasite, $8.50.

Pendants with sets of simulated jade and cornelian are $5.00. Sterling silver chains, $2.00 up to $3.50.

RAPID CITY BIDS PRESIDENT FAREWELL

RAPID CITY, S. D., Sept. 8.—(AP)—A summer's rest in the woods and mountains at an end, President Coolidge departs tonight for Washington after three months in the first summer White House west of the Mississippi.

To accommodate the crowd expected to see him off, his special train was moved out from the station to a siding and from here at [illegible] tonight the President and Mrs. Coolidge will bid goodbye to the Black Hills.

Sees New Congestion In Ferry St. Tunnel

J. W. Monteverde, realtor and active member of the Citizens' Committee on City Plan, advises caution and comprehensive study before passing judgment on the proposed $[illegible] county bond issue for the new Ferry street bridge and tunnel. In a statement issued today he points out that one of the most important steps in all projects undertaken by this community is to have a thorough coordination of all public improvements.

His statement follows:

"Pittsburgh [illegible] was achieved without any attempt at [illegible] coordination of public improvements. Proposals such as the [illegible] bridge connecting the Triangle with the Greentree Saw Mill Run section [illegible] the taxpayer [illegible] and skeptical scrutiny [illegible] has been due to the successive and sporadic proposals for various improvements that have been made from time to time without any attempt to devise a comprehensive program. We have failed to realize that a systematic procedure consistently adhered to would produce in time a benefit to the district as a whole without unfairly regarding the developments of local districts. This was caused by not thinking of the community as a whole but rather in terms of peculiar favoritism toward one or another special locality. It will do little ultimate good to secure a metropolitan Pittsburgh when one county is played against another or if we continue to scramble for political favor with its necessary [illegible] expenditure. Regardless of the huge inroad on the taxpayer's credit which is involved as well as the necessity following of increased taxation [illegible] beyond [illegible] bound [illegible] proposal is one which should be carefully scrutinized. The points upon which the public should be informed from a preliminary analysis are as follows:

1. To open up buildable land for development is a desirable thing to do and some such development in the Saw Mill Run or Greentree locality would probably be of itself a net gain to both owners of property in that locality and the Pittsburgh district as a whole.

2. Whenever we make an outlet for traffic we create the demand we [illegible] ness district we automatically [illegible] an inlet for traffic to enter our downtown business district which already is limited in its capacity and faced by many restrictions as to possible means of relief.

3. Assuming the desirability of opening up undeveloped territory, there are three specific considerations of the utmost importance which all broad minded, forward-looking citizens must face. These are:

A. The general method of financing any such improvement, and the relationship of that financial procedure to municipal credit.

B. The relationship of the proposals to other needs of the community for development, for relief of congestion, etc.

C. The peculiar suitability of the project to solve the problems for the solution of which it is ostensibly proposed, and the effectiveness of the actual plan of the improvement in producing a local development satisfactorily related to the rest of the city.

AWAIT BENEFIT PLAN

4. Next year the people of Pittsburgh will vote upon the question of applying the "district benefit assessment" principle to such improvements as the proposed tunnel and bridge. Regardless of other points mentioned, it appears wise to delay any such project until it can be put through with a proper division of cost between, first, the municipal treasury of county or city or both, second, the owners of outlying land that will be peculiarly benefited by the improvement, third, the owners of such downtown properties as those which will directly appreciate in value through this public expenditure.

5. The most difficult problems of municipal improvement are always in the downtown business districts. One need not enlarge upon the almost insurmountable obstacles to securing relief of congestion, proper circulation of traffic, and the solving of other problems within and adjacent to the Triangle district. All of this must be done while we at the same time undertake developments of surrounding areas and attempt to preserve a balanced relation between these surrounding areas and the business district. There is no question but that the most immediately important improvements for the Triangle are those as yet uncompleted projects which will create the inter-district Traffic Circuit, or by-pass system of thoroughfares, which have been planned by the Citizens' Committee on City Plan and the City Planning Commission. This traffic circuit is not a local improvement but is one of far reaching influence and benefit.

6. Finally, another no less important point which others might place first in order of significance, namely, whether the project can properly facilitate traffic movement and meet the problems of traffic concentration.

But above every other consideration of the physical plan I believe the question of dumping new and intensive streams of traffic into the Triangle should bring the taxpayers up sharply to attention. So far as the prospective plans are known, it appears that they interfere with the by-pass system at West Carson street, and that they promise to produce at Ferry street and Second avenue a traffic intersection of possible unmanageable complexity.

We all should realize that it may be good politics to set aside inadequate sums for each of a number of projects so as to please a greater number of citizens; but that what Pittsburgh really needs is adequate appropriations for the adequate execution of perhaps fewer projects. And these fewer projects, before being started, should be thoroughly studied to fit into a comprehensive and thoroughly workable general plan.

Clothes Like Dad's for High School Lads

Mothers, fathers, and the boys themselves will appreciate the good style, the rugged all-wool fabrics, and the fine workmanship we have put into these Richman "Junior" suits, designed especially for boys of high school age—sizes 16 to 19.

You will find in these "Junior" suits the same rich quality and amazing value that have won outstanding leadership for Richman's Clothes for men—they are fashionably cut in the modified collegiate styles boys want—the virgin wool fabrics, in a wide variety of handsome, sturdy weaves, were selected for unusual wearing qualities—they have been carefully tailored and strongly stitched with silk to stand the stress and strain of a healthy boy's activities. Measured by the long wear they will give, these suits are worth two of the kind ordinarily made for boys' wear—they are, in truth, clothes like Dad's in every detail except the style and size.

Parents may safely send their boys, alone, to make their selections, if desired, with our assurance that they will be honestly guided to choose the right style and fabric, and be perfectly fitted. Richman's Clothes are all one price and alike in quality—we have no "seconds" or "left-overs" to unload—we have nothing to sell but suits and topcoats, newly designed and freshly tailored in our own factories. We never allow our salesmen to forget that "the boy of today is the man of tomorrow" to whom we look for the continued growth and success of our business. We will serve your boy as carefully as we could serve his father.

Schools Are Calling

More than 100,000 children of the Pittsburgh district will return to school this week.

It is fine to know there will be not only "a seat for every pupil," but also a teaching staff of the highest character.

Our schools are going forward, splendidly.

One of the most important lessons to be learned, however, in school or out, and not excepting the three R's, is the lesson of thrift and saving. In this Pittsburgh is also going forward.

More Startling—Because True

THE latest popular novel may be read with interest—but since the reader knows it is a work of imagination—that the events described never really happened—he forgets them almost as soon as he closes the book.

That is where the startling narratives in True Story Magazine differ from the fiction-maker's chronicles. The story of real life grips the imagination and lingers long in the memory, not only because it is intensely interesting but because it is true.

In the October issue of True Story, for example, there are seventeen gripping, profoundly absorbing features—each one of them a true record of human experience. Your newsdealer can supply you. Get your copy today.

PICTURE MAY BE VALUABLE OLD MASTER

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The identification of an old Italian masterpiece which forms part of the estate of the late Charles A. Green of this city may eventually be established by the use of the new X-ray photograph, and a problem on which members of the family have been working for more than [illegible] years may thus be solved. That the painting is a lost canvas by the great Corregio, a contemporary of Michel Angelo and a notable artist of the Italian renaissance, is a hope which its owners have come to cherish.

The canvas is a study in the nude of a young woman with masses of soft hair falling about her face and shoulders. The painting, which is in oils, is in subdued colors, the background of a cave entrance barely perceptible and with only the flesh tints of the woman's body and the bronze sheen of her hair to lighten the somber effect. The face is the conventional Italian oval, the eyes downcast and reddened by weeping, a few tears still lingering on the cheeks. The right arm is extended and holds in the open palm a human skull, while the left hand is expressively raised in a gesture of restraint, or abhorrence.

The effect of the whole is somber with a quiet power derived from the boldness and simplicity of concept. There is a wealth of detail in the canvas, but the impression is one of spent emotion, of a crisis over. The story it tells is that of a beautiful Magdalen, overcome by a strange penitence for the wrong she has done.

The picture came into the possession of the Green family some 62 years ago, when Mr. Green, only a young man, first began to show an interest in art collecting. It was in a little auction shop in Main street that he found the canvas, rolled up and in its tragic splendor ignored by the casual shoppers. Mr. Green bought it, not because he was assured of its value in the world of art, but because the picture fascinated him.

In the years that followed he developed a large and notable collection of paintings, of the Italian, Flemish, English and contemporary American schools. But always the "Repentant Magdalen," as he designated the picture, was a favorite. His interest was fanned anew when after cleaning hitherto obscure details were observed; such as the tears on the Magdalen's cheek, and the curve of the cave entrance in the background.

More recently members of the family have become interested in accounts of the lost Magdalen of the Corregio collection. Corregio, although a lesser artist, is frequently compared with his contemporary, the great Michel Angelo. He is noted for his perfection of sensuous beauty, and his early appreciation of aerial perspective and for shortening. The allurement and softness of the flesh tints and the treatment of the subject, in the Green canvas compare with marked characteristics of the Corregio originals, and may indicate its identity as the lost Magdalen mentioned by critics of Corregio, but not described by them.

The owners communicated with experts in this country and abroad in an attempt to establish the identity of the picture. To an Italian expert they sent a careful description of the painting, with a photograph. The critic, excited by the results of a questionnaire filled out by the owners, urged that the canvas be brought.

'PIGGISH' FROGS PUZZLE

Innocent frogs that ate too much caused the mystery of long-lived amphibians, according to William Boyd Dawkins, the English naturalist. Finding of live frogs inside of rocks many years ago established the theory that the hoppers had lived there for centuries without food.

Dawkins announced recently that frogs had no more chance of living while sealed up than men under such conditions. Eight of the frogs found were inclosed in a casing of hard gridstone, and geologists say there were no frogs in the world when gridstone was formed.

Dawkins surmised that the frogs, when little crept into fissures and ate so many insects that they became so fat that they could not get out before the fissure was sealed by sediment. He declared the frogs thus fattened could live a year without food, and that the specimens were found before the year had expired.

WILL EXCAVATE INDIAN MOUNDS

QUINCY, Ill.—Indian mounds, the burial places of tribes that first settled this section of the Mississippi Valley, may be excavated here by the department of anthropology of the University of Chicago, if the recommendations of Prof. W. M. Krogman are carried out.

Prof. Krogman came to Quincy to inspect an incomplete skeleton and skull found by workmen who were plowing for a new golf green at a country club. Attracted by the number of mounds in this vicinity, he remained to explore a bit in Adams and Pike counties.

The principal burial grounds of the Indians who once inhabited the site of Quincy are on high bluffs which overlook the Mississippi River. In the southwest section, where the mounds are most numerous, a park has been established.

SHERIFF PUTS BAN ON 'UNDER COVER' AGENTS

STOCKTON, Cal.—Sheriff William H. Hicks, of San Joaquin county, has refused to deputize undercover agents at the request of District Attorney Guard C. Darrah, asserting he does not want any "stool pigeons running around." Darrah set forth he is empowered under the law to employ as many under-cover agents as needed, and if at least one under-cover man had authority to make arrests it would facilitate matters.

150,000 CHAIRS IN LONDON PARKS

LONDON.—There is a man in London who has done more for tired humanity than anyone else since the world began. And, as tired folk are extremely apt to get cross and snappy, he must have prevented an enormous number of quarrels and squabbles. He has also been responsible for more love-making than anyone else, and thus, as Cupid's best ally, he must have made millions happy.

He has also done more than anyone else to bring folks out into the fresh air and sunshine, and thus must have contributed enormously to the health of the community.

Who is this public benefactor? He is Mr. M. W. Shanly, the "Chair King." His name is on the familiar little green chairs which in their thousands dot the Royal parks in London and many other places.

The story of how the parks became "chaired" is quite a romance. Some 80 years ago, in the reign of Napoleon III, Mr. Shanly's father went to Paris and noticed that Parisians were provided with chairs in the parks and gardens. Although it is said that the mind gets sluggish when one has a heavy cold—and he had one as the result of sitting on the damp grass in Hyde Park, where at that time there wasn't a single seat—he began to think. Why should Londoners be denied what Parisians possessed? On his return he obtained a license to "chair" the Royal parks. He began with 16 chairs, and now, owned by his son, there are over 150,000! They line nearly 350 miles of park paths and roads.

A big volume could be filled with "chair" stories. A Scotsman, new to London, sat on a chair in Hyde Park. "I'm no understandin' what ye're wantin', mon," he told the collector when the latter came along. "Twopence for the chair, sir," was the reply. At that the Scotsman got up and examined it closely. "It's no so dear, mon," he said. "I'm thinkin' I'll have twa."

An extremely weighty lady, of super-ample proportions, spread herself over two chairs, and was most indignant when the collector told her she must pay for two, or sit on one. "Your employer will lose money over this, my man," she said, loftily, as she stood up and sat down on a single chair. Mr. Shanly did—for the chair crumpled to pieces beneath her.

"A chair's only supposed to be for one," a collector told a young man whose sweetheart was seated on his lap. "That's all right, then," was the reply. "We were married this morning and the parson told us to remember he'd made us 'one.'" The collector went off, scratching his head.

At night the chairs are tipped sideways, so that any rain may run off. "I am sure it is most demoralizing," wrote a lady. "It gives the whole park a tipsy appearance, and the effect on the young must be dreadful."

Mr. Shanly's favorite story is that once, varying his usual custom of paying, he told the collector that he was Mr. Shanly, the owner of the chairs. "You're the third today what's pitched that yarn," was the retort. "Git up or fork out!" Mr. Shanly "forked out."

"Yes," a collector told a patron, "I'll take charge of anything you've picked up on a chair. It might be asked for." And he was then presented with a matchbox containing—one flea!

PLAN SHRINE TO MONROE

The establishment in Fredericksburg, Va., of the greatest shrine in America to the memory of President James Monroe was definitely decided upon by the purchase there a few days ago by Laurence Gouverneur Hoes, Washington, great-great-grandson of the distinguished statesman, of the building used by the former President as a law office before he became internationally famous, says the Washington Star. The building has been owned privately for many years, and although frequently attempts have been made to purchase the property for the sake of preserving it, none of them succeeded until Mr. Hoes concluded the arrangements which brought it back into the possession of descendants of the Monroe family.

Mr. Hoes stated that the property would immediately be restored to its original state and provision would be made for its permanent maintenance. He also stated that the entire collection of relics and souvenirs owned by the Monroe descendants would be placed there for permanent keeping.

PAINTS CEMENT "LAWN" GREEN

TUJUNGA.—David Costello, pioneer resident here, has hit upon an innovation which is likely to make him rich, his friends assert, if he will go into business and sell his idea to others.

Costello for some time has maintained that too much time is wasted monkeying around a front lawn of grass. He asserted that the labor and worry expended in trekking behind a lawnmower was a squandering of effort and should be put to better use.

As a result, Costello has no front lawn of grass. Instead of the usual verdure the lawn is laid with a rough surface of cement which he has painted the color of dark grass and which can easily be mistaken for the usual lawnmower fodder. In some parts of the cement lawn small holes have been dug for the planting of shrubs, which enhance the greenness of the artificial lawn.

FRENCH TARIFF STRIKES BLOW AT U. S.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—What are said to be prohibitive duties upon a variety of American exports to France have been in force against shipments from United States ports since September 1, it was learned today. The new duties are from four to six times higher under the general tariff now effective than previously.

This fact came as a surprise to the American embassy on Wednesday, it is stated, the embassy having understood from the French foreign office that the new tariffs were rather more favorable to America than the old schedules.

The embassy, acting under instructions from the State Department, is making energetic representations to the foreign office for most-favored nation treatment. Meantime commodities arriving on vessels which have sailed from America since September 1 will be held in French ports awaiting the action of the French government.

American importers declare that these new high duties exclude numerous articles from competition in France, with Germany, England and other countries enjoying most favorable national treatment. These articles include magnetos, electric machinery, small hardware, pumps, razor blades, clothes-pressing and clothes-making machines, prepared and worked leathers, and enameled ware.

An example of the new duty is seen in the case of steel furniture, in which quite a trade recently has sprung up in France. The duty in this instance is increased from 1 franc 60 centimes and 2 francs, to 8 francs 80 centimes. This figure is said to be at least 50 per cent of the value of the furniture itself. The duty on fountain pens, which previously averaged 5 francs, or 20 per cent of their value, has now been raised to 80 per cent.

3 DIE, 4 HURT AT CROSSING

PORT ALLEGHANY, Pa., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Three persons were killed and four seriously injured when a Pennsylvania Railroad Philadelphia-Buffalo flyer struck an automobile, containing seven tourists, on a grade crossing on the state highway at Liberty, eight miles south of here.

The dead are Mrs. Mary Holcum, Miss Marie Farlee and Miss Mary Woods.

The injured are E. H. Woods, Donald and Dean, sons of E. H. Woods, and Mrs. E. H. Woods.

GOLDSTEIN WINS IN 14TH

Rivalry between opposing aldermanic candidates of the Fourteenth ward for appointment of judge of election in the Seventh district of the ward was decided in favor of Sol Goldstein when his choice, Attorney Morris Linton, was named in an order signed by Judge James H. MacFarlane and entered in Quarter Sessions Court today. The petition was presented by Attorney Barney Cohen. Patrick Casey, opposing candidate, wanted Cleveland McTighe named.

INDICT MAN ON ARSON CHARGE IN PENN AVE. FIRE

A true bill charging arson for setting fire to a factory at 2618 Penn avenue, August 12, was handed down against Carl Skidmore, of 7006 Penn avenue, among 47 indictments found yesterday by the grand jury.

"Feels Like a Real Man Now—Thanks to McCoy's"

That's just what one man wrote from Atlantic City and thousands of men and women know by experience that McCoy's Tablets, known the world over as the great flesh producer, do put on flesh where flesh is most needed.

It doesn't take but a few weeks for hollows in cheeks, neck and chest to fill out and what a change for the better this will make in your personal appearance.

And besides looking better you'll feel better for in McCoy's Tablets is a combination of health building agents that increase strength and bring vigorous health to weak, run-down, nervous men and women.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 one dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

TO GAIN WEIGHT DO THIS

Few men or women suspect that a grouchy, weary, tired or lazy condition is often due to Toxemia (system poisoning). Daily bowel action does not carry away the weakening, deadening, poisonous wastes. But just take PARTOLA, then watch your energy return, languidness disappear, ambition come back. PARTOLA in mint candy laxative tablets, stimulates natural bowel action, cleanses, sterilizes and helps strengthen the entire system. Any good druggist sells regular box 30¢, double size 50¢. # NONCHALANT IN 4 DEATHS

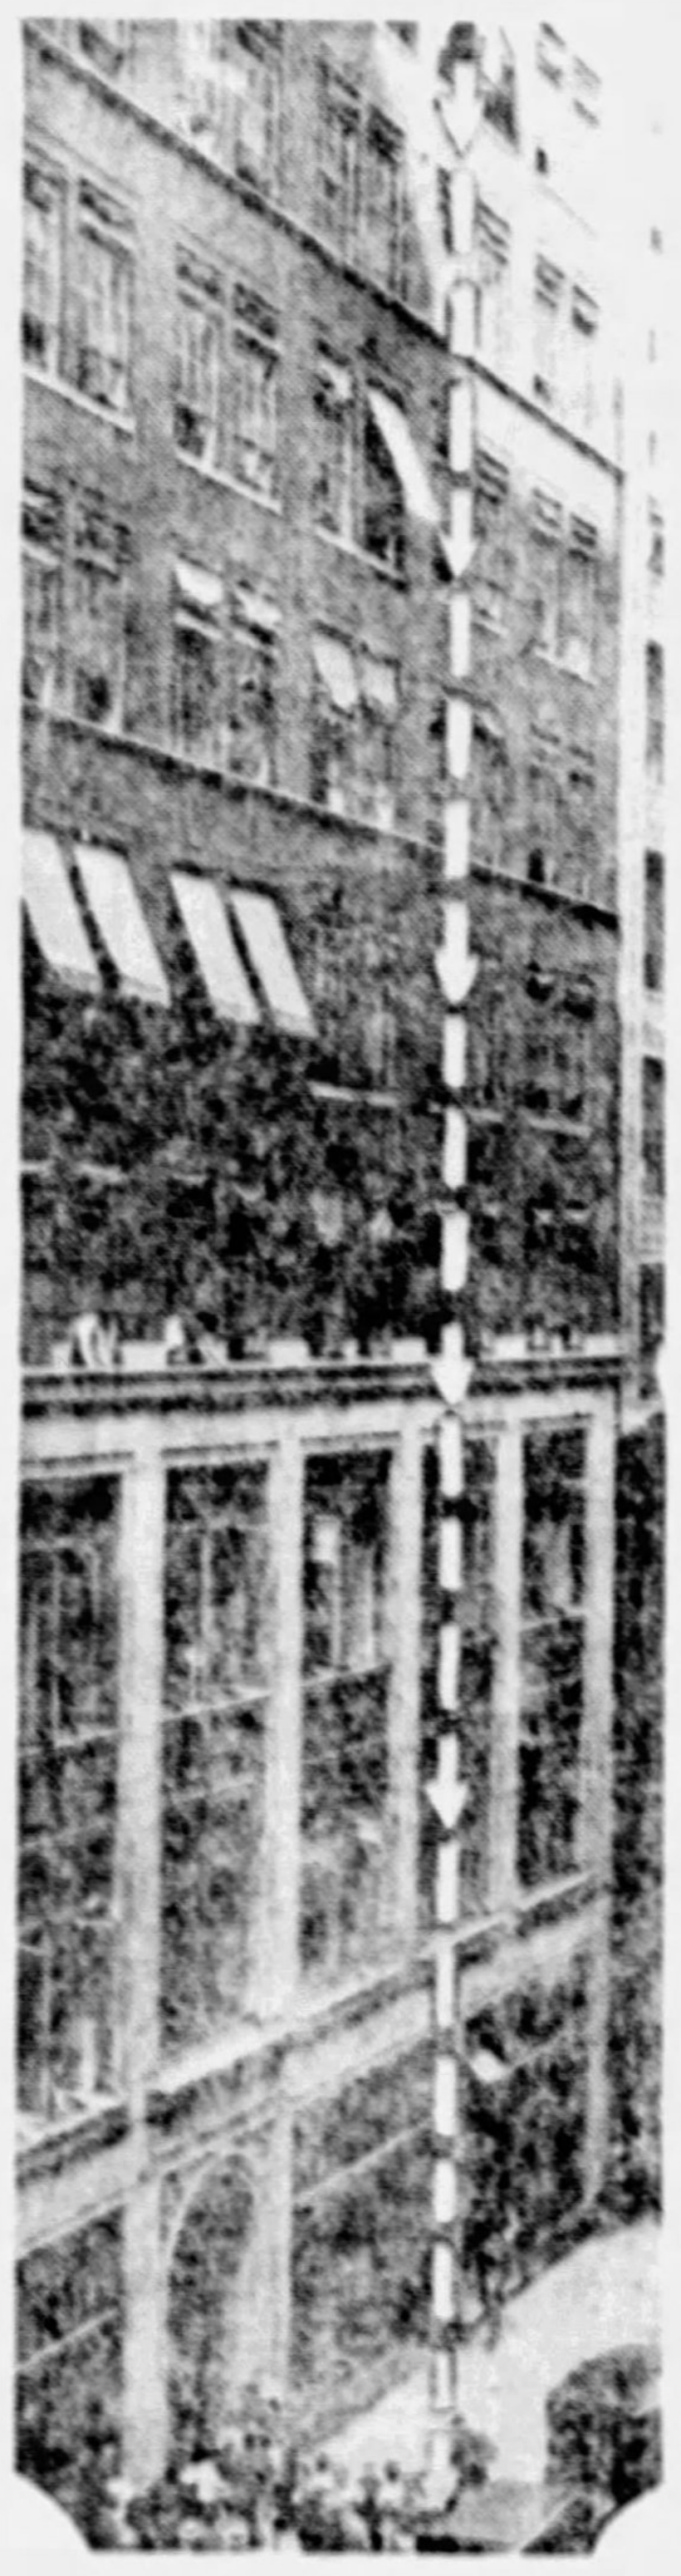
HELD

Charles B. Bernstein (above), Baltimore, unperturbed visibly since he gave himself up to New York police for the shooting of three men and the subsequent death of another. An argument over a real estate transaction in the office of a law firm at 19 West Forty-fourth street, New York, was followed by the shooting.



FALLS

Charles Herskovitz, shot and killed; Henry C. Cohen, shot in lungs and died in hospital, and J. Steinberg, shot in chest and killed in plunge from tenth floor to sidewalk below are the dead. Steinberg's hurtling body struck Philip McGroarty, former stage manager for Jane Cowl in the "Road to Rome," and resulted in his death shortly after.

PRAYING SAVES TRAFFIC FINE

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Some pretty good yarns are told in the traffic court here and Magistrate Gottlieb thought he had heard them all.

But it took a pretty little damsel, Miss Anna Reph, to spring a new one on the weary judge. Her father had received a summons for overstaying the parking time on a local street. He couldn't go to court so he sent his daughter instead. "I don't think you ought to fine papa," begged the young miss, "he was doing a good deed."

"And why not? Law is law, young lady," scowled the magistrate.

"Your honor, he was praying in the synagogue five whole minutes and that's why he got the summons for for his car."

"Well-well," smiled the judge. "That's another story. Any man who prays five whole minutes deserves to have sentence suspended. What this country needs is more praying!"

IDENTIFYING OF NOTES REVIVES REDFERN HOPE

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Hope for Paul F. Redfern, Brunswick-to-Brazil flier, missing since he hopped off Glynn Isle beach two weeks ago today, flamed higher today with positive identification of notes dropped from a monoplane and picked up by a Norwegian steamer 165 miles off the coast of Venezuela on August 26.

While Paul J. Varner, flight chairman, was comparing photostatic copies of the notes with specimens of Redfern's handwriting and finding style identical, Rev. Fred C. Redfern, Columbia, S. C., the young aviator's father, sent word there was no doubt that it was his son's handwriting.

The master of the Christian Krogh related on his arrival at Kingston, Jamaica, and on docking at New Orleans that Redfern's monoplane arrived over his vessel Friday afternoon following the takeoff on Thursday at noon. The license number "NX3773" was plainly visible, he declared, as was the inscription Brunswick-Brazil painted on the fuselage. The aviator dropped the notes asking the direction of land, and, on being shown the way, flew off toward the Venezuelan coast, the captain said.

Old, Rusty Harmonica Start of Famous Band

Borrah Minevitch, for whom the Sun-Telegraph is trying to find some boy in this city to represent Pittsburgh in his novel Harmonica Band that comes to the new Loew's and United Artists Penn Theater, has had a career that reads like the hero of a Horatio Alger novel.

Any young man under 20 years of age may fill in the blank attached, and if Borrah finds among those enrolled someone with sufficient ability on the mouth-organ, he will offer a contract dependent, of course, upon the consent of the boy's parents.

A dented and rusty harmonica displayed in a music store window served as the unique contact between a half-starved Boston newsboy and fame. It was Borrah Minevitch, whose nose was enviously pressed against that window pane only a few years ago. It was Borrah Minevitch, who comes to Loew's and United Artists' New Penn Theater Monday, with his Harmonica Band.

Morris Gest, successful Russian compatriot, contributed the few pennies which placed that rusty instrument in the hands of the newsboy. Immediately, Borrah cut down his allowance of sleep to the minimum, snatching every available minute for making the harmonica sing. For days at a time his lips were torn and swollen, but the old harmonica sang.

Borrah's comrades followed him through all the streets. They were fascinated pupils, all purchasing cheap instruments. Finally they were organized a harmonica band, with Borrah as concert master. The blank

WANTS TRANS-OCEAN FLIGHTS RESTRICTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The commerce department should have authority to regulate transatlantic flying civilians in future because of the great danger involving in such ventures, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson believes. "Because of the serious accidents that have occurred of late, I think the government should have the power to determine under what conditions such flights may be undertaken in future," he said.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON RETIRING FROM BUSINESS

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Sir Thomas Lipton, famous British sportsman and tea merchant, has resigned the chairmanship of the company which bears his name. Sir Thomas has also quit his seat on the board of Lipton's Ltd. and becomes honorary life president of the concern. Coincident with his retirement it was announced Lipton's Ltd., and its great rival, the Meadow Dairy Company, are consolidating forces.

Sounds Like D. T.'s But 'Tis Only Fish Story

If within the next 10 days or so your friend walks up to you and tells you he has seen pink, yellow, green and red fish; fish with their eyes where their tails ought to be; fish less than an inch long; fish with horns and fish with horses' bodies—don't charge it up to the wages of gin.

For the friend may be a deacon or may only drink Scotch and he will just be reporting the annual fish show held by the Pittsburgh Aquarium Society. The exhibition, at which fish from all parts of the world will be on view, will be held in the greenhouse at West Park, North Side, September 18 to 20. Among the queer fish to be on view this year will be the Guppi, the Swordtail, the Platy, the Formosa and—what names can you think of?

CARL F. MANGOLD LEAVES $15,000 ESTATE IN TRUST

In wills filed today for probate, Dora Kramer, of Pittsburgh, leaves a $5,200 estate to her children. Mary C. Wiltshire, of North Versailles township, after making minor bequests, leaves $14,300 to her children; Carl F. Mangold, of Pittsburgh, leaves $15,000 in trust for his children or until the youngest becomes 21 years of age, and Christopher Coulson, of Clarion, gives $9,500 to his wife.

WOMEN TO FLY OCEAN

FRANCES WILSON GRAYSON

Miss Grayson, Long Island real estate broker, and Mrs. Aage Ancker, wealthy South Carolina sports woman, will retain two men as pilot and navigator and attempt to fly across either the Atlantic Ocean to France or the Pacific to Tokio, they announced. Miss Grayson will command the expedition, which will use a Sikorsky amphibian plane and which will start within three weeks, with immediate test flights. Miss Grayson is a divorcee and with her companion will brave the dangers that already are believed to have taken the lives of the only two women who set out to conquer them—Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim and Miss Mildred Doran.

START DRIVE TO REPEAL U. S. DEATH TAXES

By ARTHUR HACHTEN.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Complete revision of the Federal income tax law, with reduction of the corporation earnings levy and repeal of the inheritance tax, will be demanded of the next Congress by the largest commercial lobby ever formed here on revenue legislation.

A new drive to repeal the "Peeping Tom" section, calling for publication of taxes paid by individuals and corporations, is on the program.

Headquarters have been established here by the American Taxpayers League, with Frank W. Mondell, former Republican Representative from Wyoming, as general counsel.

Lee Satterwhite, former speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, heads the state legislative organization of the league. Their aim is to wipe out the estate tax—"death duties"—paid on estates after death of the owner.

Governors from several states will join in the drive before the House Ways and Means Committee, when it meets next month to draft a new revenue law, to break down the inheritance tax.

Twenty-two states have adopted resolutions calling upon Congress to evacuate the estate tax field and leave that source of revenue to the states.

Your Smile

Quickly made charming with ivory white teeth and firm gums

THE prettiest smile becomes ugly when teeth look dull and clouded. Modern science now restores "off-color" teeth to dazzling whiteness. They gleam like jewels.

It's been found that dingy teeth come simply from a film that forms on teeth. A stubborn film old-type dentifrices did not successfully remove. That's why brushing failed you.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel that film now—a sort of slippery coating. Beneath it are the white teeth you envy.

It keeps your smile unattractive because it absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. It invites tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea because it breeds bacteria.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, a scientific combatant has been found. Leading dentists widely urge it. All druggists have it. 10-day test sent free.

Coats

Expressing The Latest Trends

$59.75—$89.75—$115

THESE three groups cover the coat mode in all its important details. Velvets, Broadtails, Broadcloths, Velona and suede-like fabrics are much in evidence. Paquin's new collar, jabot fronts and a tendency to flares are featured. Dragon Blood, Continental and Moonlight Blues, Franciscan and Shagbark Browns and Navy and Black are among the important colors.

Luxurious fur collars, cuffs and borders of Beaver, Skunk, Mole, Fox, Kit Fox, Wolf and Caracul. Women's and misses' sizes.

—Third Floor—

A—Dovebloom is the material in newtan tone. It may also be had in black. The fur is black Caracul. A band of goring extends around the back, giving the coat a molded appearance. Women's and misses' sizes. Price, $59.75.

B—This number is of black Velora with a deep shawl collar and front panel of mole. It is a charming example of the straightline coat. Price, $89.75.

D—Black georgette is interestingly combined with black velvet in this model. The bodice, front panel and sleeves are closely pin tucked. Price, $25.00.

Dresses

In Rich Autumnal Colorings

$16.50—$25.00—$39.50

MUCH ingenuity is shown in the fashioning of these Autumn dresses—new colors—new lines—new materials. Crepe Exquisite, a serviceable tweed patterned silk, introduces something new in tailored dresses. Wool Georgette sets another new vogue. Some interesting Novelty Silk Crepes have been developed and are shown to excellent advantage in sports, street and afternoon models.

The color chart offers the much talked-of Franciscan Brown, Moonlight Blue, Seaweed Green, Rubina Red and numerous other tones including plenty of black. Sizes 14 to 46.

—Second Floor—

Leather Jackets, $16.75

EAST END HOME PURCHASED FOR INVESTMENT

Edward J. Steeb, Jr., has purchased from Gertrude Seder a large brick colonial dwelling and two-story garage on a lot 126x165 feet on the south side of Stanton avenue, near Mellon street, Eleventh Ward, for a consideration of $37,500. It is understood that Mr. Steeb is planning to remodel the building for an apartment.

The West End Savings Bank and Trust Company's old building at the northwest corner of Main and Wabash streets, West End, is the object of sales negotiations at the present time, according to rumors circulated among real estate men today. The property is a four-story office structure, and is one of the most substantial business properties in the West End. It is just across the street from the bank's new building.

The United States Realty Company, represented by J. B. Maisch, leased to the East Liberty Bowling Association the entire second floor of the building at 409-11 Market street for a long term of years; for the Sterick Corporation to George Lallos, for a terms of years, a storeroom at 2 Market place; for George T. Kitchings of New York to Spear & Co., third and fourth floors of the building at 119-21 Ninth street; and for Harry Shapera to the McShane Sign Company, the upper floors at 130 Ninth street.

C. C. McKallip & Co., announce the complete leasing of the ground floor of the Ferguson estate property now known as the Regent Building at the northwest corner of Penn and Highland avenues, East Liberty. The building is controlled by May, Stern & Co. through a long term lease, and has been sub-let to tenants on terms running up to 17 years.

On the first floor are Sander & Co., the Regent Theater, the Independent Wall Paper Company, Soloff, Inc.; George B. Hess, Herman Sigal and Contis Bros. Reno College, a new tenant, has taken two-thirds of the second floor.

A house in Monitor street, Fourteenth ward, lot 33x125 feet, has been sold by Albert E. Crocker to A. F. Oliver for $11,000.

An improved property on the east side of Brownsville road, Brentwood, lot 37x128 feet, has been sold by H. H. W. Schuchmann to Albert E. Beckman for $15,800.

Building permit applications filed today included:

First Ward—Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad Company, alterations, Second avenue and Perry street, $29,000.

Fourteenth Ward—H. Kapman, brick dwelling, [illegible] avenue, $12,000; Samuel Colman, brick dwelling and garage, [illegible] Bartlett street, $10,000.

Twenty-eighth Ward—B. [illegible], brick dwelling, Woodland street, $5,000.

Fifteenth Ward—J. J. McHugh, brick dwelling, 480 Elizabeth street, $4,500.

SUE TO ENJOIN SCHOOL BOARD

Injunction proceedings have been filed in Common Pleas Court by Attorney Martin Croissant, representing Patrick H. Fitch and Ruth M. Sullivan, of Brookline, to restrain the Board of Public Education from damaging their property.

The plaintiffs' property adjoins the playground maintained by the school board, which, it is claimed, has not provided the place with sewers to drain surface water. After each rain, it is averred, the plaintiffs' cellars are filled with mud and water to a depth of 18 to 24 inches. The land is situated at Fordham, Castlegate and Woodburn avenues.

MAN, ILL, HANGS HIMSELF

Martin Holleran, 60, committed suicide last night by hanging himself to the porch in the rear of his home, 3506 Frazier street. The body was discovered by his daughter, Miss Helena Holleran. Illness was assigned as the cause.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion
Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.
Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

NEW BAPTISM NEEDED, SAYS MACARTNEY

Conviction of the facts of the Christian revelation and a new baptism of faith are two necessities of the Protestant church today, maintained Dr. Clarence E. Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, yesterday on his return from a two-month tour of Europe. The world conference on faith and order at Lausanne was an impressive sight, he said.

While in Europe Dr. Macartney paid particular attention to political upheaval and the change from militaristic pomp to economic revival and national confidence. "There is a great military action in Jugo-Slavia," he said, "and I found that the Greeks are apprehensive lest Jugo-Slavia should covet the port of Slavonica, the ancient Thessalonica to which St. Paul addresses his earliest letters."

ASK LIBERTY FOR 70 PRISONERS

SOUTH HILLS CAR SHIFT PLANNED

Formal approval of the street car re-routing plan whereby cars from the South Hills will traverse Grant street and continue on up Smithfield street instead of making a short loop on Third avenue, was voted by the Better Traffic Committee yesterday afternoon.

Representatives of the Pittsburgh Street Railways Company are expected to confer with Director of Public Safety James M. Clark and Inspector of Traffic Benjamin E. Marshall as to the changes necessary to put the plan into effect.

Members of the Retail Merchants' Association have favored the plan because it will bring patrons from the South Hills farther downtown.

SWINGS CHISEL IN FIGHT; HELD FOR HURTING MAN

Wielding a chisel when he was attacked yesterday in the yards of the Wimmer Company, scrap iron dealers, South avenue and Sproat way, Jacob Hendrick, 53, of 1190 Forbes street, an employe, inflicted a serious wound on Jacob Rippert, 29, of 1026 Fifth avenue. Hendrick was held over by Magistrate E. M. Hough today.

NEW B. & L. ACCOUNTING SHOWS ASSETS OFFSET

The second and partial accounts of Peter G. Cameron, banking commissioner, and William L. McKee, special deputy, in possession of the Ownahome Building and Loan Association, filed in the Prothonotary's office, show cash and other assets of $72,877. Charged against this is an item of $42,495 in dividends, cash of $26,943, together with other items equaling the assets.

U. S. TO OPEN CONSULATE ON CAPE VERDE ISLANDS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The Cape Verde Islands, destined some day to be an important stopping place for air transportation lines between Africa and South America, have developed trade to a point where the State Department has established a new consulate on the island of St. Vincent. Port Grande, capital of the islands is the probable location of the new office. The population of the islands is now 140,000.

Summer Spoiled Skin Removed by Absorption

Because summer exposure leaves an undesirable surface of tan, redness and freckles, the sensible remedy is to peel off the entire outer skin. For this purpose nothing is better than pure mercolized wax, which actually absorbs an ugly complexion. Get an ounce at any drug store and use as directed. The thin mask-like layer of skin is removed, gently but surely, without inconvenience or detention indoors. In a few days the under skin blooms forth a marvel of spotless purity and beautiful whiteness. Mercolized wax brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and other age lines, use this face lotion: 1 ounce powdered saxolite and 1 half pint witch hazel.

What Has Gone Before

SALLY JEROME, pretty and clever, is the prop and mainstay of her family, which consists of MRS. JEROME, the twins, BEAU and MILLIE, and Sally, herself. Mrs. Jerome enjoys poor health, so Sally does the housework mornings and office work for grouchy MR. PEEVEY, down town, afternoons.

In the flat below the Jerome's flat lives TED SLOAN, an automobile salesman, who wants Sally to marry him and keep on working. But the only man who interests her is JOHN NYE, whose real estate office is just across the hall from Mr. Peevey's. Nye hires Millie as his secretary and becomes blindly infatuated, buying her expensive gifts and lending her his car. Beau gets $110 from Ted Sloan by means of two bad checks. When Ted threatens to turn him over to the police, Sally borrows the money to pay him from Mr. Peevey. But when she gives it to Beau, he uses it to elope with his fiancee, MABEL WILMOT. Sally starts paying off both Ted and Mr. Peevey at the rate of $2 a week. Beau and Mabel borrow from her, too, and she is at her wits' end when Millie is taken sick and has to have a doctor, which means more money. Mrs. Jerome has turned over her last check to Beau and Millie for a wedding present, and Sally is almost without a dollar. One afternoon while Millie is sick at home, and John Nye is out of town, Sally sees Davidson at Nye's office door, asking for Millie. She goes out to speak to him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SALLY, herself could have wept as she looked at the gaudy little second-hand roadster that stood out in the street. Even through the twilight its bright red paint glowed like a bonfire and its hood was decorated by a shiny brass figure of a bathing girl. It was exactly the kind of car that she would have expected Mabel to pick out.

"Beau," she couldn't help saying, "you might have paid some of your debts first."

She thought of the load of them he had on her own shoulders, and that she was doing her level best to pay off within a year.

But if the thought of them weighed down her spirits it did not seem to worry Beau at all. Not a shadow crossed his blond face or settled in his eyes.

"Got anything to eat?" he asked blithely. "We've been riding around all afternoon and we're as empty as can be."

"We've got hollow legs, we're so hungry!" warbled Mabel, following him to the kitchen where they soon made short work of the steak that Sally had been saving for the next day.

"We've rented a flat," Beau said, between great mouthsful of it. "We're going to move in tomorrow. It's furnished."

"It's as cute as a crow's nest," added Mabel. "Everything built in. In-a-door beds, and breakfast nook, and everything! I'm just as batty about it as a bat!"

They were having a fine time with Mrs. Jerome's check. That was plain enough.

The next morning when Sally left the house at 10 minutes after 11, Millie was still asleep.

Sally had looked in once or twice during the morning, and each time Millie had been lying in the same position, her face flushed, her breath coming regularly but quickly.

"She's just fine," Mrs. Jerome had decided. "Sleep's what she needs. She's hardly ever in bed before 1 or 2 o'clock, you know—and it's my guess that she's just worn out."

So Sally had not been worried when she started out in the bluest, brightest, windiest October day that ever was.

The office was empty when she arrived, and the morning mail was scattered on the floor by the door, where the postman had slipped it.

The telephone rang shrilly.

"That's Mr. Peevey, to see if I'm here on time," thought Sally, and she smiled to herself as she lifted the receiver.

But the smile vanished instantly.

"Sally—Sally—get home here as fast as you can," it gasped. "Millie—get here, Sally!"

Then there was a click and silence.

CHAPTER XXX.

FOR just a half-minute Sally was too stunned to move or to think. Then her brain cleared in a flash and began to work quickly and surely, as it always did.

She 'phoned for a taxicab, scribbled a few lines to let Mr. Peevey know where she had gone, picked up her hat and purse, and went downstairs to wait for her cab.

Five minutes after her mother's message she was on her way home, gazing out of the cab windows at the familiar streets with eyes that saw nothing. The ride was a nightmare while it lasted.

All her life seemed suddenly to have narrowed down to one single terror—the fear that Millie was dead or dying.

"It's my fault," she kept telling herself. "I should have had the doctor last night whether she wanted him or not. . . . I should have known that that sleep she was in wasn't a natural sleep. . . . It's all my fault."

She prayed with stiff lips. She felt that there was nothing on earth she wouldn't do for Millie if only God would spare her now. . . . She would give her up to John Nye again. . . . What did anything or anybody matter now that Millie was at death's door?

For Sally never doubted that Millie was there, and she was cold and shaking with fear as she went up the stairs to the flat.

Half way up she heard the door above her open, and Mrs. Jerome's heavy footsteps on the landing.

"That you, Sally?" And then she was sobbing on Sally's shoulder. "Millie—Millie's got to go to the hospital! She's got to be—operated on—" Her words ended in a muffled shriek.

"I've been trying to get her into her clothes for the last half hour," she appealed to Sally. "And I can't do it. You hold her and I'll try to get her arms into this coat."

Between them they got Mrs. Jerome dressed and into a chair, and then Sally flew out to the bedroom where Millie was.

She lay on the bed with her eyes closed and her little drooping mouth half open. There was no "Chinese black" on her eyebrows and lashes, and her unrouged face had a gray, drawn look. She was no beauty now.

Sally took up one of the hot little hands in her own and laid her cheek down against Millie's colorless cheek.

"Dear, I just won't let anything happen to you!" she whispered, tears pricking their way along her eyelids and a lump rising in her throat.

To her astonishment, Millie answered her. She had thought she was unconscious, but the blue eyes opened and she droned out a question in a slow, drowsy voice:

"Does an appendicitis operation cost a heap?"

"Now, don't worry about that," answered Sally fiercely. "We'll take care of that." Then the lump in her throat choked her again and made her stop talking.

Outside in the street there came the clang of an ambulance bell.

"If you need any money, ask John Nye for it," Millie's voice ran on monotonously. "He'll lend you anything—for me."

Mrs. Sloan came bustling into the room. "The ambulance is here," she said, all importance. "Here, Sally, wrap that blanket

LONE GUNMAN HOLDS UP TWO DRUG STORES

Two drug stores were robbed last night, apparently by the same lone holdup man. David Silvis, proprietor of the Highland Pharmacy, North Highland avenue, handed over $150 to an armed robber that waited until no customers were in the store, then walked in and threatened with a revolver.

At the North Park pharmacy, 901 Irwin avenue, a young man entered at closing time and, after buying a tube of toothpaste, ordered Victor Averbach, a clerk, to turn over between $200 and $250. After cramming the money into his pockets the holdup man backed to the door, covering Averbach with his gun, and escaped.

The victim of thugs who wielded blackjacks, Thomas Commace, of Bellaire, O., was near death in Mercy Hospital today. He was beaten into unconsciousness and robbed of $200 this morning by two Negro holdup men who attacked him in Our way. At the hospital it was stated he had suffered a probable fracture of the skull.

Two men entered the Pennsylvania Restaurant, 143 Brownsville road, Mt. Oliver, with drawn guns early today and held several employes at bay. They escaped with over $60 from the cash register, according to Mt. Oliver police.

County detectives today were tracking a band of four men who have robbed numerous barbecue stands and gasoline filling stations within the last week. Last night the quartet held up Henry J. Roche at his barbecue stand in the Freeport road, O'Hara township, and escaped with $50. Yesterday morning they drew guns on an employe at the Keystone service station, in the Noblestown road near Noblestown, and took several dollars. They travel in a fast automobile.

CLAIMS EXCEED COUNTY FUNDS

County Controller Charles C. McGovern revealed today that county funds are $200,000 short of being able to pay damage claims against the county.

Before the commissioners had left his office at the close of the public audit hearing, McGovern brought this fact to their attention and told them they must get the money somewhere. Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong acknowledged the shortage, but averred the commissioners would overcome it.

Western Fans' Seats For Chicago Bout to Be at Omaha--Will

Will Rogers.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 9.—Notice how to save money if you are going to the big prize fight. If you live in the West get your seats in the west side of the ring and get off at Omaha. New Yorkers take the 10,000 east ringside seats and detrain at Toledo. Ushers will seat the south at Louisville, Canada will occupy the northern ringside section with nothing between them and the fight but the Great Lakes.

One fighter will be painted white and the other black. Don't crowd after the fight is over. Ushers will pass among you and announce the winner.

The standing joke of the next century will be the man that comes home and said: "I had a ringside seat to the Dempsey fight."

Yours,
WILL.

OPEN OHIO RIVER BOULEVARD LINK

CLIMAX OF DEDICATION

Miss Helen Woodward of Ben Avon opens the new Beaver Road to traffic when she cuts the ribbon at the road dedication. Beside her is Director Norman F. Brown, of the Department of Public Works of Allegheny county, one of the speakers. Other speakers were Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong, E. V. Babcock and James Houlahen, W. Heber Dithrich, county solicitor, and Park H. Martin, president of the Pittsburgh and Ohio Boulevard Association. The new road is part of the proposed Ohio River boulevard. Representatives of nine boroughs participated in the exercises. The speaking took place near Glenfield.

NAME SCHOOL PRINCIPALS

The place of Arthur Bennett, who retired as principal of the East Park School, Lockhart street, in June, has been filled by Lillian V. Alter, formerly principal of the Daniel Webster School, Reedsdale street.

The principalship of the latter school has been given to Jane E. Mackenzie, who formerly occupied a similar post at the Duquesne School, East Ohio street. No appointment has been made for the vacancy created by the transfer of Miss Mackenzie.

Mrs. Stella S. Ladley has been appointed principal of Manchester School, Chateau and Juniata streets, to fill a position left vacant by the death of H. W. McIlree, last spring.

POISON FATAL TO WOMAN

Said to have swallowed poison in her home yesterday morning, Mrs. Fannie Averbach, 32, of 1153 Chislett street, died late in the afternoon in St. Francis Hospital. It is said she had been in ill health.

CHILD AUTO VICTIM'S PARENTS ASK $10,000

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Haddock, on behalf of their daughter, Dolores, aged 3, have filed a suit for $10,000 damages in Common Pleas Court against George Malta and the Malta Motor Company of Braddock, for injuries suffered by the child. It is alleged she was run down in Ophelia street April 17, last.

WHEN BOYS TRAVEL

THEY GROW WISER.

Mrs. Barbara Stanislaus, 1016 Fritz street, is happy that her son, George, 11, is home, safe and sound. Begging auto rides at the north end of the Liberty tubes, George was taken into a machine by a stranger who refused to let him out until they were several miles beyond Brownsville. The stranger gave George 15 cents and told him to go home, but George was lost. His tears found friends in police at Brownsville and George was sent home sadder but wiser.

COMMISSIONERS EVADE ISSUE ON TECHNICALITY

The county commissioners today evaded County Controller Charles C. McGovern's notice that they show cause why they should not be surcharged with $146,211.62, totaled from increases over contract prices on a number of county improvements.

In evading the answer, the commissioners took advantage of two technicalities—itemization and what their counsel termed the uncertainty of what McGovern wanted. Assistant County Solicitor William Jacobs, representing the commissioners, arose at the outset of the hearing and explained that in serving notice McGovern did not itemize what the amount represented and, therefore, the commissioners were uncertain and could not answer.

McGovern declared, that from the many questions asked since the audit was started, the Commissioners should have known what to answer. Giving an idea of what he wanted, McGovern said he could not understand why the Commissioners let contracts for only parts of jobs and then allow contractors and the public works department to increase the unit prices, thereby causing extra charges on the majority of contracts. That was violating the competitive bidding law, he said.

Jacobs said the Commissioners did not view the surcharge seriously, as they could appeal it publicly.

The hearing was adjourned until 10 a. m. Saturday.

FREE 2ND WARD RIOTERS ON $1,000 BAIL

Six of the participants in the Second Ward gun battle in front of the Nixon Theater Wednesday night, who were being held in Central Police Station on suspicious person charges, were released this morning on $1,000 bail each.

While the two factions did not engage in a general battle last night, a number of minor disturbances were reported. Police and deputy sheriffs, armed with riot guns, rushed to the scene of Wednesday's fight shortly after midnight after a report had been received that a new battle was threatening at a Sixth avenue club. Scores of adherents of the two factions, getting the same report, swarmed to the neighborhood, only to find it a false alarm.

There were a number of fist fights during the night, with no casualties except the usual assortment of black eyes. Only one arrest was reported as a result of the political fight in the ward, Irwin Schwartz being taken to the Penn avenue station charged with carrying concealed weapons. Police testified this morning that he was toting an automatic. He was fined $50.

John DeBasi, alias "Babe" Kelly, who was taken to the Mercy Hospital after having been beaten unconscious with a crank handle during the melee, is reported to be in "fair shape," and may leave the hospital today. John Sykes, another casualty, was sent to the police station from the hospital last night and released with the others. A blackjack caused his injuries.

Those released on bail are James DeBasi, better known as "Hamnose" Kelly, brother of "Babe," Earl Long, John Mazza, Frank Menegini, Frank Mazik and Sykes. All but Sykes, who is an adherent of the O'Malley-McManus forces in the political battle that is turning the ward upside down, are Kenna-Anderson lieutenants.

MOVE TO REVOKE BANK CHARTERS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Deputy Attorney General Paul Wagner started suit today in the Dauphin County Court against 22 banking institutions seeking revocation of their charters. All of the corporations affected are doing business no longer. Some never exercised the privileges granted them under the terms of their charters. Others have been merged with larger institutions. The defendants will have until October 24 to show why their existing charters should not be revoked.

The institutions affected include:

The Glassport Savings & Trust Company, Port Vue; Clarion Trust Co., Clarion; Traders Trust Company, Pittsburgh; Duquesne Savings & Trust Co., Duquesne; Perkiomen Trust Co., East Greenville; Donora Savings & Trust Co., Donora; Waynesboro Dime Savings Fund & Trust Co. of Waynesboro; Muncy Savings Bank, Muncy; Mercer Trust Co., Mercer and Clairton Saving & Trust Co., Clairton.

LOCAL MAN HELD AS EMBEZZLER

John C. Bach, home builder of this city, was arrested in Los Angeles, Cal., according to information received by police today. Bach, in an information filed by Andrew Lewis, is alleged to have taken $1,500 of the firm's money on August 20. Detectives John Crouse and William O'Bryan will leave in a few days to bring the prisoner to Pittsburgh.

DEATH ROLL

William J. Sheetz.

William J. Sheetz, 65, of 1540 Belasco avenue, Beechview, second oldest city patrolman, died in St. Joseph's Hospital last night. Mr. Sheetz was a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the city police force for the past 30 years. He was a member of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church; Monongahela Lodge, F. & A. M., and the Junior Order, United American Mechanics. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sheetz; his wife, Mrs. Margaret Lehner Sheetz; one son, Walter Sheetz; one daughter, Mrs. Esther Ilederer; a brother, Philip Sheetz, all of Pittsburgh; a sister, Mrs. William Coughener, New Stanton, Pa., and two grandchildren.

Herbert M. Conrad.

Herbert M. Conrad, 81, died Thursday in his home, 709 Whitney avenue, Wilkinsburg. He was a retired employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad and a member of St. James Catholic Church, Wilkinsburg. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Julia Conrad; three sons, Frank, Herbert M., Jr., and James J., and one adopted daughter, Miss Marie M. Conrad.

Mrs. Mary Collins.

Mrs. Mary Collins, 77, widow of John Collins, died Tuesday in the home of her son, T. A. Collins, 331 Gearing avenue. Mrs. Collins was a member of Old St. Patrick's Church. She leaves two sons, John J. and T. A. Collins.

STILL HUNT FOR OLD GLORY

LIFE-RAFT ONLY CHANCE FOR FLIERS

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—One single ray of hope that a flimsy rubber life-raft could withstand the pounding of the turbulent waters flickered today as three vessels [illegible] continued a futile search [illegible] miles east of Newfoundland for some trace of the monoplane Old Glory, which left Old Orchard, Me., Tuesday on an attempt to fly to Rome.

With no trace of the plane remaining, [illegible] was abandoned [illegible] James Dewitt [illegible], occupants of the ill-fated flight could be found alive. Even the most optimistic [illegible] that Old Glory herself could [illegible] afloat on the turbulent waters on which she is believed to have crashed a few minutes after sending out a frantic SOS call. The only hope remaining was that the fliers had taken safely to their rubber raft and still are floating or have been picked up by some merchant vessel unequipped with wireless.

The liners continuing the rewardless search of the great circle where Old Glory is believed to have gone down were the Nova Scotia, of the Furness Line, the American Merchant, and the Cunarder California. The search thus far has been utterly without success. No splinter of shattered fuselage or wing, no floating tank or other wreckage has been sighted.

TARENTUM MEN FINED

A fight during a masquerade party at a Tarentum club in February brought fines to the participants in Criminal Court today after a jury reached verdicts of guilty of assault and battery against Albert Schultz, club president; Joseph Jenigens, steward, and Leonard Salmone, club member. Schultz prosecuted the other two and they filed charges against him, all alleging aggravated assault and battery. Judge Harry H. Rowand fined each $15 and costs.

High Land Values, Not Taxes, Hamper Mills—Garland

Some steel mills left Pittsburgh, not because the taxes were high, but because the land in the city limits has become too valuable, Councilman Robert Garland stated in a radio address last night.

"Land for mills and large factories, with rail and other facilities, just a few miles out of the city proper, can be acquired for considerably less money," he said. "What we lose in Pittsburgh we more than make up in the Pittsburgh district. Students of our conditions know that Pittsburgh is constantly and healthily progressing. We not only are supreme in steel making as of yore, but we will maintain our supremacy."

WALSH SEEKS FUNDS FOR 350 MORE POLICEMEN

Needing 350 more policemen, Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh plans to seek the necessary appropriations at the next budget session, he has announced. Half of the officers are needed for inadequately [illegible] and the others for traffic duties, he said.

TRAFFIC SURVEY TO WEST END PLANNED

A survey to determine how much traffic moves over the Point bridge, how much enters Carson street from South Main street, and how much goes into West End by way of Mansfield avenue will be made tomorrow by the association sponsoring the proposed Ferry street bridge and tunnel. Boy Scouts under the direction of [illegible] will make the actual count.

UNIDENTIFIED INFANT HELD AT MORGUE

AUTO THIEVES SMASH UP IN GUN BATTLE

Scores of shots were fired in a battle between two men speeding in a stolen automobile and police of Crafton and Ingram in the main streets of the boroughs this morning. The stolen machine crashed into the garage of Chief of Police Taylor, of Crafton, and was wrecked. The thieves escaped. Taylor's machine was jammed through the rear of the garage.

The car was stolen from Frank McMullen, 7 Creighton avenue, Crafton, at 1:30 o'clock. McMullen reported the theft to Crafton police, and with three of his sons, started in another machine to hunt the missing car.

A motorcycle policeman in Ingram sighted the car thieves in Obey avenue. He gave chase, firing. In Crafton, Chief Taylor, with an another officer in an automobile, joined the chase.

around her when the men pick her up.

But Millie shook her head. "My pink bathrobe," she gasped, wincing as the white-uniformed doctor slipped his arm under her. Her vanity never deserted her, even in her hour of danger and agony.

The last glimpse Sally had of her showed her pulling her soft yellow hair into little tendrils over her forehead, which was too high.

But neither Mrs. Jerome nor Sally picked them up to look at them.

They sat there, staring at the pale-green painted walls, at the canary in its cage by the window, at the photograph of the nurses' class of 1911, at each other's solemn, unhappy faces.

"Did you telephone Beau and Mabel?" Sally whispered. The deadly quiet of the room and the hall outside the room subdued her.

Mrs. Jerome made a disgusted face. "Why should I call them?" she wanted to know. "They don't care anything about anyone but themselves—and racing around in that ramshackle car that's painted up like the fire department. I wish I had that $100 back from them that I promised to poor Millie."

She had given them the $100 of her own free will but now that Millie was sick she couldn't forgive them for taking it.

"I'll try to get Beau at the bank," said Sally, starting up from her chair. "He ought to be here." But Mrs. Jerome pushed her down again with a silk-gloved hand.

"I did try to get him when I phoned your Aunt Emily, but he wasn't there," she confessed. "I suppose he's helping that little china doll of his move into the flat they've taken. He's forgotten that he ever had a family—" And with that she burst into tears once more. Beau was the apple of his mother's eye and she never was going to forgive him for marrying Mabel Wilmot. And Sally knew that it would have been the same no matter what girl Beau had married.

"Why, mother, he was at the house last night to show us his car," she reminded her mother, gently. "Don't you remember? He and Mabel had steak sandwiches out in the kitchen."

But Mrs. Jerome refused to be comforted.

"Somebody'd better telegraph your papa," she said suddenly, with a sniff. "After all, Millie's his child and he ought to be made to pay for this operation—and if Millie's going to die he'd better be here anyway. I'll wire him myself when I get home."

A nurse came into the room. "Miss Jerome's out of the operating room and she's still unconscious," she said, looking grave and pleasant at the same time, as nurses manage to look. "Dr. Amblesade is sure she's going to get along all right, but he'd rather no one saw her this afternoon. So if you'd like to go—" She held open the door that led into the white-walled hallway.

"We'll telephone you if there's any change," she added in that same half-cheerful way, and went rushing down the hall with her stiff white skirts rustling like autumn leaves in the wind and her rubber heels making no sound on the cork-covered floor.

To Be Continued.

"Well, my dear, this LINE I handed ARab and NOIsy about their perVERted LOVE-making has taken VIolent efFECT, at least on ARab, because to-DAY, my dear, he SUDdenly burst FORTH into the MOST poETic SPEECH—can you BEAR it? REALly, my dear, I was TOO imPRESSED because you would ACtually have thought he was a SUBtitle writer the way he sort of SPOUTed these enDEARing little EPitaphs at me all of a sudden, because I mean he must have CAREfully learned them by HEART out of one of these red PLUSH scenARio effects—you know the TYPE! Well, ANYways, my dear, I sort of LIStened atTENtively to sort of let him get into HIGH and start STEPping on the GUSH and, my dear, it was honestly too perfectly SCREAMing, because I mean he ACtually thought I was too imPRESSED with all these odd little PHRASEs about his conSUming PASsion that had come with the rosy DAWN and only needed the DEW of my afFECtion to surVIVE—can you BEAR it, my dear? But he was practicably ready to ROLL over and BUTter himself with disMAY when I told him his LOVE didn't need the DEW of my afFECTION to be all WET, do you know what I mean?"

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By Adele Garrison

Madge Gathers Up the Broken Threads of Her Life.

CHAPTER I.

ONLY the embers of love are now my portion.

Out of the wild, rapturous happiness, the passionate devotion, the high ideals which invested my marriage and which are now but memories, I have left but a heap of ashes—I almost wrote—but ashes are wholly dead, while there is a glow at the heart of embers, which if carefully tended can burst into rosy flame again. Deep in my heart is the knowledge that mine are not ashes, but embers in truth.

But——

Do I wish to tend that glowing center in order that my marital happiness may burst into fiery life again?

Is the end worth the labor and the stifling of my own individuality which I must face in order to achieve it?

I, Madge Graham, wife of Dicky Graham, am on the porch of the eastern Long Island farmhouse which has been our summer home for so long, and look out over the meadows, woodland and farmsteads dipping gently to the distant ocean—the familiar view I love so well.

As I sit pondering over my problems the fancy comes to me that I am but one of a large sisterhood of women who, bending over the embers of their married happiness, are debating whether that final labor to blow them to flame before they sink into gray dead ashes is worth while.

I do not mean the hectic feminine spirits of hasty weddings and quicker divorces, who, to paraphrase the old masculine comparison, value their husbands a little higher than a cigaret, but infinitely less than a bridge tournament. I am claiming as spiritual sisters the members of that army of modern intelligent, cultured, high-principled women who are trying conscientiously to make their trained and independent personalities fit into that yoke called marriage. That it is a yoke, archaic, like other garnishings of this world, such as birth and death and love and hate, but unavoidable for those who wish to inclose themselves in the magic circle of a home and family—this is something every woman knows.

Before the tired eyes of my spirit as I sit here in endless procession of these, my comrades, seems to pass. Some of them stride joyously, triumphantly along, secure in their marital happiness, a little arrogant because of it. They are the women who because of their own wisdom or their good fortune in husbands—or both—have solved their problems and earned their reward of blissful wedding amity. Others creep dejectedly past me with hopeless eyes and bent shoulders—the women who have only heaps of gray ashes to stir and are crushed by the knowledge. Still others with squared shoulders and brilliant eyes, a little hard, show by their militant attitude that they are not even stirring their heaps of ashes, but have left them behind with little sorrow.

Then there are the women who share my own problem, wondering if it is worth while to stir the embers to life again, only to risk the ordeal of seeing the flame die down again under the sodden weight of bickering and unfaith.

But of them all, I wonder if there is one who carries with her the awful memory that I possess—that of my husband's hate-blazing eyes when he told me that he had found out I was trying to poison him. That Dicky could believe that of me—Dicky the husband whose love for me was once as idolatrous as mine for him—this is the knowledge which lies coiled around my heart like a clammy serpent.

True, I know that this suffering over his awful error is equal in intensity to mine over his lack of faith. From the moment he found that my old, malignant enemy, Grace Draper, for years half-crazed by her futile infatuation for him, had put the poison in his favorite fruit juice beverage in so ingenious a way as to throw the blame on me, he has been trying in every way to atone and to make me forget. With outward meekness, also, he has accepted the only condition under which I can with self-respect go on sharing a home with him—that we shall be merely friendly acquaintances—courteous, considerate, but with no hint of sentiment in our relations. This I proposed because of Junior, our idolized little son, who, we knew, needed both of us in his life, and Dicky had accepted it for the same reason.

But it is not an unnatural and impossible arrangement, from Dicky's point even more than mine, and, although he is strictly punctilious in the keeping of it, and, although never has our married life been so apparently peaceful—we have not addressed an irritated word to each other since that awful night, yet I have the feeling that my husband shares the thought that we are sitting upon the cover of a powder barrel with a burning fuse growing ever shorter.

With the exception of this major insistent problem of mine, my life bark since that awful night at the Riverside Drive apartment has been drifting on a placid stream, instead of being tossed upon a raging torrent, as it had been in the days leading up to that climax. Here in this peaceful farmhouse there are housed all of my immediate family except my father, who is still absent on his mysterious ocean trip.

My husband, my idolized small son, my mother-in-law, but lately returned from a long visit to North Carolina; our faithful little maid, Katie, and her husband, whom she calls "dot Jeem"—these are our usual household, augmented now by Mary Harrison, Dicky's young niece, and Katherine Bickett, wife of my brother's cousin, Jack Bickett.

These two are also marking time emotionally. Mary, not yet entirely convalescent from the dangerous illness with which she was smitten upon the night of our rescue of her from the cabaret dancer, Jack Leslie, who knows that some time she must face an explanation of her conduct, and probable dismissal by Philip Veritzen, famous theatrical producer, whose protege she is, and who is counting upon making her a world-renowned dramatic star. Katherine, while her husband is absent in South America, is giving her rare professional training as hospital nurse to my small son, that I may be free to pursue the dramatic historical research work with which Philip Veritzen had intrusted me at a salary which seems to me tremendous.

The emotional problems which I faced in the winter and early spring appear very remote and detached to me now. Hugh Grantland, truest and most devoted friend of my life, has gone away with my high-born friend, Lee Chow, presumably upon the same mysterious Government service which is claiming my father. Philip Veritzen, my employer, whose attentions so roused Dicky's jealousy, is in Europe looking over the theatrical productions there. Edith Fairfax is taking a well-earned vacation. I think Dicky insisted upon her going away that I might have no possible cause for annoyance in their professional companionship.

It is a peaceful time. It would be an idyllic time were it not for the ever-insistent question before me:

Will it ever be possible for me to forget that horrible doubt of me and those awful, searing words which my husband's lips addressed to me?

Is it worth while for me to blow upon the embers and rekindle the flame of wedded love?

you, too, may be proud of a clear skin

If you are unfortunate in having skin blemishes, pimples, boils, eczema, you owe it to yourself and friends to remove the cause. Go to the blood. Take a course of S.S.S. Tone up your system. Help Nature make you yourself again.

S.S.S. helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

Face to face evidence

Therefore, common decency demands that before meeting people, you put yourself on the polite side by the use of Listerine, the safe antiseptic. You simply rinse the mouth.

Immediately and effectively, Listerine combats unpleasant odors arising from teeth and gums, the most common source of halitosis.

Pittsburgh Safe

CHAS. A. WATERS

Mr. Waters, secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry of Pennsylvania, declares Pittsburgh industries, although more hazardous, are far in lead in safety.

WATERS HERE TO ENLARGE DISTRICT

"The Pittsburgh district has made such amazing strides in making industry safe that the workers in the hazardous industries today are safer than the pedestrians on the streets," declared Charles A. Waters, secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry of Pennsylvania, upon his arrival here today from Harrisburg to make effective a reorganization of this supervising district which will make the Pittsburgh district easily the largest and most important in the state.

"The safety organizations established in the Pittsburgh district are the examples for the rest of the state, and doubtless no section of the country surpasses this district in its advanced ideas for the protection of its employes. I expect to carry away with me some of these ideas. Records have been established here unheard of a few years ago. This is the most important district of the state for the reason that the most hazardous industries are located here, yet in recent years safety records have been made in the Pittsburgh district not equaled by other districts comprising less hazardous industries. For instance, the pattern shop of a large steel plant recently operated more than 1,000 days without a loss time accident."

The reorganization will enlarge the Pittsburgh district by including in it all of Butler, Beaver and Westmoreland counties, together with the entire counties of Armstrong, Allegheny, Fayette, Washington and Greene, which has been in the district, and will include a population of 2,316,000, far greater than any other district. The organization of the State Department has been greatly enlarged and today Secretary Waters visited all bureaus located here to weld the larger force into an efficient machine and speed it up. He referred to the reorganization here as an evidence of the deep interest taken by Gov. John S. Fisher in the work of the department and the Pittsburgh district, for which he had granted an increased appropriation.

A number of city and county officials called upon Mr. Waters today. He will represent Gov. Fisher as a speaker at tonight's dinner at the Rittenhouse in honor of William A. Means, chairman of the registration commission.

BACKFIRE BURNS CHAUFFEUR

Frank Anderson, 23, chauffeur for R. B. Mellon, was severely burned on the arms and chest, by the backfiring of an automobile in the Mellon garage, 1047 Shady avenue, this morning. Anderson was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. A fire alarm was sounded, but there was no damage to property.

Want a Buffalo? Here's Chance to Get One By Paying Freight

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Anyone wanting a big bull buffalo or mayhap a wild lady buffalo from the great open spaces should apply forthwith to the national park service, the Interior Department announces.

The herd in Yellowstone Park now numbers 850 and can stand a little weeding out, it was explained. Buffalos, however, will not be given away for household or backyard pets.

These bulls are rather hefty, running from 2,000 to 2,500 pounds each. It costs about $75 to catch and crate one and express charges. Applicants are asked to state for what purpose desired, facilities for keeping them and what age preferred.

Is Love a Game? By Beatrice Fairfax

IT is a pe[illegible] human nature [illegible] and appreciate [illegible] that which is in d[illegible] away than the [illegible] which is sure and [illegible]

Is it w[illegible] and de[illegible] heart [illegible] frankly [illegible] tion? [illegible] that ha[illegible] through [illegible]

Many [illegible] spondents [illegible] interest [illegible] portion [illegible] off. [illegible] challenge.

"Dear M[illegible]" writes Eva. "A[illegible] last winter I m[illegible] whom I liked just [illegible] pleasant people.

"He [illegible] the telephone [illegible] I met him. [illegible] after I first met [illegible] keeping 'steady' [illegible] courtship is [illegible]

"But [illegible] other girls [illegible] about [illegible] I was worth [illegible] never knew [illegible] met me [illegible] reason to.

"He was [illegible] of me and took me everywhere. He wanted me to marry him immediately [illegible] did not have enough money. I [illegible] him, but I do not [illegible] then. Gradually I began [illegible] what a fine [illegible] I was too sure [illegible]

"When [illegible] obtained a new position which brought him in contact with all kinds of people—both men and women. His work absorbed him. All went well until [illegible]. Then he ceased [illegible] to marry him. We kept [illegible] each other, but he no longer paid me all those [illegible] compliments. He said he loved me as much as ever, but he didn't want to tell me so because I might get tired of hearing it. [illegible] a woman never gets tired of that!

"I am [illegible] and he is [illegible] so he is old enough to know his own mind whether I am or not. Recently he told me he didn't know whether he would ever get married. He said if he should decide at some future date that he would marry me, he'd come and tell me, of course. He presumes I'll be waiting with outstretched arms to receive him. I probably will fool him then.

"Meantime what should I do? You may tell me to go out with other young men and enjoy myself. But that would make him jealous and when he is jealous I am awfully sorry and anxious to please him. Shall I let things go on as they are, but go out with other young men if I get the chance?

"I'd like to teach him a lesson—one that would wake him up—make him want me for his own, and perhaps knock some of the assurance from under him. Will you please advise me regarding this problem? "EVA."

Well, Eva, at least you have ceased to [illegible] the young man who interests you. And if I am not mistaken he interests you more now than in the days when you felt so sure of him and he was proposing regularly to you.

Whether his indifference is real or assumed, I confess I cannot quite figure out. You see he has me guessing also. I would not even try to get even with him if I were you, not to teach him a lesson.

The moment love begins to lose its sweet sincerity and becomes a game of wits, it ceases to be worthy of the name of either love or friendship. The girl or man who resorts to trickery to encourage love is in danger of losing it altogether. For tricks sometimes defeat their own end. In deliberately "teaching him a lesson" you plan and drive him away altogether.

If I were you, Eva, dear, I would continue to be a good friend of your admirer. Laugh and joke off his complacency. Do not take [illegible] But ask yourself whether you love him and be ready with [illegible] the next time he asks you. It was not [illegible] to enjoy his compliments and proposals without taking him seriously. [illegible] Meantime [illegible] accept invitations [illegible] other men [illegible] the world [illegible] a young man who [illegible] to marry you.

If you and he are so well suited to each other so congenial that you are [illegible] each other, you will find it out and become engaged in spite of yourselves, provided you do not risk your happiness by making a silly game of wits of love, which should be [illegible] and true [illegible] and unchanging.

CHIC CHERIE

Why It's Called "Costume Jewelry."

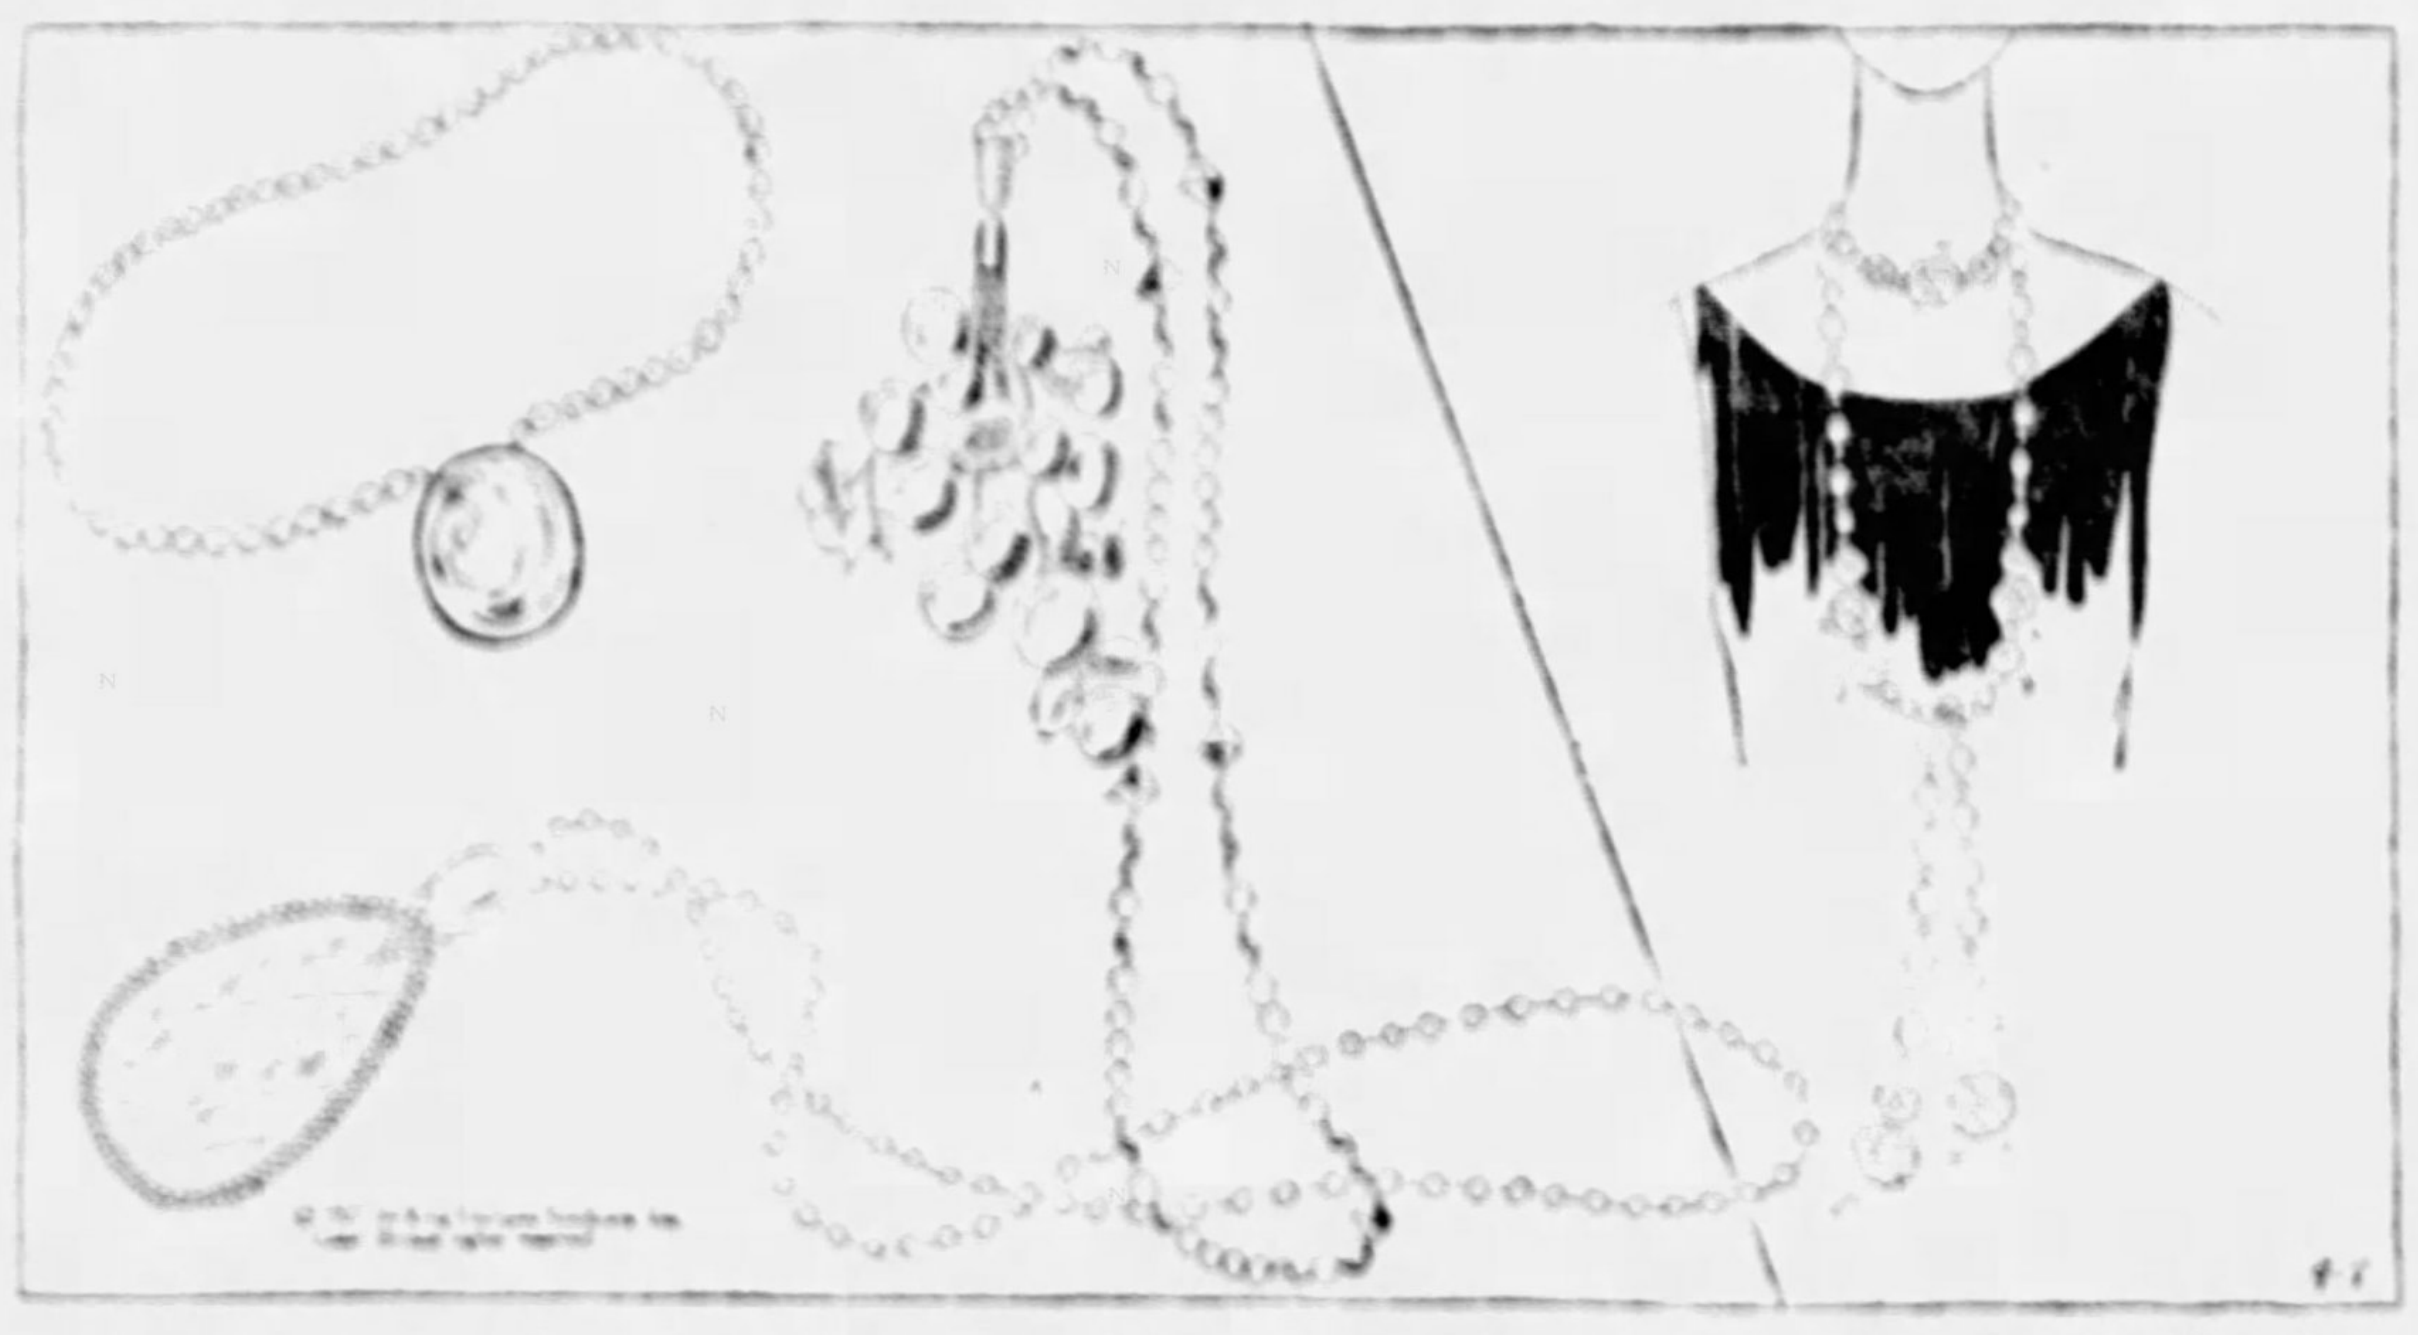
The reason, as Cherie is saying to Aunt Em, that it's called "costume jewelry" is that any woman has enough of it these days to form a complete costume. Her own string of pearls is worn in the newest fashion, twisted twice about the neck. She holds a tassel necklace of pearls [illegible] onyx.



Here are more of the indispensable accessories to smart dress: in the upper left hand corner is a pearl choker with a large plaque of carved jade. Below is a string of seed pearls with a pendant plaque of rose crystal. The flower pendant is of rose crackle crystal with touches of green and silver hung on a chain to match. You'll understand that these are three good proofs that pendants and plaques are back in the mode again after an absence of several seasons. Around Cherie's throat, especially sketched for this occasion, you'll see what is called a lariat of pearls and brilliants—enough rope for Cherie.

LATEST FASHIONS

The barbaric is still popular in jewel fashions and this link necklace and bracelet show what has happened to the slave ornaments of other years. The links lie flat and are so satisfyingly heavy that Cherie manages to look excessively fragile and feminine every time she puts them on—which is often.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

IT'S EASY TO LOVE YOUR ENEMIES

There ought to be a 'Flatterer's Union!'

* * *

Won't somebody found a Y. A. R. (You're All Right!) Club? All critics, cynics, egotists and pessimists to be barred. Positively none but Pleasant People admitted!

HELEN ROWLAND

Most of us are frazzled to shreds these frank days, just from hearing the honest truth about ourselves from our dear, dear friends!

* * *

THEY, at least, are never rude enough to inform you that your "bob" is all wrong, your hats too youthful, your skirts too short, and your ways too skittish for your years.

* * *

Personally, I prefer a nice, courteous, well-bred enemy around the house to a frank, helpful friend, any day. At least, you know that your enemy will stab you in the back. But you never know whether your "honest friend" is going to wound you in the face or the heart, or the vanity or the dignity. You are always unprepared for the blow, and it goes deep—and HURTS.

* * *

Why does "friendship" so often resolve itself into the mere privilege of being critical and mutually disagreeable, I wonder? The critic-on-the-hearth is a terrible thorn in the side—if you don't mind how you mix your metaphors!

* * *

The world appears to be getting fuller and fuller of these self-elected reformers—people who go about looking at everybody and everything through the blue glasses of cynicism, instead of through rose-colored spectacles.

As far as they are concerned, whatever IS, is wrong, whether it's your clock or your husband, or your moral standards or your politics, or your cook or your taste in fiction. And they can always tell you just how to "improve" yourself!

* * *

Whether they do it from a noble, friendly motive or merely in order to appear clever and original and "superior;" or whether they fancy that by throwing everybody and everything into the shadow of disapproval, they can stand out in a strong white light of contrasting perfection, it's awfully wearisome!

After a while it becomes a habit, a passion, an obsession with them. And then, they wonder why they are lonely and unpopular and unappreciated. They simply can't understand why you don't enjoy receiving little stabs in your vanity and pin-pricks in your self-esteem; and why you don't admire and love them for their frankness and perspicacity!

* * *

But as for me, I'm sore all over from being "reformed" and "informed!" I'm looking for a nice, pleasant, deceitful Ananias, who will tell me that I'm PERFECTION—and let it go at that!

Broiled Ham

Have slices of ham cut rather thin for broiling and when done butter them on a hot dish and garnish with cold boiled potatoes that have been sliced and broiled. Cut moulded cornmeal mush in thick slices and fry in hot fat, drain and serve with butter and honey. Precede this breakfast with a good melon and a cold cereal.

The Popular Blue

Named after Napoleon, the most popular blue of the fall season has quite a military air. It vies with maroon red, which is quite coppery in tone, and with a deep, rich green in bringing a sprightly charm to appropriate costumes for autumn days.

What's the Answer?

1. Why does frost kill a plant?
2. What is the new source of mineral wealth recently discovered in Palestine?
3. Who was the first Christian martyr?
4. By whom was Christian Science founded?
5. What was the name of the husband that Helen deserted for Paris?
6. Is Egypt north or south of the Equator?
7. What are the commonest living creatures?
8. What is the difference between the civil day and the astronomical day?
9. What causes an eclipse of the sun?
10. What snake is the largest in the world?

1. The "good gray poet" was Walt Whitman, the American poet.
2. Gen. Francesco Serrano, Gen. Arnulfo Gomez and former President Alvaro Obregon are actively campaigning for the Mexican presidential election to be held next year.
3. Nearly all plants are green because they contain a green substance called chlorophyll, which has the power of taking water and carbon dioxide gas out of the air and combining them to make sugars, on which the plants feed.
4. Yawning is catching because we all have a strong tendency to imitate what we see others doing. It is easy to imitate a yawn, and that is why yawning is catching.
5. The term "grass widow" is a corruption of the original term "grace widow," that is, a widow by grace or courtesy, not in fact, in other words, a divorcee.
6. Food molds because microscopic plants, each composed of a single living cell, grow on the food. They form the mold.
7. Myron T. Herrick is the present United States Ambassador to France.
8. "Habeas Corpus" is the Latin for "You are to have the body." It is a writ of right, by virtue of which every citizen can, when imprisoned, demand to be put on trial.
9. The boll weevil is an insect which lays its eggs in the bud of the cotton plant. The larvae produced by these eggs eat the bud and prevent the production of cotton fiber.
10. The hall-mark is the official stamp of the Goldsmith Company in England, affixed to articles of gold and silver to attest their purity. Hence, in current usage, "to bear the hall-mark" is to be above suspicion.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

PRESENT DAY GARB PROMOTES HEALTH

CHICAGO has a progressive health department. The young commissioner deserves credit for his good sense and timely suggestions.

DR COPELAND

In the midst of a torrid spell, he advised young women, as follows:

"Shock 'em, if they will be shocked, but by all means keep cool and wear as few clothes as possible."

Dr. Bundesen will agree with me that he didn't need to give this particular bit of advice. The young women—God bless them!—will wear what they please, anyhow.

But the commissioner had in mind another class—the persons who do not dress sensibly. This does not mean older women either—it applies to us old fogey men. It applies to all persons, men and woman, who do not dress according to the weather.

Frankly, I sincerely hope women will never go back to long skirts, woolen stockings, battleship corset, heavy underwear, bustles and other abominations of my youth. The Victorian woman has gone forever, I devoutly pray.

After a while the conventional dress of mere man will be modified. He will be able to discard the vest and half the overloaded pockets of coat and trousers.

Lindbergh flew to Paris with less equipment than a business man wears to his office every morning.

Clothing serves a double purpose. It is worn for modesty's sake and to protect the body against the weather.

Convention and habit define modesty. We are shocked by the unaccustomed thing. What is "proper" in one generation is considered wrong by another. As I see it, a clean minded person is clean minded regardless of his own dress or that of other people!

But for health's sake we must commend the present styles. I fully agree with Dr. Bundesen. A wealth of clothing is an attack on health. The minimum of dress should be the rule in all seasons.

It is not alone in the summer time that some of us dress too warmly. The heavy garments and especially the outer garments are usually too hot for our highest welfare. My idea is to have the everyday clothing just heavy enough for indoor comfort and then, in cold weather, to put on outer garments heavy enough to guard against the frost.

In summer and fall, the outdoors dress should be thin and light enough to permit freedom of muscular effort and to avoid excessive perspiration. This manner of dressing will promote comfort and health.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

H. E. M.—Q: I am troubled with itching toes. What is the cause and remedy?

A: This condition is generally due to eczema. Your diet should be corrected. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

R. L. B.—Q: What can be done for pains in the left arm and hand—they are so severe as to cause me to waken at 3 or 4 in the morning—have been using hot water applications and rubbing with chloroform liniment without results? The pain is steady and the fingers feel numb, with a feeling of electricity through them. 2: What can be done for watering eyes?

A: Probably due to neuralgia or neuritis. Be sure there is no infection which may be responsible for the symptoms. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. 2: The eyes may be weak or there may be a possible tear duct condition. Examination will determine the necessary treatment.

H. S. T.—Q: Will yeast clear up pimples and for what purpose is it generally taken? 2—Is it harmful to eat dried fruits such as prunes, pears, peaches and apricots without first cooking them?

A: It may. Yeast is usually taken as a blood purifier and cleanser. If the diet is watched and the system kept clear there should be no blemishes on the skin. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. 2—Not if thoroughly washed, it is, however, preferable to cook dried fruits.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Saturday, September 10

This is rather an unfavorable day in planetary government, according to astrology. Restlessness and uncertainty may be dominant in many persons.

Today is a good time to systematize one's business and domestic affairs, so that next week may be started well.

Business of a routine nature is fairly well directed, but all forms of speculation should be avoided.

Industry is subject to first rate conditions, making for general employment.

Late warm weather may be expected in many parts of the country, for unusual climatic freaks of every sort are foretold.

Florida now comes under a fortunate rule, making for steady increase of population.

Americans are warned of an aspect that encourages imitation and repetition in large as well as small things.

Aviation continues under a lucky sway, but there is an indication of much loss of life among those who travel in the air.

Increase of the birth rate appears to be probable in 1928, which is to bring many startling events in world history.

With the winter will come sensational studies of national characteristics and revelations regarding physical changes in the people, the seers prophesy.

Again efforts will be made to encourage a sharper demarcation between the sexes and to discourage whatever indicates deterioration in masculine strength.

Crime will continue to flourish, astrologers foretell, and they warn of many forgeries and much counterfeiting.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a fairly good year in which they will prepare for future prosperity.

Children born on this day may be more talented than the average, but not able to push themselves successfully.

Boost, Brothers, Boost, For the Pirates to Win the Pennant—A SPORTORIAL

By HARRY KECK, SPORTS EDITOR

BOOST, brothers, boost!

If you are going to do any boosting for the Pirates to win the National League pennant and then the World Series, now's the time to do it.

As this is written the Corsairs have had their lead reduced to a margin of one-half game, and their traditional rivals, the New York Giants, who have come seemingly from nowhere to challenge their superiority, are knocking at the door. It's a blanket finish all the way 'round, with the Cardinals and Cubs also still in the fight. It's a case of the survival of the fittest.

At such a time moral support is a big factor. It may mean the difference between victory and defeat.

Why shouldn't every man, woman and child who is proud to make Pittsburgh and environs his or her home want to see the Pirates win the pennant?

Why shouldn't they have sufficient civic pride to want to see the highest honors in America's national pastime come to roost here, as was the case in 1925?

Why shouldn't the baseball fans want to see the Pirates win and thus insure the most valuable player prize for Paul Waner, who richly merits it and will be certain to be thus rewarded if the team comes through ahead in the pennant race?

There may be more important things in life than sports, but there is nothing more invigorating and health-giving than sports, even if one engages in them merely as a spectator on the sidelines. The mere thrill quickens the pulse and adds to the zest of living and the recreation afforded prepares us to tackle life's problems with renewed hope after we come away from the sports arenas.

There will be plenty of excitement in town if the Pirates cop again, with only one year's lapse between triumphs, and the World Series will make this city and New York, which will have the Yankees in the blue-ribbon classic, the world's sports and news capitals for more than a week while the titular games are being played. Visitors by the thousands will come here, business will be helped, things in general will be pepped up.

Isn't this prospect sufficient to stir the most jaded soul to a desire to do his bit to help bring about the ultimate triumph of the Corsairs?

The least any one of us can do in the crisis is to get behind the club NOW, before it's too late, and BOOST and ROOT and PULL for it to win. Let's forget our petty differences of the season to date, our mingled feelings over the Cuyler episode and other incidents, and throw away our hammers and buy horns and toot for the HOME BOYS to win out in one of the most nerve-racking pennant races in history.

Let our slogan be the first line of this sportorial, to wit—

PIRATE HEADS SCORE PITCHER SWAP

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

DROPPING the Piratical reins for a day when the open date in the schedule yesterday brought a pause in the National League pennant drive, Manager Donie Bush of the Pirates found time after the practice session at Forbes Field to do a little figuring on his club's chances for the flag.

Bush has done less talking about the pennant or the probable outcome of the fight from his viewpoint than the manager of any other contending team. He has been giving all his attention to winning or trying to win ball games from day to day, endeavoring to keep his players fighting and on their toes, and assuring them that the best means of winning the bunting was to shut it out of their thoughts and devote every effort to capturing the game of the day as if that single contest meant the championship.

"ONE game counts for as much as any other," said the bustling little pilot to his players, "and if we can win enough of them we'll be up there at the finish. So don't be fretting about pennants or the standing of the clubs. You can't do your best work in any ball game if your mind is not entirely on that game and on what you are doing. Forget about yesterday's game and don't think about tomorrow's. Go out and win today, and make that your goal every day in the season."

The fact that the Pirates are in first place at present, even though their margin of leadership is slim, shows how well they have responded to Bush's words through the campaign as a whole, barring an occasional slump. As a result, Donie is now very hopeful about the outcome.

"I think we are going to win, I honestly do," he said, when asked what he thought of Pittsburgh's chances in the race that has little more than three weeks to go. "I believe we have the best club in the league beyond a doubt, the schedule is in our favor, and the fact that our boys are in first place after numerous handicaps that would have wrecked an average team shows that they are the gamest bunch in the country. They have made a remarkable fight in the face of many disheartening happenings, and I have every confidence that they will keep up that remarkable fight to the finish.

"YES, I think we are going to win," continued the Pirate skipper. "I have just been figuring this schedule over, and after trying to make a reasonable allowance for all that is likely to be accomplished by all the contenders, I believe that our chances are best.

"Consider our own possibilities first. We have three games to play with Philadelphia, six with Boston, five with Brooklyn, four with New York, four with Chicago and three with Cincinnati, a total of 25. I think it is not unreasonable to figure that we have a good chance to win two out of three from Philadelphia, four out of six from Boston, three out of five from Brooklyn, two out of four from New York, two out of four from Chicago, and two out of three from Cincinnati.

"That means winning 15 and losing 10, or a percentage of .600, a little higher than our mark for the season, but altogether reasonably possible. It would make our record for the season 91 games won and 63 lost. On an average 90 victories are sufficient to win a pennant.

"NOW take New York. The Giants have four games to play with Chicago, seven with St. Louis, five with Cincinnati, four with Pittsburgh, four with Philadelphia, and two with Boston. Even if they win two out of four from Chicago, four out of seven from St. Louis, three out of five from Cincinnati, two out of four from us and five out of six from Philadelphia and Brooklyn, they will not be able to beat us out, but can tie us, as that showing of 16 wins out of 26 games, which calls for .616 ball the remainder of the season, would give them only 91 won and 63 lost for the season.

"If we should win one game more than I have figured as a reasonable expectation, or if New York should lose one more than I have conjectured, Pittsburgh would win out by a full game.

"AS FOR St. Louis and Cincinnati, if we win 15 out of 25, as I believe we have a good chance to do, St. Louis will have to win 19 out of 26, or in other words must play .731 ball to beat us, and Chicago will have to win 16 out of 21, or .762 ball, to finish ahead of us.

"It is hard to see how any of those clubs can accomplish anything of the sort. I realize that baseball is full of hidden dangers and that much may happen in three weeks to make or break a club, but I repeat that I think we are going to win."

Net Cup Crisis Today

U. S. BANKS ON TILDEN, HUNTER IN DOUBLES

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service Sports Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—The key match of the entire Davis cup challenge round was scheduled for this afternoon with the meeting of the American and French teams, it being generally understood that the team that won this match would be the team that won the cup. As matters stood at the end of yesterday's singles, France had one match and America another, but it was generally figured that another skirmish in the singles would see the invaders getting slightly the better of it, and that therefore everything devolved upon the doubles.

It was the doubles that we had to consider today. The teams were to be William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter vs. Jacques Brugnon and Jean Borotra. These were to be the teams and yet a half baked tennis critic might be pardoned if he interspersed a protest. The best French team to date has been composed of Cochet and Brugnon. But Cochet is to play the singles and therefore it seems to be demanded that a man of Borotra's ability must be recognized somewhere and some time.

BOROTRA GREAT PLAYER

Men like Howard Kinsey and Vincent Richards assure me that Borotra is the greatest doubles player in existence. If that be even half the case, then we may look for the worst today.

However, we prefer to look for the best. The best might include a victory for Tilden and Hunter, the young men who have done everything asked of them, including the winning of the Wimbledon championship. One can't go behind facts any more than one may go behind the nape of his neck, yet we have facts to substantiate the fact that Tilden and Hunter have won all of their matches this year and that Tilden and Johnston have played together not at all. Therefore when the committee nominated Tilden and Johnston for the doubles, everybody was pleased to fear the worst. It required Johnston's pitiable performance against LaCoste in the singles to cement this impression. The committee lost no time in reversing itself and naming Tilden and Hunter as its team.

Tilden and Hunter!

That means that Tilden has picked himself a partner who will play only off the forehand. Tilden and Hunter'

KAUFFMANN GAINS 5 UP LEAD ON GRAHAM

BULLETIN.

Carl Kauffmann was 6 up on Robert Graham at the end of 22 holes in their scheduled 36-hole final round match in the city title golf tourney at Schenley Park today. Kauffmann, 5 up at the finish of the morning round, added another hole to his advantage by scoring a birdie 3 at the nineteenth.

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

Scoring a brilliant 67, one over par, Carl F. Kauffmann, national public links champion, gained a commanding lead of 5 up over Robert Graham, medalist, in the first 18 holes of their 36-hole final match for the city golf championship at Schenley Park today.

Graham, shooting a 35 as compared with Kauffmann's 34 going out, permitted the national king to gain a lead of only 1 up on the first nine. His driver failed him on the incoming nine, however, and, scoring a 38 against Carl's even-with-par 33, he permitted his famous opponent to pile up a lead so commanding that his afternoon round fight appears almost hopeless.

Kauffmann was playing almost perfectly with all clubs today, as his score attests. He scored three birdies and each bird brought him a win where par would have won him only a halve. The morning round cards:

Yanks Need Five Wins To Clinch Flag

By Associated Press.

The New York Yankees need only five more victories to clinch the American League championship. Celebrating Lazzeri Day yesterday, the Hugmen scored their nineteenth successive win over the St. Louis Browns, the score being 2-1. Lazzeri struck out in the first inning with the bases loaded and fanned again in the third, but his sacrifice fly in the fifth scored Ruth with the winning run.

Sad Sam Jones pitched tight ball, holding the Yanks to four hits. He passed Ruth three times and fanned Gehrig twice. Waite Hoyt was in still better form, however, and let the Brownies down to three hits, one a home run by Ken Williams.

Lefty Grove pitched and batted the Mackmen to a 9-1 win over Detroit. Grove fanned eight and contributed a home run, a single and a sacrifice fly, accounting for three runs. Philadelphia nicked Stoner and Holloway for nine safeties.

The Boston Red Sox outslugged Cleveland for a 10-8 decision. Timely hitting by Rothrock and Rogell accounted for the defeat of the Indians.

WHITE SOX TOP NATS

The Chicago White Sox began their eastern invasion with a 4-3 victory over Washington. The Sox scored enough runs in two innings off their former teammate, Hollis Thurston. They were held scoreless after the third inning.

Hitting four St. Louis pitchers for 16 hits, the Chicago Cubs climbed back into third place in the National League race. Joe McCarthy's club started its scoring in the second inning and blasted Sherdel and H. Bell out of the box in the sixth. Charlie Root kept his hits scattered and chalked up his twenty-fifth win of the season, the score being 11-7. Yesterday's victory gave the Bruins an even break in the series.

Hack Wilson pounded out two triples and Schuble, the Cardinals' rookie shortstop, knocked a home run with one man on in the fifth.

Only one game was scheduled in the National League. The New York Giants were scheduled to open up their important series with the Chicagoans today.

PENN TO BATTLE CALIFORNIA

By Universal Service.

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 9.—The University of Pennsylvania and the University of California will play a post-season game in the California Memorial Stadium, Saturday, December 31, it was announced here yesterday by W. W. Monohan, general manager of the associated students of the University of California.

At the game a memorial bench to the memory of Andrew L. Smith, great coach of California and alumnus and player at Pennsylvania, will be dedicated on the playing field of the California stadium.

MID-ATLANTIC SERIES OPENS

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 9.—The Cumberland Colts, first-half champions in the Middle Atlantic League, are hosts to the Johnstown Johnnies, second-half pennant winners, in the opener of the league's 1927 championship series here today. The second game of the titular series is to be played at Johnstown tomorrow afternoon, with a return engagement here Sunday.

SKIBO GRIDDERS ADVANCED

So far as the physical condition of the players is concerned, the Carnegie Tech football squad, in training at Skibo Bowl, Woodlawn avenue, is further advanced than it has been at approximately the same stage of the preliminary routine for many years, Coaches Walter P. Steffen and Bob Waddell declared this morning as they began another day's grind. Injuries to the regulars have been few and generally minor in extent, the result being that the Tartans have been able to keep closely to their schedule.

WAIVERS ASKED AFTER DEAL

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

THE Bob McGraw-Tony Kaufmann "deal" whereby McGraw is ordered to leave the Cardinals to join the Phillies, with Kaufmann, ex-Cub and "retired" Philly transferred to the flag-contenders of St. Louis, may be held up, according to late developments.

That the transaction is illegal in view of the major league rules of procedure which provide that no trades may be made after June 15 of each year, is believed in many quarters. At the office of the Pittsburgh club this morning it was announced that the Pittsburgh management did not receive a request for waivers on one of the players until after the "deal" had been made public. This would indicate irregularities.

Branch Rickey's fine Italian hand may be seen in the transaction. The St. Louis official has a rather cunning way of proceeding, and it is known that the Redbird officials are very keen to keep the National League pennant in St. Louis. The money that came the way of a club that had seen much poverty whetted the appetites of all those concerned financially.

Tony Kaufmann ought to be one of the best pitchers in the league; he is young, has lots of stuff and probably would win for the Cardinals. On the other hand, Bob McGraw has not been able to win for the Cardinals. McGraw was traded to the Redbirds by the Dodgers before the June 15 time limit on deals had arrived.

Kaufmann is alleged to have reported to Manager Stuffy McInnis, of the Phillies, with a sore arm. The Quaker owners protested the deal between the Phillies and Cubs, which also involved Jimmy Cooney and Hal Carlson. Baker and McInnis contended they were "gyped" by the Wrigley interests in that Kaufmann was unable to give his best services when he reached the Quakers. Judge Landis took the case and decided in favor of the Cubs.

In the present controversy Landis may find some traces of collusion. Moreover, McGraw says he will appeal to Landis before he will consent to join the Phillies.

PIRATES

farmhands the roster of the team is doubly fortified. Walter Tauscher, leading pitcher of the Columbia club of the South Atlantic League, is the latest recruit to hook up with the Buccos. Tauscher is about the size of Carmen Hill and he knows what it is all about. There is a strong likelihood that he will get a chance to show in case any relief men are needed.

M'GRAW DISSENTS

The Quaker slab staff appears to be in need of reinforcements, despite the deal which is supposed to bring Bob McGraw, of the Cardinals, to Philadelphia in return for Tony Kaufmann, erstwhile Cub, who has been out of action for several weeks.

The deal is a questionable transaction and McGraw may force a showdown in the matter by refusing to leave a flag contender for the Quakers at this late date. The waiver rule was used as a lever for the swap, it being illegal to make trades after June 15.

Those [illegible] ing co[illegible] boys, with [illegible] shoulders, st[illegible] dy limbs, [illegible] having a great time going through their paces under the kindly and watchful eye of Dr. Jock Sutherland, the coach.

Under [illegible] auspices, perhaps, the routine of two strenuous [illegible] sessions a day might grow tiresome, but with Sutherland in charge to guide, [illegible] and correct, the Panthers [illegible] every minute of the [illegible] in camp.

THE Pitt coach continues to be one of the [illegible]. He understands [illegible] material with which he works [illegible] football season. Keen as anyone for success, Jock never forgets that these are boys in the game mainly for fun, and his conception of football is seen plainly in the way he sends his boys through their paces.

TALL, upstanding Jock watches his men go through the routine, his commanding voice softened to the proper point by a faint Scotch burr. He manages to blend in the Pitt camp the proper touch of authority tinged with the right degree of familiarity, friendliness. That is why some boys are ready to outdo themselves under the skillful handling of Sutherland.

SUTHERLAND is being helped by a corps that will bring fine results from a good-looking squad. Charley Bowser, Skip Gougler and Aleck Stevenson are the assistants who help Sutherland in making the boys physically ready for the tough battles ahead and who groom them in basic fundamentals they must acquire to acquit themselves well on the football field of honor.

IN SUTHERLAND you get the impression he is as much the professor of manhood as he is the coach of football. On the professional side he expounds no theories, but his manner and decorum rather convey his sane and calm outlook on the football life. There is just the right kind of twinkle to take away any sign that this football is a grim, serious and dreadful business.

MORE than 50 boys, freshmen and varsity, are at Camp Hamilton now working faithfully for those days when the cheering crowds will sing out for them at the Pitt Stadium this season. Morning and afternoon, puffing and sweating, they work at the charging machine, the tackling dummy, go through setting up exercises, growing harder every day. Scrimmage is on tap now and the work becomes even more interesting.

SUTHERLAND, as he has been quoted before, is well-satisfied with the outlook. He is hopeful for a successful campaign. He has an experienced club to work with. (Experience in football counts possibly more heavily than it does in other sports). Certain geniuses of football, like a Welch, step in right away to make good, but the majority of boys reach their greatest football stature only in their last year when they can see more plainly the mistakes of their football youth.

SOME of the boys, Dr. Sutherland sadly reports, are eating too much, and must work off a little weight, as a result, but Jock does not blame this on the boys so much as he blames it on a gent named Alex Williams. Mr. Williams is an artist, they say, who took up cooking. Just one whiff from his kitchen 15 minutes before eating time and the boys always faint away from hunger. Once planted at the table they have to be dragged away. At last Jock set a time limit, ordering that under no circumstances would any boy be allowed to eat more than an hour and a half. If some could not wind up a meal in that time a halter was to be put on them and they were to be led out to munch a little grass until they got their fill. Jock blames all this on Alex Williams and his cooking.

THE Panthers this year are to be caparisoned in a vivid gold and blue sweater, and a white headgear. When you see them dashing gallantly onto the field for the first time you will be struck with the dazzling color scheme. [illegible] looking at them the opposition is going to either kiss them or fight them. In either event, however, the Panthers will fight back.

KARL DAVIS, inventor of the secret ticket committee back in the days when one needed a congressman to help purchase a Pitt football ticket, and who now resents Mr. Rickard's stealing the idea, is the most enthusiastic man in the camp about this year's team. He has visions of a campaign which will make us all forget any Pitt Waterloos but will cause us to remember the Panthers as they were at Austerlitz, at Jena, and on the march up the Albian heights. In other words, Mr. Davis looks for this year to see a great rejuvenation of that Pitt epoch wherein the best in the country looked none too strong against the Panthers.

YANKEES BUY HURLER

ST. PAUL, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Al Shealy, young righthanded pitcher, has been sold by the St. Paul American Association club to the New York Americans for an unannounced cash consideration and players. Shealy, who came here this season from the Kinston club of the Virginia League, has won 15 and lost 15 games.

Other Clubs To Compete

BY HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

AFTER a lapse of months in real boxing activity in the Pittsburgh district, the game is about to enjoy one of its biggest booms here.

Announcement was made today that Motor Square Garden would reopen its doors for the mitt sport on the night of October 3 and would stage a big fight the following week if the Pirates are involved in the World Series at the time.

The McKeesport club will reopen next Thursday night with a double windup card. Jules Beck, Duquesne's [illegible] promoter, is casting about for an [illegible] and the Keystone Club [illegible] to resume [illegible] in the South Side Market House, which has been [illegible] for several seasons with the exception of the recent show held there for the benefit of [illegible] Winder.

Meanwhile the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Allegheny county have taken a show for Duquesne Garden the night of September 23, one day after the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Chicago. Homer Robertson, former local Negro middleweight, who now hails from Boston, will meet Chief [illegible], an Indian of Indianapolis, in the 10-round main bout.

DOUBLE WINDUP CARDED

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, will box Harry Taylor of the North Side in the 10-round main event at McKeesport next week, while Ray Shafer of Garfield will oppose Ian Jordan, Johnstown Negro middleweight, who received a decision over him at Johnstown recently, in the other 10-rounder.

Two light-heavyweights from the East will figure in the main bout of the Motor Square opener if negotiations are concluded. Their names will not be revealed until their signed contracts are received.

Other bouts on the vets' card at Duquesne Garden are: Young Rudy vs. Teddy Welch, Stanley Simmons vs. Charley Tarzan, and Joe Orsini vs. Monte Sirko. All are six-rounders except the Tarzan-Simmons affair, which is booked for eight rounds.

An amateur boxing show will be staged at the Carnegie Steel playgrounds, Etna, next Tuesday evening.

TOMORROW will find Western Pennsylvania prying off the lid for the season in soccer football circles, and followers of the game are awaiting with keen zest the fortunes that another season will bring to the Steel City.

The interest in soccer is fast becoming nationwide and the 45,000 crowd that watched the Hakoah play at the stadium in New York City last season will probably be duplicated many times this season. The American Soccer League down east is playing to wonderful crowds and with plenty of international games scheduled, it is very evident that soccer is in for a banner year.

Three leagues will swing into action in Saturday and Sunday tilts. To the old district league goes the honor of starting the fall rolling. Four games are scheduled and all of them look more than interesting.

The national amateur champions from Heidelberg will play the part of lookers-on this week. The green and gold cracks are the odd club in the American Soccer League. But this will give the club officials a chance to look at the class of the other outfits.

The writer will have an opportunity to take a peek at the German Sport club's new grounds this week-end when the Pittsburgh Internationals meet the [illegible] club in the season's opener. Quite a go-ahead bunch that gang from up Troy Hill.

AUTO RACE TOMORROW CLOSES FAIR AT DAWSON

DAWSON, Pa., Sept. 9.—An all-star field, unquestionably one of the greatest that ever participated in a race in this district, will start in the 100-mile race which will be staged here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock as the concluding feature of the annual Dawson fair.

Speed fans of the district are still talking about the sensational race of one year ago which was won by Curley Grandel of Canton, O., one of the most spectacular drivers that ever sat behind a wheel.

GRID TEAMS MAY FORM INDEPENDENT CIRCUIT

Plans for the organization of an independent football circuit got under way last night when several of the leading elevens operating in this district held a meeting. Considerable enthusiasm was shown by the rival managers and indications are that Pittsburgh will have a strong independent football organization this fall.

Senators Out of Race

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—The Washington Senators are mathematically out of the American League pennant race. As a result of yesterday's loss to the White Sox the Senators, who now stand fourth in the league, could not displace the New York Yankees from first place even if the Yankees should lose all their remaining 20 games.

TEX TO PAY RENT IN ADVANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—With the broadcasting controversy satisfactorily settled, officials of the South Park board were ready to sign up today to grant Tex Rickard and George Getz the use of Soldier Field for the Tunney-Dempsey battle on September 22, and collect the $100,000 rental in advance.

Rickard's contract with the national broadcasting chain, giving it exclusive radio privileges, was modified at the insistence of the park board to allow Chicago newspaper radio stations to broadcast locally, and thus the last hitch in the stadium arrangements was smoothed out.

As soon as the papers are signed and the money handed over, Rickard's engineers will start work building the long incline leading from the ring to the open north end of the horseshoe. The last rows on this incline will be the bulk of the $5 seats, while the ones down front will come under the $10 classification.

Besides this long bleacher section, 10,000—some say 15,000—ringside seats at $40 each are to be built around the ring, just outside the four rows for the working press.

The construction work, it is estimated, will cut into Rickard's estimated $3,000,000 gate to the extent of $100,000.

POLOISTS AWAIT FIRST MATCH

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Four horsemen of American polo will ride out on the historic Meadowbrook turf tomorrow to defend the international cup against the strongest British challenge since 1914. That was the year of England's last triumph in this classic of sport, and the Army-in-India team mustered this year is considered to have a strong chance of repeating the victory.

The American big four, the same quartet that repulsed the British team in 1924 and including three veterans of the 1921 victory that brought the cup back to this country, will be favorites, chiefly for the reason that they are the champions. On form, there has been little to choose between the rival teams in practice, in which American individual brilliancy has been compared with superior British teamwork.

American hopes are built chiefly around the dashing figure of 27-year-old Tommy Hitchcock, brilliant No. 2, and the defensive as well as generalship genius of 46-year-old Devereux Milburn, playing in his seventh international cup series. Hitchcock's health has been a matter of concern, but Tommy's performances in practice lately has dissipated any alarm over his form.

Three of the British regulars, Capt. Claude Pert, Maj. Austin Williams and Maj. Eric Atkinson, have played most of their polo on Indian fields. They have figured in numerous championship triumphs. The fourth, Capt. C. T. I. Roark, has starred principally on English and American fields in the past few years. Rated at nine goals, Capt. Roark, an Irishman, is perhaps the most brilliant member of the team. Playing at No. 3, he will be opposite Hitchcock in the championship series.

"One Good Turn Deserves Another"

IT'S your turn now, because every turn of this new Fall Turn Style in all our windows, in all our stores, in every city in U. S. A. presents for your selection a thousand new Styles for Fall in all the new Shapes and Shades.

Perhaps the most noticeable of all the new designs we introduced this Fall is the "Piping Rock". It's a Double-Cut Edge at $5.00, which is now shown prominently by others at $10.00—and you can't tell the difference, in the window or on your head.

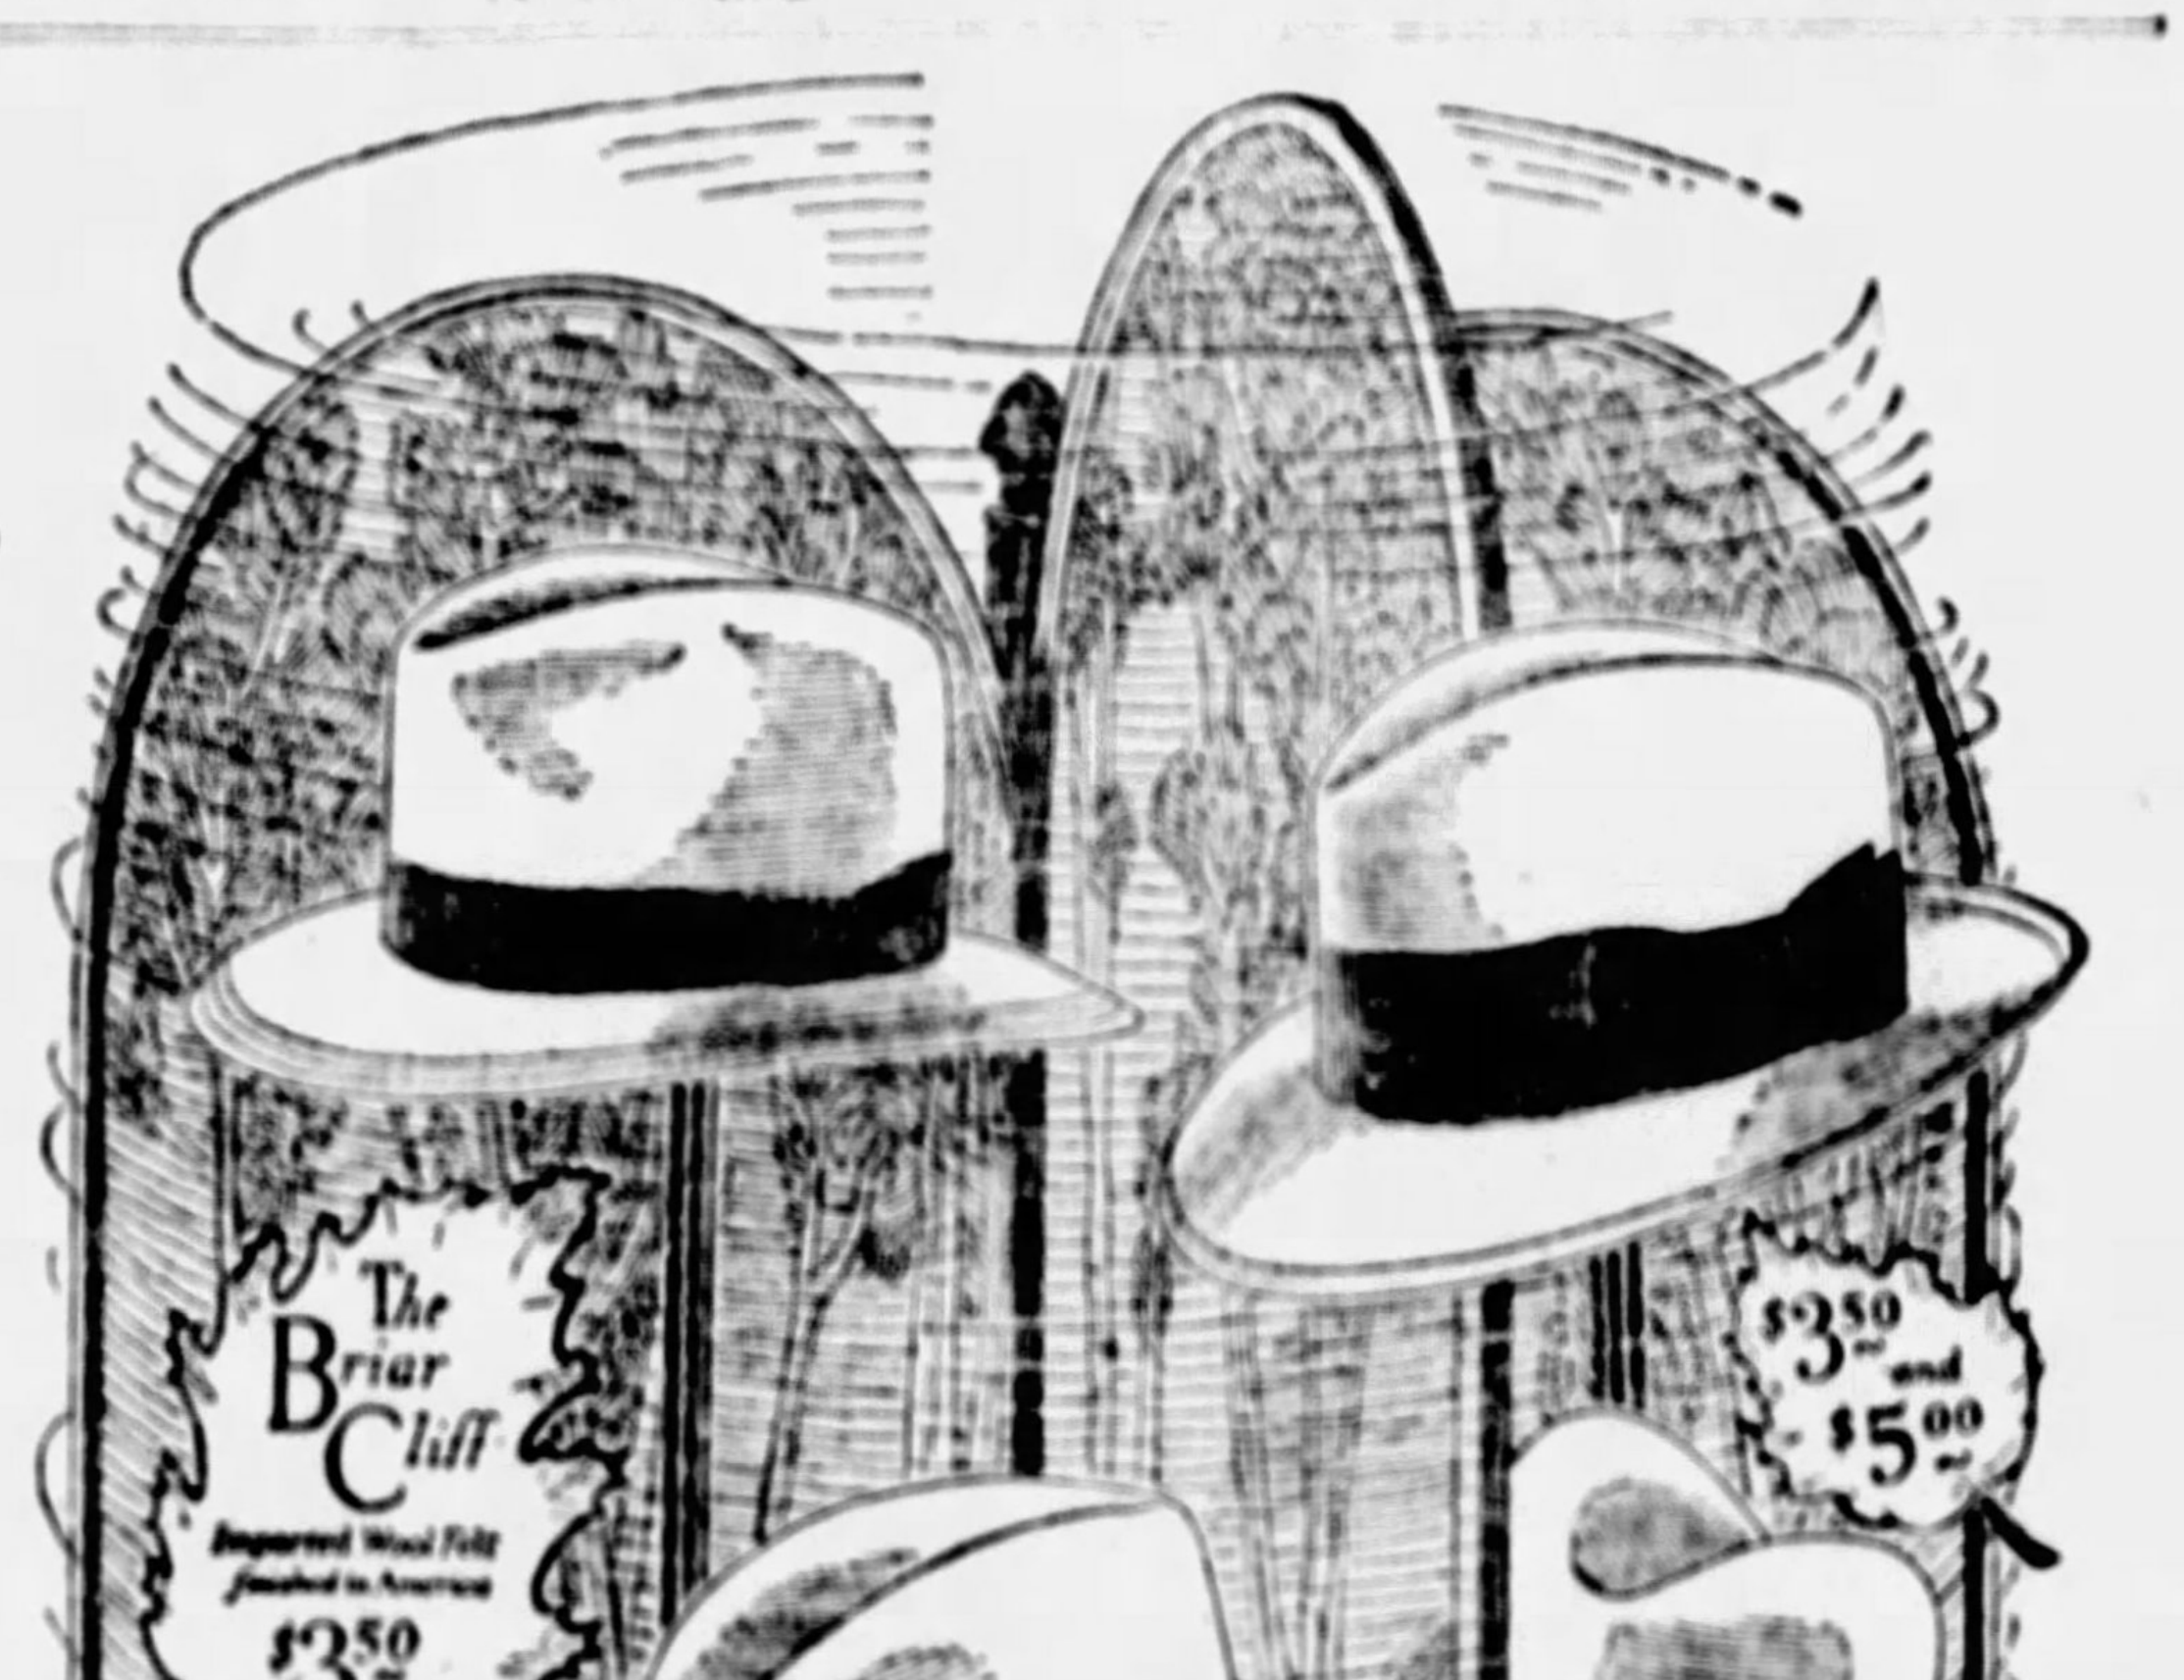
The "Briar Cliff" is another. It's an imported Wool Felt, finished by us in America. We have it at $3.50 in all the new woodland shades from a delicate Maplewood Tan to a bright Silver Birch.

And here's a thought to put under your hat. Light colors are going to be popular this Fall but it's not necessary to pay a heavy price for a light color. Dust and dirt will spoil the complexion of a light color regardless of price, and the Weather Man doesn't care whether you pay $3.50 or $13.50.

In our imported Wool Felt we reproduce for $3.50 any color shown by any hat manufacturer AT ANY PRICE.

We cannot reproduce our beautiful new Fall Colors in black ink, and we can't show our Turn-Style in motion in this newspaper.

But if you'll come into our stores we will be glad to show you all the Colors in all Styles, with Brims that snap down, Brims that lay flat and Brims that turn up. Welt edges, raw edges and a variety of silk-bound, satin-lined hats for three-fifty and five.



$3.50 $5.00

WILKINSBURG ELEVEN LOSES WAKEMAN

WITH many high schools in the W. P. I. A. L. taking advantage of the week's preliminary training allotted for football, it appears that the scholastic grid season has arrived. The "arrival," so to speak, was marked yesterday by the first serious injury. Tony Wakeman, one of the most dependable tackles on the Wilkinsburg squad, who played only little last year due to a knee injury early in the season, again is indefinitely out.

Coach Elmer Carroll put his lads through their first scrimmage session yesterday, and it was in this tussle that Wakeman hurt his tender knee for a second time. It is possible, however, that Tony will be able to get back in the grind before the month has passed.

The usual weeding out process may be found at virtually any of the schools today—large squads are being cut to a minimum slowly but surely. Few schools are worrying about having enough men on their squad, although it might be said that some are rather pessimistic over poor material they will be forced to use.

Coach Hank Day is priming his championship Washington High eleven. With veteran material on hand and a good, big, heavy squad to mold his team from, Day is rather optimistic. He hopes to cop the bunting again, although the outlook for the W. P. I. A. L. grid season forecasts a close race from start to finish.

DUQUESNE HIGH OPEN

Duquesne High School is anxious to book a pair of games left open due to unfortunate cancellations, according to P. C. Gillespie, principal. Duquesne would like to book a home game and one abroad, for October 7 and 14.

BILLY PETROLLE IS STOPPED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Billy Wallace, Cleveland's contender for the lightweight crown, stopped Al Gordon, Quaker City southpaw, in the third round at the Phillies' park here last night. Twenty thousand fistic fiends saw the Ohioan finish Gordon in a fight that suddenly became dramatic after two rather quiet rounds. Wallace sent Gordon staggering into the ropes with a piledriving right, the ropes holding Al on his feet as Wallace rained lefts and rights. When Referee Grimson pried the battlers apart Gordon fell, but regained his feet. In another sortie, Wallace again sent Gordon reeling to the ropes. Again the ropes saved Al, preventing him from falling. His arms dropped and he was apparently helpless and the referee called a halt.

Tommy Herman, 126, of this city, scored a technical knockout over Billy Petrolle, 132¾, of Fargo, N. D., in the seventh round. Dr. Barton, the physician of the athletic commission, refused to allow Petrolle to continue after he had suffered a deep gash over his left eye. The fighting had been virtually even.

Matt Adgie, 171, of this city, won the referee's decision over Battling Levinsky, 186¾, former light-heavyweight champion, in 10 rounds. The battler showed some of his old-time cleverness, tying Adgie into knots at close quarters. Matt was shooting for a kayo, but seldom landed. Jack Gross, 196¼, of Salem, N. J., knocked out Romero Rojas, 194, of Chili, in the first round. A terrific left hook to the stomach put the South American away after a minute and a half.

DUKE BACKFIELD STAR HURT

The Duke football squad was hit by its first serious injury yesterday when Earnest Rostelli, former Oakmont High School backfield star, broke a small bone in his leg during yesterday's torrid scrimmage session. The injury will keep him out of the lineup for at least six weeks. Several other lesser injuries have hit the Dukes. Henry Haber is laid up with a dislocated knee, and John Burns twisted his left ankle and has been out since Wednesday.

Layden was pleased with the work yesterday and let them off with a session at the black board today.

LOCAL GRID OFFICIALS PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

The Pittsburgh Chapter of the Eastern Intercollegiate Association of Football Officials, which has as its members Baird, Boisler, Blum, Cadigan, Crolius, Dougherty, Dowling, Egan, Merriman, McFarland, Rebele, Slack and Very, is holding weekly meetings discussing plans for the coming season. Applications for officials are being received by Dan B. Dougherty at 301 Perry street.

MOB FOLLOWS JACK TO COURT

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey knocked off training today to appear in court, where arguments were begun on a petition to restrain him from boxing Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship September 22.

An extra detail of deputy sheriffs was summoned hurriedly to control the crowd which quickly gathered when it became known that the former champion was going to make a personal appearance in the county building.

Dempsey smiled broadly during the arguments when Ralph Hosen, attorney for H. E. Clements, who seeks to halt the Soldier Field battle, explained that Dempsey could not be replaced after failing to complete a contract to box Harry Wills "because of the boxer's unique ability."

As Dempsey's automobile swept through the streets, the throngs recognized him and began cheering and following along. When the former champion got to the county building, 2,000 persons were in his wake.

In the courtroom, Dempsey occupied a chair in the unused jury box while Judge Otto Kerner pored over 46 pages of the appeal for an injunction and the courtroom full of men and women craned their necks to see him.

GENE TO REST AGAIN

LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney decided today that he would not box after all and would give his injured right eye at least another day to heal properly.

The respite marked the third day the heavyweight champion has rested since Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis lightweight, opened a cut in Gene's eyelid in a sparring session Tuesday. Tunney would not say when he planned to pull on the six-ounce training gloves again, although it appeared probable that workouts would be resumed tomorrow.

Having no worries over his physical condition, Gene is not disturbed by the break in training and scoffs at Jack Dempsey's intention of playing for the injured eye in their return battle at Soldier Field September 22.

"It's just a scratch and will heal in a week," the titleholder said today. "I could box again today if I wished, but with so much at stake I think it best to take no chances. There is always the possibility of another butt that would do serious damage. Dempsey will find my eye in shape to receive all the pounding he can give it."

The searching party that scoured Chicago under the leadership of Manager Billy Gibson seeking sparring partners came into camp with two new youngsters today. They were Jack Ruddy, a light-heavyweight, and Jackie Williams, a 180-pounder, credited with possessing a sterling punch in his right mitt. Both will be given tryouts when the training grind is resumed.

Tunney played 18 holes of golf as a training stunt yesterday. He was accompanied by Eddie Egan of Denver, a former captain of the Yale boxing team and Rhodes scholar. Road work was omitted for the day.

LOTT, CUP TEAM SUB, ILL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—George Lott, Chicago, alternate on the American Davis Cup tennis team and one of the most promising of the younger players, is confined to a hotel here with an attack of tonsilitis and an infected jawbone.

Lott, who is No. 9 in the tennis ranking, will not be able to play in the national singles championship at Forest Hills next week, the attending physician announced.

Lott's condition is not serious, but his illness at this time is a blow to his tennis hopes for this year.

From College Grid Camps

PENN STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 9.—With veterans of the last two seasons getting the call in most instances, the Penn State eleven is beginning to round into form under the strenuous daily scrimmage sessions directed by the coaching staff. Four teams, with occasional substitutions from the reserves, have been engaged in scrimmage to date, each eleven showing several likely possibilities for regular berths. Linemen in particular are veteran players, Coach Bezdek having nine men who have had considerable experience on the varsity last year and the year before seeing service in the forward wall.

WEST VIRGINIA

JACKSONS MILL, W. Va., Sept. 9.—Another casualty was added to the rapidly mounting list of the injured, when Beryl Straight, veteran varsity lineman, received a broken rib in the hard scrimmage which was part of the long workout through which Coach Rodgers put the West Virginia University football squad yesterday. Garrett, Robertson, Weber and Jackson are varsity candidates on the crippled list.

GROVE CITY

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 9.—The football squad at Grove City College, which is working out twice daily under Coach Charles Berry and Assistant Coach Ted Rosenberg, numbers 70 men. On the squad are 16 ends, 14 tackles, 12 guards, five centers, six quarterbacks, 12 halfbacks and five fullbacks. It is the largest squad that has ever reported for football at Grove City.

FORT PITT PLAYS TODAY

Fort Pitt will oppose the East Liberty Red Sox at Garfield Park at 6:30 this evening and will be host to the Edgar Thompson Community nine at Garfield Park on Sunday.

HELD WESTERN OPEN LEADER

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Overcast skies and low visibility made scoring somewhat precarious in the second round of the Western open golf championship at Olympia Fields today, but as the 200 remaining contestants were not allowed to await favorable weather reports like transoceanic aviators, they steered their course as best they could in the hazy atmosphere.

Eddie Held, St. Louis, liked the dull weather, for he scored a 69 on No. 1 course, three under par, making the best exhibition of the tournament thus far. He had to play some tactful golf on the final hole to get under 70. His drive was in a clump of trees on the 445-yard hole, and he had to pitch out far short of the green. His approach was across the carpet, leaving him a 40-foot putt for a birdie 4. The ball was just off the carpet, but a crisp blow sent it hurtling into the cup, giving him the lead of the field with 74-69—143.

Scores for today, with total for two days:

Midge Gladman Is Girls' National Tennis Champ

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(UP.)—Miss Marjorie (Midge) Gladman, of Santa Monica, Cal., won the girls' national tennis championship at the Philadelphia Cricket Club today by defeating Miss Sarah Palfrey, of Boston, 6-0, 6-3.

Miss Gladman and Josephine Cruickshank, also of California, won the girls' doubles championship by defeating Lee Palfrey, of Boston, and Clara Sinker, of Cincinnati, 6-2, 6-1.

In the semi-finals of the women's middlestates championships, Kea Bouman, of Holland, won from Alice Francis, of Orange, N. J., 6-1, 6-2, and Mrs. Molla Mallory, of New York, defeated Miss Eileen Bennett, England, 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Mrs. Mallery and Miss Bouman will play the final tomorrow.

Moore in St. Louis For Hearing in Hornsby Suit

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Frank L. Moore, Ft. Thomas (Ky.) betting commissioner, arrived today for preliminary hearing Monday on his suit against Rogers Hornsby, New York Giant captain and second baseman, to recover $70,075. Moore charges he advanced the money to Hornsby in connection with Hornsby's horse race betting activities last season while manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Moore said his attorneys would argue for an immediate trial of the case, while he expected Hornsby's attorney to seek to have the case set for a date after the close of the baseball season. The Giants play seven games here, September 13-14-15-16.

Moore said Hornsby's attorney had written a letter expressing hope the case could be settled out of court. Moore, however, said the case had gone so far he preferred to take his chances in court.

LEGION TRACK MEET CARDED TOMORROW

One of the best track and field meets of the season is slated for tomorrow afternoon at Edgar Thomson park, Braddock, under the auspices of Post No. 33 of the American Legion.

In addition to the track and field meet, the modified marathon race through the streets of Braddock and surrounding boroughs bids fair to be a great distance run, as some prominent speeders are entered.

The amateur wrestling match between Simon Brown of Edgar Thomson Steel, and Lex Neff, lightweights, promises to be very interesting. Brown is one of the best amateur grapplers in the country, and he proved his class in European matches the year of the last Olympiad.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New York—Paulino Uzcudun and Tom Heeney drew, 15 rounds; Harold Mays defeated Benny Touchstone, 10 rounds; George Manley defeated Paul Cavalier, 10 rounds; Jimmy Ross knocked out Tony Lyons, 3 rounds.

At Philadelphia—Billy Wallace knocked out Al Gordon, 3 rounds; Tommy (Kid) Herman won by technical knockout over Billy Petrolle, 7 rounds; Matt Adgie defeated Battling Levinsky, 10 rounds; Jack Gross knocked out Quintin Romero-Rojas, 1 round.

HEENEY BEATS PAULINO, BUT GETS ONLY DRAW

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(INS.)—Although Paulino Uzcudun, Basque heavyweight, was given a draw last night in his 15-round bout with Tom Heeney of New Zealand in Madison Square Garden, fistic experts were almost unanimous today in declaring that the decision should have been awarded to Heeney. Newspaper men agreed that Heeney won the greater number of rounds.

FAST BOUTS FEATURE SHOW AT WILKINSBURG

Fast bouts featured the annual boxing and wrestling show staged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Wilkinsburg last night. Joe Uhrin of the Homestead Library A. C. defeated Ray McConnell of Battery A, One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery, in the main bout.

George Evans of Swissvale defeated Joe Pace of the Westinghouse Club in the opener. Harold Peterson of Homestead Library defeated Joe Peterson of New Castle in three rounds and Fred Cline of Wilkinsburg defeated T. Capello of Swissvale in three rounds in the other bouts.

The wrestling bouts brought out Si Brown of Wilkinsburg, Olympic champion, and Lex Neff. Brown threw Neff with a reverse body hold in 4 minutes and 50 seconds. Billie Turner of Wilkinsburg, son of William Turner, Wilkinsburg councilman, won his match with Young Morgan of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. in six minutes.

GRAYS AT HOMEWOOD

The Homestead Grays play Homewood, an old rival, at the Homewood playgrounds this evening. The Grays are booked for doubleheaders at Beaver Falls tomorrow and at Akron Sunday. Last evening, they defeated Bellevue at Bellevue, 13 to 2, in seven innings.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Irregular price movements occurred in the bond market today, but changes were narrow. Easy money conditions continued to support quotations, but the flow of new offerings was beginning to reach a volume which would present some competition to listed issues. Many of the new offerings are public utility mortgages. Among those expected to arrive on the market shortly is one of $70,000,000 New York Light and Power Corporation, to be issued in connection with the consolidation of several utilities in New York state.

Listed bonds in the utility group have been in fair demand for several days. Cities Service Power 6s today were given good support around the year's high price of 104⅞ and some of the New York Traction liens displayed strength. International Paper 6s were the most active in the convertible group, heavy offerings being easily absorbed above 105, fractionally under the year's peak.

Railway obligations were rather quiet and mixed. Missouri Pacific 5s again gained fractionally, but Western Maryland 5½s, Erie 5s and a few others were in supply. Convertible rails were at a virtual standstill.

The foreign division presented a rather dull appearance, although there was some desultory buying of Polish 8s and one or two Italian bonds. United States government securities were firm, but business was in small volume.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, and quoted in sales volume (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

CUT IN RESERVE RATE STARTS HOT FIGHT

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—A sharp fight in the federal reserve system, involving the basic theory and policy of the country's banking operations, has arisen over reduction of the Chicago rediscount rate, it was learned today.

This rate was reduced from 4 to 3½ per cent on Monday by the Federal Reserve Board, the national governing body of the system. The board acted on its own motion, instead of by request of the regional bank as is customary, and over the protest of the Chicago bank.

This was said to be the first clear-cut instance in the history of the federal reserve system in which the board has fixed the rate to be charged by a regional bank over its protest. Bankers who opposed its action declared that its effect was the exercise by the board of the powers of a central bank, fixing banking policy for the entire country.

It also was charged that the board exceeded its lawful powers, the federal reserve act reading that rediscount rates shall be established by each regional bank, "subject to review and determination" by the board. The board was understood to have divided five to one over interpretation of the degree of authority these words conferred.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Unexpected higher quotations at Liverpool led to an early upturn today in wheat prices here. Meanwhile, corn advanced owing to excessive rain in parts of Illinois and Iowa. Opening at ⅛c to ⅝c gain, Chicago wheat subsequently held near to initial figures. Corn started ⅛c to ⅝c up and later continued to show firmness. Oats sympathized with corn and wheat. Provisions also tended upward.

At noon wheat was ⅞c to 1⅛c net higher and corn ⅛c to ⅞c up.

In connection with outlook for strength shown by the Liverpool wheat market today, signs here pointed to good export business going on in wheat from North America. Besides, it was current gossip that all export offers of rye overnight to Europe had been accepted. Further low temperatures in Canada were likewise noted and there was talk of 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels possible reduction of the official estimate this afternoon of domestic spring wheat yield, compared with last month's forecast.

Predictions of cooler weather southwest and east gave additional impetus at times today to corn buying based on extremely heavy rainfall over sections of Illinois and Iowa. At Clinton, Iowa, as much as 4.65 inches of rain were reported to have fallen. Official advices were also at hand that it is now improbable 20 per cent of Nebraska corn will be safe from frost by October 1.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—With no sales reported, raw sugar was unchanged early today at 4.80 for Cuban, duty paid.

Raw sugar futures were easier, under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections, apparently inspired by the easier London market, continued favorable European weather advices, and the less active demand in the spot market. Opening prices were 1 to 4 points lower and later showed losses of 3 to 5 points. Stop-loss orders were uncovered on the break, but after their execution a rally of 1 to 2 points followed, with midday quotations about 2 or 3 points net lower.

The refined sugar market was steady and unchanged at 5.90 to 6.00c for fine granulated. Withdrawals continued of fair proportions, and a fair new business was reported at the inside price.

Coolidge-Mussolini Head Needed to Save Britain

By B. C. FORBES

THE [illegible] who gained [illegible] of their own importance during the World War [illegible] that they are not enjoying satisfactory living conditions. [illegible]

INCIDENTALLY [illegible] first impression I [illegible] was that a [illegible] change had come over the [illegible] in stores. They [illegible] of the [illegible] we [illegible] in any well-managed American department or other store. In most places there was an [illegible] of eagerness to be [illegible] sales. In fact time and time again we remarked that apparently British store employes do not care a hoot whether they do business with you or not. This does not apply to [illegible] shops in Britain but it does apply to most of those we patronized or visited with the intention of patronizing.

THE [illegible] and self-reliance of what might be called the lower rungs of the British race are being fatally sapped by the dole, as they call the unemployment money handed out so freely by the government.

A typical instance: A relative told me that some time ago her washwoman announced that she was quitting. Asked why, she replied that her husband and she decided that they could live on their doles without doing any work. When an effort was made to explain to her that this would mean that other people would have to provide the money to keep her and her husband in idleness, she expressed amazement at such an idea, saying "No, the government pays the dole."

Efforts to make plain to her that the government first had to collect the money from those who did the work were in vain. She was cocksure that the money just came from "the government"—and she sort of intimated that both she and her husband had no objections to putting one over on the government.

A MEMBER of a firm of manufacturers on a moderate scale told me that they repeatedly had similar experiences when they wanted unskilled workers. The law demands that workers accept suitable employment when offered, but he explained that scores of methods had been devised by the lazy to get around this provision.

EXCESSIVE drinking has become distinctly less prevalent throughout the country. In the large industrial cities, where drunkenness was shockingly prevalent in former times, fewer hopelessly intoxicated men and women were to be seen. The saloons are now rigidly regulated as to the hours they may remain open and this, I was told, had been distinctly helpful. Nor did betting on horse races appear to be quite the craze it used to be—perhaps for the reason that the cost of living leaves little money for gambling.

BRITAIN very badly needs as head of its government a Calvin Coolidge, an uncompromising advocate and exerciser of the ruthless cutting down of wasteful expenditures of public money. Even an admixture of a Coolidge and a Mussolini might be better still.

Unless Britain can cut down her national overhead expenses it is hard to see how she can make satisfactory progress towards a comeback.

STOCKS REACT DESPITE POOL ACTIVITY

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP.) [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] United States Steel to 1[illegible], a new peak, were [illegible] considerable selling, breaking [illegible] in popular shares. General Electric, Woolworth, National Biscuit, Union Carbide, United States Cast Iron Pipe and Timken Roller Bearing were among numerous conspicuously weak stocks. Individual shares, however, continued to push forward, notably the St. Paul issues and Kennecott Copper, the latter crossing 75 into the highest ground ever reached. Total sales approximated 2,500,000 shares.

Stocks Quiet, Steady In Local Market

Business on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange was fairly well diversified today, although there were no noticeable changes in quotations during the forepart of the session. Most of the trading was in odd lots with prices holding at or slightly above the levels prevailing on the close yesterday.

Concentration of activity in certain stocks was not evident today and brokers were inclined to attribute the broader market to reinvestment buying for account of clients desiring to put September 1 dividend and interest receipts to work.

Small lots of Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Dixie Gas and Utilities, Pittsburgh Steel Foundry and other manufacturing issues changed hands early at practically the same prices the stocks brought on the close Thursday. Business in fuel section was dull during the morning hours. Bids for Arkansas Gas, Lone Star and Oklahoma were about even with the late market yesterday, while a few small lots of Devonian Oil sold unchanged.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt developed noticeable strength and scarcity of the stock was reflected in an upturn to a new high record since the shares were listed. Standard Sanitary opened with a fractional overnight loss, but subsequent transactions eliminated the decline and carried the stock to new high ground for the current movement.

Lone Star Gas came into the market unchanged, displaying little inclination to move far in either direction. Houston Gulf was firm and slightly higher. Only few trades in Blaw Knox were recorded, with the shares holding steady around previous prices.

Vogue of Using Names of Cities For Titles Has Hit Hollywood; Miss Bellamy In Bathing Opera

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.

THIS vogue of using the name of a city for a title seems to have invaded the movies as well as the stage. Madge Bellamy, whose evolution from a soulful-eyed, curly-haired ingenue to a bobbed-hair flapper is one of the seven wonders of the world, will appear in "Atlantic City." (The quotes are correct.)

Let me explain. By Atlantic City I mean the title of a play, not the city built on the ocean. I do not even know whether Madge wears a bathing suit, but I suspect that is one of the reasons for giving the Fox "opera" this name.

Arthur Rosson, who, with his brother, Richard Rosson, who has apparently left Paramount flat to join the Fox organization, will direct the vivacious Miss Bellamy. So far the only other member of the cast is Lloyd Pantages, a son of the theatrical magnate.

Hollywood's boy wonder, and I mean young Polan Banks, is coming East. Polan is the 20-year-old youngster whose Packard car dashing about the streets of Hollywood has attracted as much attention as Pola Negri's Rolls Royce. He arrived in Hollywood with his book, "Black Ivory," under his arm and sold the screen rights to Warner Brothers. Now, having disposed of three or four scenarios, he is coming back to Broadway to sell his publishers a new novel written in movie's own territory. Likewise I believe there is an operetta which he succeeded in placing here. Youth is a great thing, especially when it has the optimism of this young Banks, who is one of the best talkers in captivity, particularly about himself.

Probably Frank Lloyd's experience with John Barrymore determined his decision not to work until the first of the year. Lloyd has had a number of bad breaks the past year; first at Famous Players-Lasky, where his pictures did not turn out so well, then, later, when he joined United Artists. He and John Barrymore just did not agree at all on the treatment of "The Tempter," the next Barrymore picture, and after weeks of dispute and argument Lloyd withdrew from this picture. He now says he is going on a hunting trip in the Sierras and will not start work for Fox until after the first of the year.

A telegram from Estelle Taylor from Chicago mentions that she is expecting many of her friends for the fight in Chicago. Estelle will probably be the only one of the Hollywood contingent who will not watch the Dempsey-Tunney bout at Soldier Field. I am getting my pencils sharpened and my adjectives in working order, ready to do a story on the fight. I promised Estelle I would look her up but this time she will have to get somebody else to stay with her during the time that Jack is in the ring. I was not much help anyway during the Sharkey-Dempsey battle because my ear was glued to the radio. One thing is certain, Hollywood is pro-Dempsey. Everyone who mentions the coming Chicago picnic winds up by saying:

I suppose we shall soon hear of motion picture bids being made for "Burlesque." That play is certainly motion picture material—action, suspense, drama and comedy, what more can anyone ask? I happened to see James Kirkwood the night I attended the performance applauding so vigorously I know he enjoyed it. Jim, by the way, tells me he may open in New York in a vaudeville sketch. It is a long time since he has been in the Big City. His wife, Lila Lee, did not make the trip with him because she has joined the Duffy Players in Los Angeles and is appearing in a new stage play there.

Erich Pommer, who never leaves anyone in doubt as to what he thinks or believes, has been flirting with United Artists. There is a rumor that Mr. Pommer may go back to Germany to direct pictures for United Artists. You remember, he came over here originally to supervise Emil Jannings' productions and when he and Mr. Jannings failed to agree he went to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot.

If Napoleon had only known what interesting movie material his career was destined to make, I feel certain he would have left more complete records of his own amours and deeds as well as the love affairs of those who made up his court. The Warner company has elected to film "Glorious Betsy," Rida Johnson Young's stage play laid in the time of the Little General. Who other than Dolores Costello, Warner's popular and beautiful star, could do justice to this story.

Again the persuasive tongue of Harry Cohen has been doing a little missionary work. Ben Turpin married a year or so ago and stated at that time that he had made his fortune and that he was through with motion pictures. Now comes word from one of my playmates in California that Ben has signed a contract with Columbia Pictures and will play the comedy relief in the "College Hero." Ben should be a good foil for Pauline Garon and Bobby Agnew, the other principals. Anyway his contract with Columbia is another proof that lure of the movies is strong.

Take-Off of Old Glory For Rome Shown In Newsreel

Remarkably thrilling motion pictures of the take-off of Old Glory from Old Orchard, Me., are being shown at leading theaters by M. G. M. News and International Newsreel.

The pictures show all of the preparations for the take-off, including the tossing of a coin between Hill and Bertaud, which was won by the latter, and the farewells of the pilots and of Philip Payne, editor of the New York Daily Mirror, who went along as passenger. The pictures also show the blessing bestowed upon Old Glory by the Rev. James F. Mullen, and then the long thrilling hop-off which started Old Glory out over the ocean and into the unknown.

Once a Vamp Does Not Mean Always Vamp Phyllis Finds

Phyllis Haver has turned motion picture tradition up side down!

"Once a vamp always a vamp" long has been accepted as a time-honored rule with no exceptions. Now the bewitching Phyllis steps to the fore with a record of portrayals that "knock this theory into a cocked hat."

Miss Haver has jumped from "other woman" roles to romantic leads and then back to "vamp" portrayals in almost uncanny fashion. The lead in support of Rod LaRocque in "The Fighting Eagle" was a far cry from her "Shanghai Mabel" in "What Price Glory."

Now she is back in romantic roles, and probably permanently, for her recent elevation to stardom by Cecil B. DeMille is almost a sure sign that the producer plans to capitalize on this trend of her abilities. Her next picture is "The Wise Wife," which E. Mason Hopper is directing. Tom Moore has the lead in this version of Arthur Somers Roche's popular magazine serial, while the cast also includes such favorites as Jacqueline Logan, Joseph Striker and Fred Warren.

YOUNG ACTOR TO PLAY BOY INVENTOR ROLE

John W. Moore of the George Sharp Production Stock Company, in the Pitt, will be a young inventor in "The Show Off" next week.

Clark and McCullough will continue their engagement in "The Ramblers" in the Alvin for a second week, opening Monday.

The second and last week of George White's "Manhattan Mary," starring Ed Wynn, opens in the Nixon Monday.

Ukulele expertness by Mae Dix will be among features in "Let's Go," Fred Clark's latest review coming to the Gayety next week.

GEORGIA HALE IN CAST OF NEW GIBSON PICTURE

Having completed "The Rawhide Kid" by Peter B. Kyne, Hoot Gibson starts immediately on "A Trick of Hearts," under the direction of Reaves Eason. "A Trick of Hearts" is adapted from an original story entitled "Western Suffragettes" and the star will be supported by a cast including Georgia Hale, Nora Cecil, Dan Crimmins, Rose Gore, Joe Rickson, Howard Truesdale, George Ovey, Heinie Conklin and Grace Cunard, who plays the lady constable.

VERA GORDON GETS ROLE IN NEW "COHEN" COMEDY

Now that the Cohen and the Kelly have been selected for "The Cohens and Kellys in Paris," the rest of the cast is rapidly being filled up at Universal City. Vera Gordon, of course, will play Mrs. Cohen. Gertrude Astor will have an important part, as well as Gino Carrado, a newcomer to Universal City, who doesn't have to make up to look like a French count.

Dempsey-Tunney Bout Creates Interest In Fight Dramas

The widespread interest taken in the championship encounter between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney is being reflected in the movies. Some time ago Warner Bros. announced that they would present Monte Blue in "One-Round Hogan," surrounding him with a number of prize-ring celebrities, including the noted ex-champion heavyweight, James J. Jeffries. Of late there have been so many inquiries from motion picture theater managers relative to the picture that the Warners have decided to release it on September 17. While there is some diversity of opinion as to who will win the Dempsey-Tunney bout, there is a notion that in "One-Round Hogan" the winner's real name will be Monte Blue.

Screen Drama Starts Big Parade of Old Autos

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The stage is known to have been responsible for many fads, ranging from manners to dress and even to household decorations. In this the motion picture is not a bit behind and seems to be growing stronger every minute. A case in point is furnished by "The First Auto." In this film there is shown in a story that is a medley of laughs and tears, the development of the horseless carriage from its inception to the present day. When the picture was announced in New York it gave some one the idea of getting up a parade of all the oldest cars that could be found. The culmination of the idea was one of the most interesting and entertaining parades that New York ever has had. The news of the parade spread around the country with the result that wherever "The First Auto" is presented excuse is taken for a parade of old cars. There has been such a parade in Cleveland, one in Detroit, another in Akron and still another in Kansas City. Even Los Angeles had to dig out its old cars to entertain its visitors. All of the parades have been great successes.

The public in the cities in which the parades have taken place evidently had a lot of fun digging out and resurrecting the old buggies and getting them in shape to amble under their own power.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—The showing of brokers' loans made by the Federal Reserve bank after the close Thursday had an unsettling influence on the curb market today in the early trading, causing some of the high-priced issues to yield 4 to 5 points under forced liquidation. The influence of the loan statement, however, passed away within a short time and recoveries were quickly in order, many stocks in the later trading moving up to new high records.

The greatest strength and most interest was in the trading in public utilities, which had been growing in demand since the resumption of business after the double holiday. Many of these stocks were prominent among the record breaks.

Empire Gas, Northern States Power, Penn-Ohio Edison and Associated Gas were among the features in this group. Brazilian Traction was active, advancing 2½ points to 188. American Gas and Electric, after declining about 2 points, had a substantial rally and Associated Gas gained about 2 points.

Curtiss Aero preferred was a strong feature in the industrial group, advancing over 8 points. Johns-Manville, after falling 2 points to 109¾, rose over 3 points. Ford Motor of Canada and Realty Associates declined 5 points in the early trading and Singer Manufacturing dropped 4 points during the period of early weakness.

Curtis Publishing was strong, advancing 8 points to [illegible]. Gillette, which was ex-dividend, made a net gain of about 2 points. Fox Theatres continued in demand and made a further gain of a point. New York Central new stock first had a fractional loss and then moved up over a point.

Oil stocks moved within a narrow range. Wasson Oil and Snowdrift, after advancing 2 points to the new high record of 77, reacted to 74.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—Following is the official list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded, with the sales and high, low and last prices.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has been granted authority by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to issue $529,000 of its 6 per cent Toledo-Cincinnati division first lien and refunding mortgage bonds for pledge under its general and refunding mortgage.

At the same time the commission approved the road's motion to dismiss its application for authority to issue for pledge $11,425,500 of Baltimore & Ohio refunding and general mortgage 5 per cent bonds and $422,500 of 6 per cent Toledo-Cleveland division first lien and refunding mortgage bonds.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Little change took place today in the prices of fruit and vegetables in the local wholesale produce district and the markets continued to be fairly active. Apples in bushel lots were increased 25c. Cantaloupes in crates were all reduced 25c, while New York State Bartlett pears in bushel lots also were 25c lower.

The poultry market continued easy on all poultry. In the face of supplies all poultry was nominal. No change was made in the quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets were firm and sold at about unchanged quotations.

Car lot supplies were liberal, a total of 62 cars being on track. Included in the arrivals were 2 cars of apples, 11 cantaloupes, 14 grapes, 5 lettuce, three onions, 1 oranges, 12 peaches, 1 pears, 2 peppers, 11 potatoes, 6 sweet potatoes, 2 tomatoes and 4 watermelons.

The hay market was steady and no change in the quotations was made. The grain market was also steady and sold at about unchanged prices.

WANTED—MEN! WORK DURING EVENING OR SPARE TIME.

A bonus for your summer work. You can earn at least $40 in your spare time every week.

Whether employed or unemployed read carefully and investigate. You cannot afford to pass up the greatest opportunity in Pittsburgh today. Read these facts carefully. Remember you can earn at least $40 for your spare time work during the evenings and we will show you how to do this EXTREMELY SIMPLE work and make you understand thoroughly before you start. WORK WILL NOT CONFLICT WITH PRESENT EMPLOYMENT. NO SCHOOLING, NO INSTRUCTION COURSES. These positions can be filled during the spare hours during the evening of mechanics, tradesmen, and business men. ABSOLUTELY NO EXPERIENCE REQUIRED. Full time positions can be arranged for those unemployed and those desiring permanent work. FINANCIAL COOPERATION GIVEN. This is not just "another ad," but a responsible, well known Pittsburgh firm offering real, dignified employment. Positions (part time or permanent) are extremely simple, in pleasant surroundings and most congenial atmosphere. Do not confuse this ad with others of similar wording for YOU WILL NOT BE ASKED TO SELL ANYTHING. This is real. This is genuine. Every ambitious person in the city of Pittsburgh would be anxious to procure this employment if he only knew the facts. YOU will EARN THE MOMENT YOU START work and we will make you understand and know you can do the work before we ask you to start. Don't be misled and don't waste your time on "wild goose chases." This is an unusual opportunity. Come and get the facts. Applicants must be white and over 25 years of age. Every one will be given utmost consideration. This is not a chance but A REAL OPPORTUNITY. This ad will appear until Friday only, and none will be considered after Friday evening.

Apply Friday evening, Sept. 9th, at 8:30 o'clock, ROOM 601 CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BLDG., Seventh ave. and Smithfield st.

NOTICE—Our business is becoming so heavy that we have decided to open a new department. Scores of new applicants have been given employment during the evening after business hours. Many of our employes, who are employed otherwise during the day time, have bought new cars and have opened new bank accounts as a result of this wonderful extra income opportunity. Make up your mind now to answer this ad promptly, for this opportunity will not last long. Knowing how and why means EXTRA MONEY during the summer months. A BANK ACCOUNT AND VACATION. Shirkers, back passers and would-be smart alecks stay away. REMEMBER THE TIME TO APPLY IS 8:30 O'CLOCK FRIDAY EVENING ONLY. Now, if you really desire to own a REAL BANK ACCOUNT, DON'T MISS THIS. Do not answer this ad unless you are really sincere and anxious to earn an EXTRA WEEKLY INCOME during the summer months.

We will receive no applications after 8:30 o'clock (daylight saving time) Friday evening, so make up your mind NOW to answer on time. REGARDLESS OF PRESENT EMPLOYMENT, EVERYONE WILL BE GIVEN FULLEST CONSIDERATION AT THE ABOVE TIME.

A LAST OPPORTUNITY

This ad is for the individual who THINKS and then ACTS. All positions are permanent; we expect to FILL ALL VACANCIES with this ad, so be on time promptly.

APPLY PAYMASTER,
601 Chamber of Commerce bldg.

MEN become firemen, brakemen, colored train or sleeping car porters; experience unnecessary; $150-$250 month. Good roads. Write Inter Ry., Dept. 66, Indianapolis, Ind.

OFFICIAL—PITTSBURGH

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
September 9, 1927

1. SEPARATE AND SEALED proposals will be received at the office of the City Controller, City-County Building, until 9 o'clock a. m., Eastern standard time, September 16, 1927 and will be publicly opened and read in Council Chamber one hour later, for making the following public improvements:

FOR BUREAU OF BRIDGES AND STRUCTURES.

Extension of Boulevard of the Allies, Contract No. 1, Demolition.

2. All bids must be made upon the prepared forms of proposal to be obtained at the office of the Department of Public Works, Room 419, City-County Building on and after September 9, 1927. Proposals containing any additions, erasures, omissions, alterations, additions not called for, or any additional bid of any kind, may be rejected as informal, and no bidder will be allowed to withdraw his bid.

3. Bids must be accompanied by a bond in the amount of fifty (50%) per centum of the estimated cost of the proposed contract, duly and legally executed with a surety or trust company which has complied with the City Ordinances relating thereto; said bond shall be in the form of bond furnished by the City of Pittsburgh.

4. Blue print copies of the contract plans and copies of the Contract for Construction may be obtained at the office of the Bureau of Engineering, Room 416, City-County Building. Deposits in the amount of $2.00 each will be required for each set of specifications and blue print copies of Contract Plan. Receipts for said deposits will be given and the money refunded upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition and without marking, within ten (10) days of the date bids are opened.

5. The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works reserve the right to increase or decrease the amount or class of any portion of the work which they deem necessary, and to reject any or all proposals, or to accept any proposal which they deem it to the interest of the City so to do.

CHARLES H. KLINE, Mayor.
EDWARD G. LANG, Director

PROPOSALS.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Directors of the School District of the Borough of West Homestead, Pa., for concrete walks, stone, concrete drive, grading, etc., to be installed on the school property located at the southwesterly corner of Doyle and Forest avenues, in the Borough of West Homestead, Pa., until seven o'clock p. m., E. S. T., Monday, September 19, 1927. Plans and specifications for same may be seen at the office of Adam G. Wickerham, registered architect, 136 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, Pa.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

S. S. POWER,
Secretary.

LEGAL NOTICES.

United Engineering and Foundry Company.
Notice to Stockholders.

Annual Meeting. Special Matters.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of United Engineering and Foundry Company will be held at the principal office of the company, 2314 Farmers Bank Building, corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on October 25, 1927, at 10 o'clock a. m. (Eastern Standard time), at which time, in addition to the election of directors and the transaction of regular business, the following, pursuant to resolutions of the Board of Directors, duly passed at their meeting held July 26, 1927, will be submitted to the stockholders for their approval or disapproval:

First. The reduction of the authorized common capital par stock of the company from 75,000 shares to 69,353 shares and from a total par value of $7,500,000.00 to a total par value of $6,935,300.00.

Second. The conversion of the 69,353 shares of the common capital par stock into 416,118 shares of common capital stock without nominal or par value and the exchange of six shares of no par value stock for each share of the present 69,353 shares of the common capital par stock issued and outstanding.

Third. The fixing of the stated capital of the company applicable to the no par value common capital stock at $5,400,134.00.

Fourth. Authorizing the $1,535,166.00 of the capital of the company heretofore credited against the common capital par stock be credited to surplus so that the same may be declared out in dividends from time to time at the discretion of the directors.

Fifth. The reduction of the authorized preferred capital stock of the company from 18,000 shares to 15,749 shares and from a total par value of $1,800,000.00, to a total par value of $1,574,900.00. Said 15,749 shares represent the now outstanding and issued preferred capital stock.

Sixth. Amending Article VIII, Section 2, of the By-Laws, to make the certificates for the common stock read "without nominal or par value" instead of a par value.

Seventh. Various other amendments to the By-Laws, a copy of the proposed amendments having been mailed in accordance with the By-Laws to each stockholder.

ROY CONTINUES GAS ATTACK

Cousin Still Pleading for Hand of Maurine in Serial Review of 1901's Super Special

When Maurine asked her orphan cousin why he wouldn't just as soon be a friend as a husband, Roy Montaine had the answer right on the tip of his tongue. Standing there on page 153 in the forest, Roy replied—

"Why, indeed!
Becaus I love you more than any brother
Or any friend could love." Then he began
To argue like a lawyer, and to plead,
And it were best to give his wooing heed.

But Maurine, sitting there, could not help but think of Vivian Dangerfield, the parlor tenor. So she said to Roy—

"I thank you for the noble heart you offer,
I could love you if I loved not another
Who keeps my heart; so, I have none to proffer.
Dear Roy! My brother! Speak of this no more.
Let me find in you my friend of yore.
And now come home. The morning all too soon
And unperceived, has melted into noon."

Now wasn't that a neat speech? Maurine may have been a sap, and all that, but she could certainly turn a phrase or two when occasion demanded it. She's a sweet girl. Another load coming.

In spite of prohibition the barons of the phone booths continue to age their patrons in the wood.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

When you are running a temperature that is high enough to put you on the Olympic sunstroke team there are plenty of words that you think of but only one you can use.

That simple word is please. The ultimate consumer of polite phrases and parliamentary language can say please in an elementary manner. But he has not got the education necessary to extract the acid from the milk of human kindness.

When a business man says please over the phone he means it.

When a woman says it she doesn't mean it.

It can be pronounced in a prayerful style that makes it as elastic as rubber. Or ground out as adamant as a Romanoff ukase.

It's an invitation to supper in Newport and fighting word in Pittsburgh.

Sometimes it murmurs like wavelets in the pink lobe of a seashell. Again it crashes and echoes off the stony hills like a hurricane running for office.

It can be used to open a conversation or to change the subject. It is the handiest word in the vest pocket education. But doesn't mean anything in a phone booth.

But it has no place in telephone conversation, for it slows up economic language. Even when you use it full strength, the hearer discounts it eighty per cent.

Nobody drops five cents into a coin box because he wants to take a lesson in social etiquette. So the word please might as well be eliminated from the chatter.

If you have anything to say over the telephone, say it quick and gruff. Get it over sudden and don't try to fool the other guy by saying please.

ON "THE TIDE OF LOVE."

SOMEWHERE in love
There is always PAIN,
Either one loves TOO MUCH
Or too LITTLE,
But then, LOVE is always Fluctuating.
Like the SEA, the Heart has it EBB
And FLOW. Its tides
Of lassitude and great DESIRE, WITH SINCERE MEN
The tide of their love
Sweeps always toward
The ONE WOMAN,
These men are TEMPERED,
Weaker men think
All women, like WAVES,
Are different. Some may Be BIGGER and BETTER
Than others, but they all
Finally end in spray,
LOVE, after all, is Only a matter of MOMENTS, and then what
Of all the YEARS
Friendship is KINDER
Than love, for
Like a MOUNTAIN, you
Know where to find it
In the MORNING,

Sad Plight of Flood Victims Makes Prompt Aid Essential

Every report from the Mississippi flood district brings new reasons for an extra session of Congress to deal with the calamity. The call for the session should be issued at once.

The work of the Red Cross has been magnificent. It has prevented destitution, disease and death for over half a million flood refugees. Red Cross funds are running low.

Besides, the problem is no longer simply to keep these people from starvation. It is to supply them with funds to rebuild their houses and fences, clear the wood and debris off their farms, buy work animals and implements and seed, and fodder and food for the winter.

Where is this money to come from? It cannot come from the merchants and bankers who normally finance these people. The merchants and bankers have not been repaid the loans they made early this year, which were to be paid off by the crop that has been ruined.

Secretary Hoover has succeeded in getting pledges of loan extensions. This will, of course, help; it will prevent evictions, but it will provide no new money. The new money cannot come from ordinary financial sources, for the advances must be made to farmers already swamped with debts.

An ominous feature of the situation, reported by Secretary Hoover, is that one hundred thousand laboring people, farmhands and little tenants, are likely to be lost to the flooded area. They are beginning to migrate north, where they know they can find work; they have no assurance of work at home.

The Federal government, through its proper agencies, has got to make money advances for rehabilitation. It has got to lend some of the farmers, this year, the money necessary to pay their levee assessments, for the normal levee repair work must be done in addition to the government's job of repairing the breaches.

It may be that we must wait longer to get the engineers' report on the best method of flood control. What we know now is that certain help must be given in rehabilitation. He gives twice who gives quickly. Call Congress.

Public Work Improvements And Building Impressive

Contracts for widening the Boulevard of the Allies between Ferry street and Liberty avenue have been awarded. This improvement involves reconstruction of a portion of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway terminal and it is expected to be completed by December.

Proposals from contractors have been received by the city for other public work projects having a total estimated cost of $350,000. Most expensive among them is that for steel for the Millvale avenue bridge over the Pennsylvania Railroad, estimated to cost $170,000. Other bids are on about 18 street, sewer and playground improvements in various parts of the city. Estimated costs range from $2,000 for a retaining wall to $21,000 for another project of the same nature.

We have become so accustomed to BIG improvements that the significance of these smaller ones often escapes our attention. It is when we view them as a whole that their meaning in the BETTERMENT of the city becomes impressive. It is in the total of small things that we GROW.

While the city government is busy with improvements, some in progress and others contemplated, individuals are not behind. In August 616 building permits, representing an estimated cost of $5,662,743, were issued. The figures exceed those of the previous month and those of the same month last year.

Get these facts in mind and reflect—PITTSBURGH PROMOTES PROGRESS.

Automobile Laws Should Be Enforced All of the Time

No order received by Pittsburgh police is of more importance than one just issued calling for more strict application of the laws governing automobile operation. The intent is to make possible [illegible]ension in greater degree of "hit-and-run" drivers. These [illegible]ls who speed away after causing accidents, which may have [illegible] deaths or serious injury, are a menace of the gravest kind. Usually it is impossible to obtain the license number of a car driven by a person so base as to run away without offering to render assistance after an accident, let alone assume the responsibility for having caused it. To make such identification easier the law requiring license plates to be unobscured is to be rigidly enforced, it is announced.

All cars with dirty license plates are to be tagged. Also those which have glaring headlights. It is stated that drivers under the influence of liquor will be arrested.

These are actions that should have been taken long ago. The laws providing for safety of pedestrians and careful drivers are not something for the concentration of attention in a transitory "campaign" but for ALL TIME. Give the public safety department credit for the earnest way it has taken up this problem—but WATCH YOUR OWN STEP.

The Greater the Difficulty The Greater the Challenge

There are technical difficulties and legal difficulties, both exceedingly perplexing.

Take, for example, the legal difficulties. The Federal government has undisputed power to regulate interstate commerce, whether on rails or in pipes. In war time it asserts power, under the supreme necessity for national defense, to compel oil production and distribution to obey its outlined needs.

How far does this power extend in peace?

While oil fields may underlie state lines, production is usually inside them and states are jealous of their rights. Where is the demarcation which Federal action must respect?

These questions emphasize the timeliness of Secretary Work's suggestion, which Secretary Hoover has endorsed, that a committee representing government, technicians and experts in law, shou[illegible] be named to begin extensive study of recommendations to the con[illegible] Congress.

Quite [illegible] important to the public interest as the legal aspect of this subject is its scientific aspect.

Even were the way to legal regulation clear, there would still be need to know how to exchange prudent for wasteful processes; how to get the best yield of oil in fields where production is to be encouraged, and how to stop, if it be possible to stop, oil "bootlegging."

It is the function of statesmanship to overcome difficulties. Here the challenge has behind it a public need of the first importance.

A WARNING TO BOYS

Garrett P Serviss Says:

Finding the Planets

"What is the easiest way to find the planets? I bought a fairly good telescope, and Webb's 'Celestial Objects for Common Telescopes,' but I do not find any information about finding the planets, such as Jupiter, Saturn, Mars.—P. S."

THE plants are in continual motion around the sun, so that their positions cannot be represented on a fixed map of the heavens. The stars remain in unchanged positions with reference to one another, but the planets all travel eastward over the fixed background of the starry sky. But each planet travels at its own rate of speed, depending on its distance from the sun, while the earth, too, travels in the same direction as the other planets at its own rate. Thus there arises a complication of apparent motions which calls for careful calculations to determine where any particular planet will be, as seen from the earth, at any given time.

What you need in order to find the planets is: First, a knowledge of the constellations (which may be called the geography of the sky), and, second, tables showing the position of each planet, night by night, in right ascension and declination (which resemble longitude and latitude in geography).

I take it that you know the constellations sufficiently well already. For the planetary tables the source reference is the "American Ephemeris and Nautical Almanac," published yearly by the United States government, and sold for a dollar by the Superintendent of Documents at Washington. In using this you need a good star atlas. An excellent one, but rather costly, is Steuker's "Star Atlas." There are cheaper ones, also good, for which consult dealers in scientific books.

I will add that, for the amateur a good aid is the "Barritt-Serviss Star and Planet Finder," to be had from Leon Barritt, Brooklyn, N. Y. This is accompanied by a table of planetary positions by the aid of which the approximate location of the planets can be determined at any date for a series of years in advance.

The outer planets, such as Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, move relatively slowly (Mars much faster than the others), so that having once located them you can keep track of them by continual observation. You will find it very interesting and instructive thus to follow the motions of these distant worlds as they advance slowly through the star fields, now approaching some particular star, then passing near it and finally leaving it behind. You will also be interested by seeing how the swifter motion of the earth sometimes causes the other planets for a time to take the back track among the stars as if they had reversed their course.

Just now Mars is in the constellation Virgo, but too near the sun to be observed. Venus has just passed between the earth and the sun, and is in the morning sky, in the constellation Leo, but, like Mars, too near the sun for observation. Jupiter is in the constellation Pisces, below the Great Square of Pegasus, and is seen rising grandly in the east in the early evening. Saturn is in the constellation Scorpio, setting very early in the evening.

The best planetary object for your telescope at present is Jupiter. If you can command a magnifying power of from 100 to 150 diameters you may make not only interesting but useful observations on the great belts of Jupiter, drawing carefully their shapes and indicating any peculiar appearances that you may perceive on the planet, which is now about 368,000,000 miles from the earth.

Be Patient

TO WAIT is the hardest thing you are asked to do.

You don't want to wait.

Why should you wait?

It would be so much easier to accept the first invitation offered, without waiting to consider it.

It is hard to learn that good things come slowly.

You want to go, and go fast and hard.

Your first invitation may be from one whose company would put you into a class where you would be miserable and uncomfortable.

But loneliness and waiting do not appeal to you.

Meantime your employer may be watching to judge you by the associations you make.

He wants a certain amount of dignity and reserve in the man he would have represent his business.

Friends

IF YOU would have a host of friends, to make your days all bright and by their love to make amends for other loss or blight, there is one day alone that's sure to bring such friends to you as all your loneliness can cure with friendship deep and true. Be friendly! If you want a friend think just what you would ask; thoughts always of a kindly trend, no hate, no sin to mask; then courage, constancy and love, with patience, hope and cheer, and zeal for good always to prove too strong for doubt or fear. Then set yourself to gain these traits and soon your griefs will end; no man in vain for friendship waits who, too, can be a friend!

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Thoughts while strolling: Those frosted sea food windows. Wet as a calf's nose. Another flag pole sitter. There's zero in achievement. A. D. T. messengers walking with feeble old ladies. A Hindu dentist. The studious looking men who prowl about art galleries.

Beggars who ask for a dime for a "cuppa tea." White stockings with brightly colored heels. Louis Werba talking to Mark Leuscher—once formed a great theatrical partnership. Every new building has its ground floor beauty parlor. Four restaurants in a row. All filled.

The old cabbie who calls out "Open carriage, very exclusive." A window Taj Mahal in white soap. Two picannies in bright yellow ribbons. An Italian street singer warbling that "cheedie - beedie - bee" song. The woman bootlegger who dresses in heavy mourning.

People on park benches all look alike. Those glossy young cubs who always look as though they had just wet their hair. The cactus plant fad. Eddie Dowling. Girls wearing wrist watches above their elbow. And the languorous mondaines with lorgnettes. Robert Garland, the roaming journalist.

The gentlemen who sit so serenely and stately in club windows. The curio store that displays the shrunken head of a South American Indian. The shoe shop with tiny oval windows. A tea room called "Heart's Ease." A photo gallery specializing in "wedding groups."

Hungry men eating oysters from a portable cart. The chant of a Russian church choir. Those red fronted pork stores. Men with casts in their eyes. And painted women with thick ankles. Basement tailors sitting cross-legged in a dim light.

One of those overpetted and petulant flappers stepped out of the revolving door of a hotel and greeted the starter with:

"Fish me out a clean taxi and tell that old jackass following me that I gave instructions to be driven to the public library."

The old j. a., incidentally, is the rich old dodo she married at a big church wedding less than two years ago.

And there is that sentimental friend who strolled with me northward on the avenue at the close of the work day. He spoke sentimentally of the great middle class happiness that comes with a good day's work and the home out where the pavement ends. He pointed to a man and woman who met in front of a Mirror candy store. They embraced. "See the love light in their eyes," he rhapsodized. "They have found domestic happiness." Three blocks away the gentleman was socked in the eye by another women. He was strolling with the wrong wife.

* * *

Most odysseys of marital happiness concern the humble and poor. We often associate wealth with scandal and divorce. A court reporter tells me nearly all the rich part happily and with little grievance. They consider it a bad bargain and let it go at that but those not so wealthy usually reveal long years of wrangling and a keen desire for vengeance.

* * *

A sophisticated New York clubman describes a real New Yorker as "one who will not take just any od taxicab that comes along." This takes years of practise and an indominatable will.

* * *

One of the psychoanalysts who indexes manias declares the most tranquil minded New Yorkers are those who live in crowded turbulent sections of the town. They become so accustomed to being rocked by building blasts, brushed by autos, kicked on shins and the like that it takes a cataclysmic clap to ruffle them.

Compromise

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Two heads are better than one—sometimes.

In the multitude of counsel there is wisdom—sometimes.

It is a good deal better to have a board arrive at a majority conclusion than it is to take the judgment of any one man—perhaps.

There is one kind of thing that is much better attended to by consulting all manner of people and getting the collective benefit of the opinion of various people, and there is another kind of thing that is ruined by this process.

In a recent interview Rupert Hughes said that one thing that is the matter with movies is that they are subjected to too much treatment or too many people. The managing director and several other people take the author's idea to pieces and when they get through the original inspiration is all gone.

If you want a work of art you must let a man alone. He must be supreme arbiter in the field of creation. He cannot consult other people and must follow his own gleam.

The one thing that art needs, whether it is the writing of a poem or the making of a book or a picture, is inspiration. It is the spark kindled in the author's bosom that awakens the spark in the audience. That sort of thing is ruined when you subject it to the criticism of anybody else.

The rule seems to be that when you want to accomplish a certain thing you must put it in the hands of a responsible person and then let him alone, or when action is to be taken that shall satisfy a number of parties, the matter is best decided by various council.

Some things are helped by boards, and some are not. In many instances boards simply guarantee stupidity. About all they can assure is safety, and to many things safety is fatal.

Nobody wants to see a safe work of art or to read a safe book. They want something daring and adventurous. What is safe may be good for us, but it is not interesting.

It is well known that the most effective form of government is an absolute monarchy, ruled by some one person who does as he pleases. That is the best way to get things done, as Mussolini has shown in Italy. The only trouble with the system is that you cannot always be sure of a czar who can be trusted.

Most of the successful instances of business and most of the careers of successful men have not been due to wise compromise, but to bold leadership.

THE LIFE OF THOMAS A. EDISON

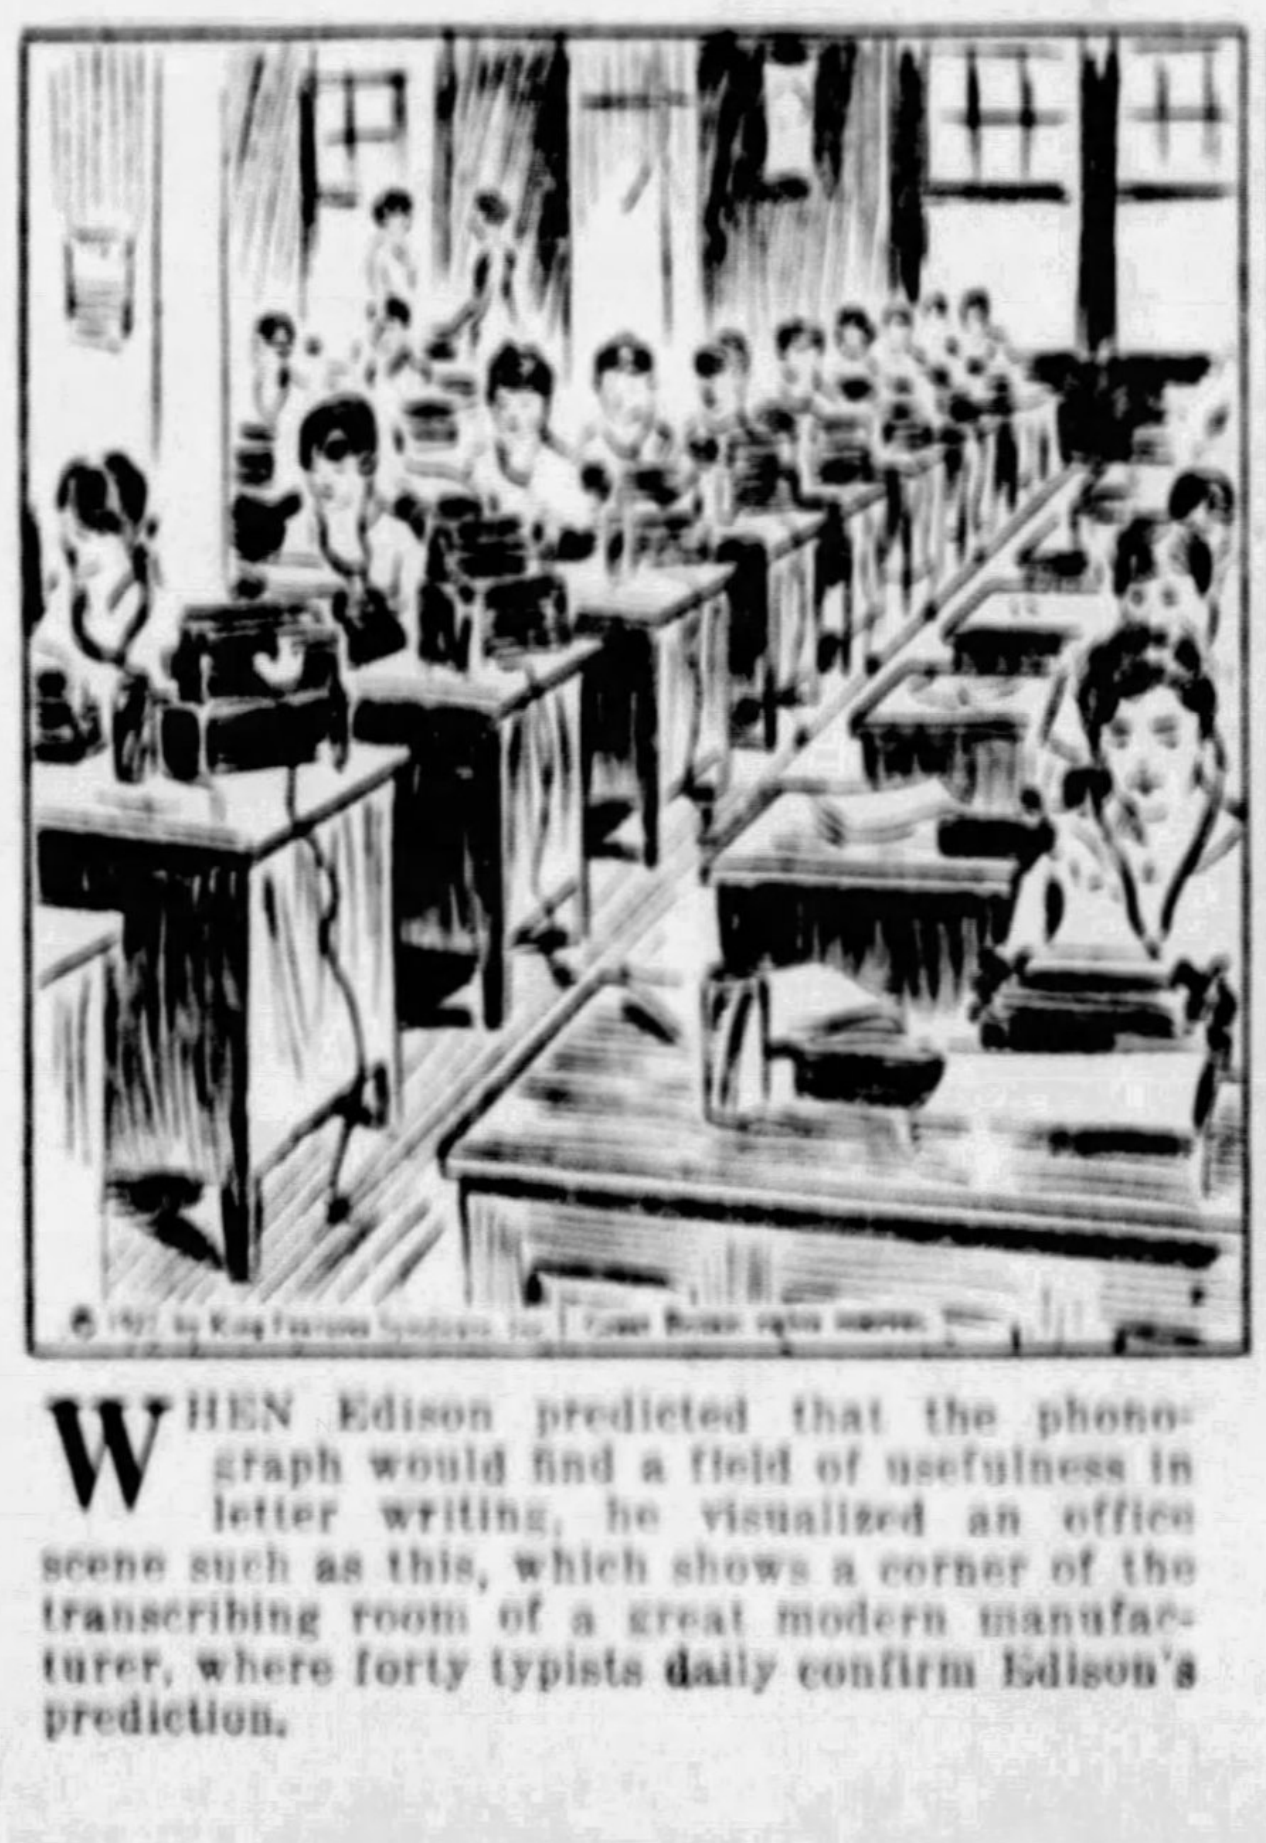
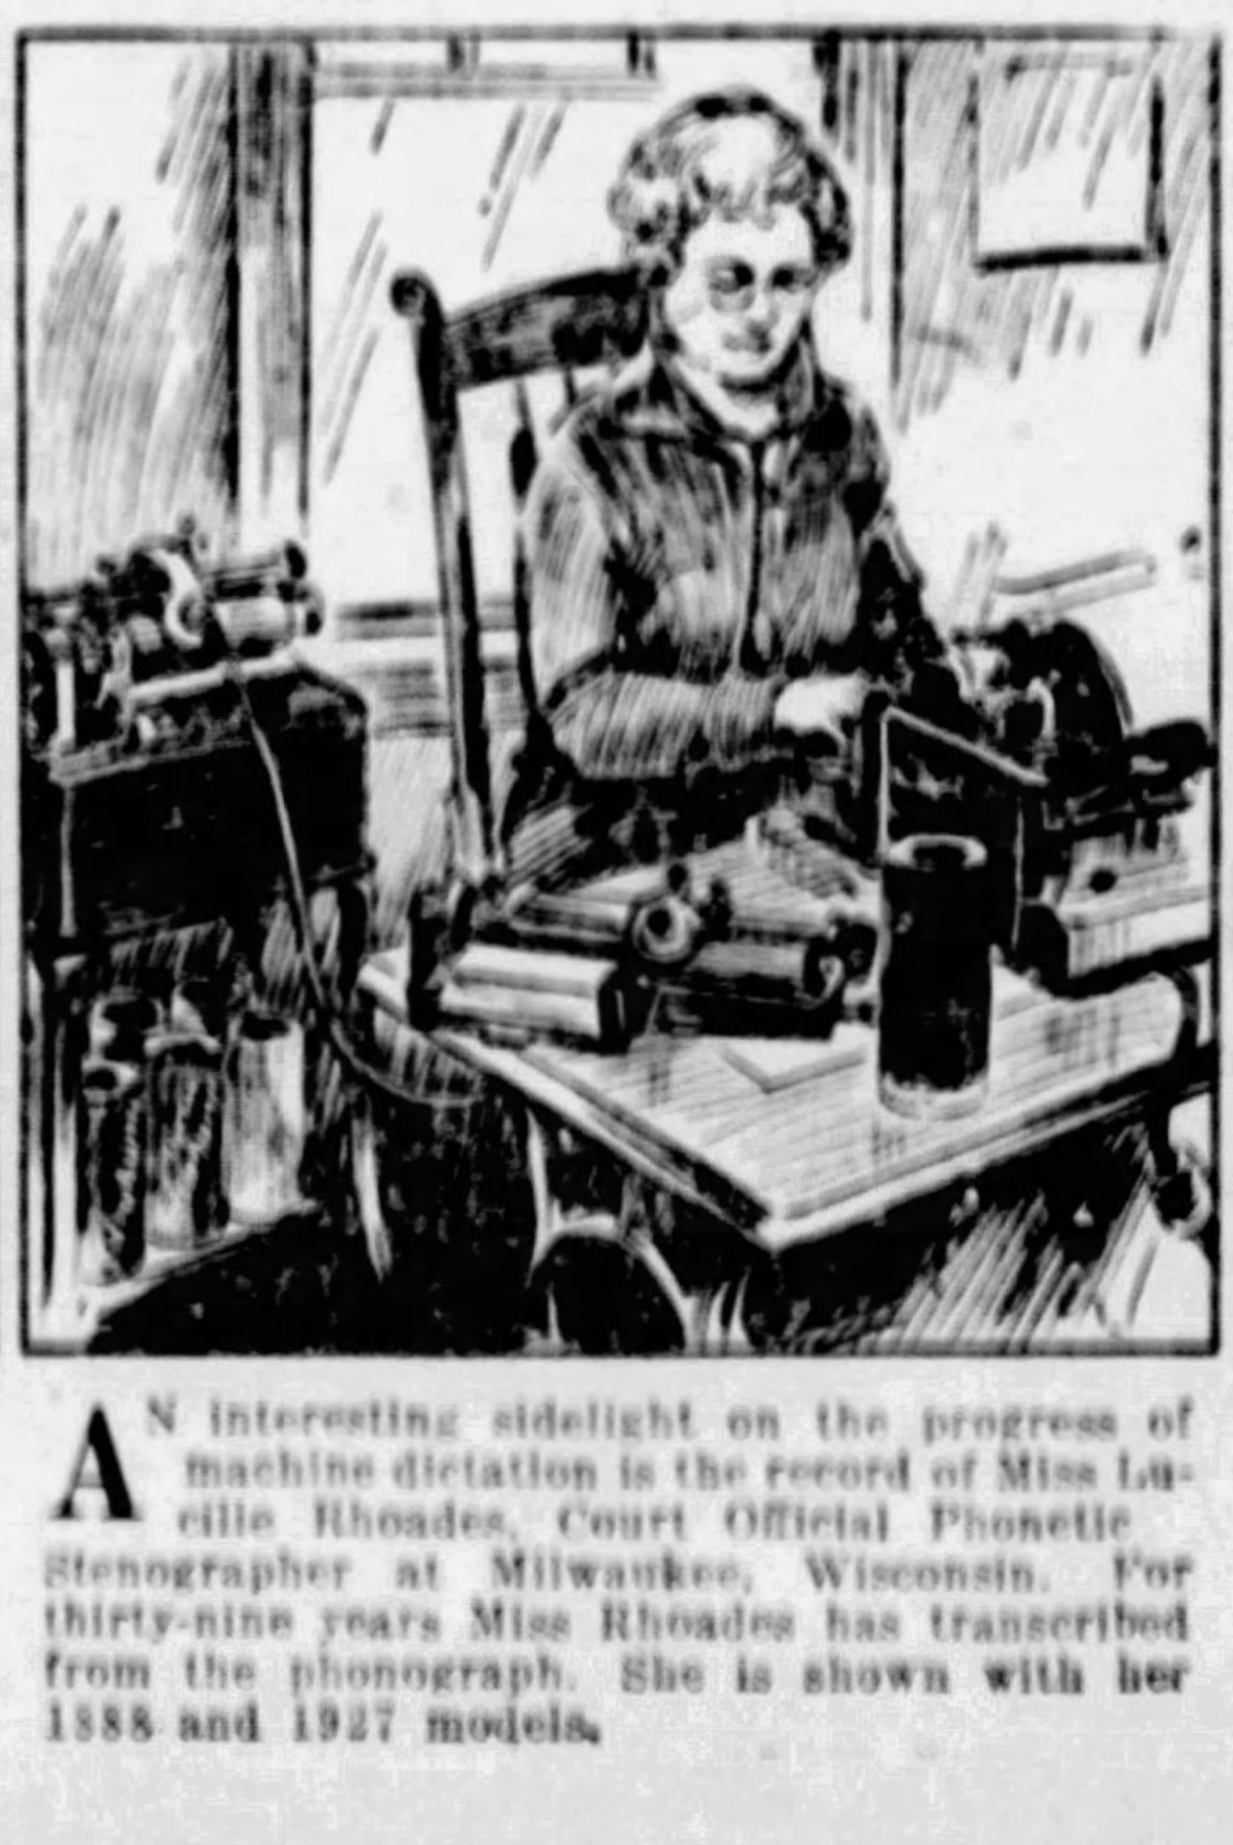
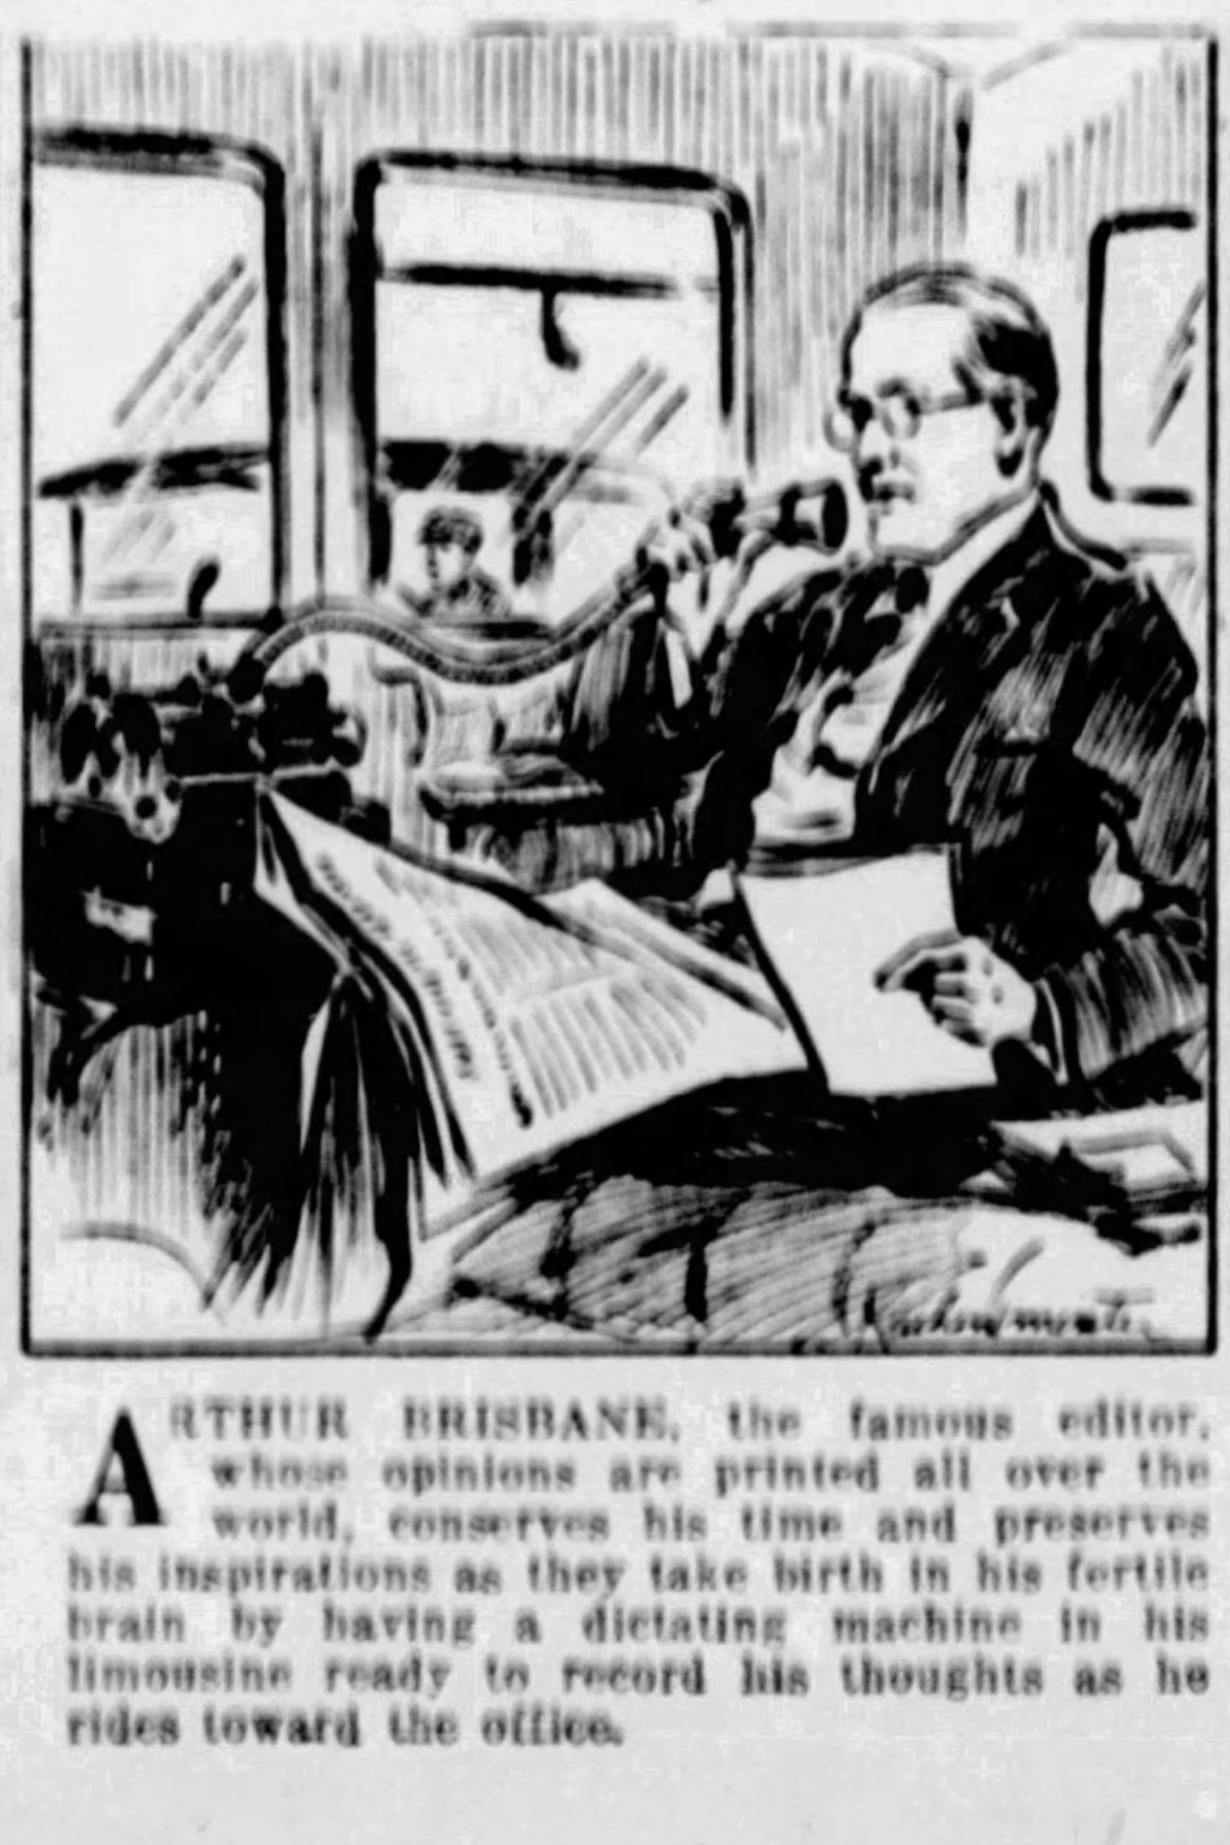
Text by Arthur J. Palmer
Drawings by Frank Kuchenmeister



WHEN Edison predicted that the phonograph would find a field of usefulness in letter writing, he visualized an office scene such as this, which shows a corner of the transcribing room of a great modern manufacturer, where forty typists daily confirm Edison's prediction.



AN interesting sidelight on the progress of machine dictation is the record of Miss Lucille Rhoades, Court Official Phonetic Stenographer at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. For thirty-nine years Miss Rhoades has transcribed from the phonograph. She is shown with her 1888 and 1927 models.



ARTHUR BRISBANE, the famous editor, whose opinions are printed all over the world, conserves his time and preserves his inspirations as they take birth in his fertile brain by having a dictating machine in his limousine ready to record his thoughts as he rides toward the office.
